ATTEMPT TO BURN BRITISH MUSEUM

Suffragettes Suspected--Threats Made to Interfere with Oxford-Cambridge Boat Race.

FIERCE NOTTINGHAM RIOT

Crowd Storms Suffrage Meeting, and Several Persons Are Injured—Latest Trick to Annoy Public.

LONDON, Wednesday, March 12.—The Daily Citizen, the new labor organ here, asserts that an attempt was made yesterday afternoon, presumably by the suffragettes, to set fire to the British Museum.

Half-burned rags saturated with oil were found in one of the rooms by an official.

There is no clue to the culprits.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 11.—The five suffragettes who were arrested yesterday while attempting to present petitions to the King in the course of his Majesty's progress to the opening of Parliament were charged at the Bow Street Court to-day with causing obstruction in the Mall. The Magistrate offered to bind them over to keep the peace, but all refused to give any undertaking and elected to go to prison.

One of the accused, Miss Gertrude Vaughan, contended that her action was perfectly legal and constitutional and denied any intention of insulting the King. "The insult to the King and his subjects," she said, 'lies in the scandalous mishandling of woman suffrage by the Government."

Mrs. Lillian Wilcox said: "I don't think the charge right. I should be charged with presenting a petition to the King. It was the police who created the obstruction. They hindered me from doing my duty. It is the constable who should be in the dock. I am right and the law is wrong. This militant agitation is bringing the Empire into ridicule. We shall keep on until we either get the vote or absolutely upset civilization altogether."

Samuel Cohen, who was also brought up at Bow Street on a similar charge, readily agreed to enter into recognizances for his good behavior, and was released.

Two suffragettes were charged with breaking windows of the Home Office this morning. They said it was a protest against the arrest of the petitioning suffragettes. They refused to pay fines and said they would go to Holloway.

In consequence of the receipt by the President of the Oxford University Boat Club of anonymous letters, apparently from suffragettes, threatening interference with the Oxford-Cambridge boat race next Thursday, police will patrol practically the whole course during the race. A strong force of police is now constantly guarding the boats in order to prevent damage.

The suggestion is made that the various boat clubs assist the police in patrolling the course. Should militants attempt to interfere while the race is in progress they will be lucky if they escape without a ducking in the river.

Detonators and fireworks were discharged and sulphuric acid was scattered broadcast at a suffragette meeting at Nottingham to-night. Miss Annie Kenney visited that place to address a meeting in one of the largest halls in the city. The hall was crowded. Immediately the speakers appeared on the platform howls of derision, mingled with loud cheers and bell-ringing, rang through the place.

A crowd of over 1,000 men and youths had gathered outside, but admission was refused to them. Suddenly a band of several hundred gained admission by a back passage. Windows were smashed and a hostile crowd swarmed on the platform.

In a moment the meeting became a riot. The suffragette colors were captured and ripped into fragments. Fireworks were flung in the air, scattering sparks all over the audience. Chairs and gasoliers were smashed. Many women rushed in panic to the doors and were driven back by the crowds surging in. Free fights occurred between men, and several men and women were injured before a strong force of police drove the audience from the hall.

A new Suffragette trick was revealed to-day. In various parts of the country, town councillors, magistrates, solicitors, clergymen, schoolmasters, tradesmen and others whose addresses are easily available received unstamped letters containing a coin, usually a half-penny (one cent) and a circular advocating votes for women. To accept one of these letters involves the payment of a fee of sixpence (twelve cents.) The envelopes each contain a printed slip of paper headed "Suffragette Tactics" and a letter beginning:

Dear Sir or Madam: If at the time you are annoyed, inconvenienced, or financially injured by the tactics of the suffragettes, will you remind yourself of these things?" Then follow the usual arguments for women's suffrage.

Theodore Hook's famous practical joke was gain perpetrated to-day at the expense of the suffragettes. From early morning the offices of the Women's Social and Political Union were besieged by carts, vans, and messengers, bringing goods of all descriptions said to have been ordered for the Union. The orders were written on paper purporting to be the official letter paper of the Union.

LONDON, March 11.—The belief that militant suffragettes were responsible for the burning of the railroad station at Croxley Green on the London and North Western Railway yesterday morning has been confirmed by the receipt by the station master to-day of a suffragette newspaper bearing the words, "Afraid copy left got burned."

CUBANS ACCUSE AMERICANS.

Ask Prosecution of Those Who Would Have Us Annex Isle of Pines.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, March 11.—Charges of conspiracy may be filed by the Cuban Government against Thomas J. Keenan of Pitsburgh, who is President of the American Association of the Isle of Pines, as well as all other Americans in the Isle of Pines who recently signed a petition to the United States asking for annexation. Prominent Cubans declare that Keenan and all the Americans who signed the petition are guilty of conspiring against the sovereignty of Cuba, and have further implicated themselves by using the Cuban mails to forward a plot to wrest from Cuba part of her territory.

Nearly all the Cuban newspapers comment bitterly on the action of the Americans, asserting that they are poorly repaying the welcome they received in becoming settlers on Cuban territory. One newspaper remarks that if the Americans make that kind of settlers they will no longer be welcome.

El Dia, one of the strongest conservative newspapers, advocates that the Government take immediate steps towards prosecuting those who are forwarding the movement, and says in part: "And before another step is taken we believe that the Supreme Court should start a case of conspiracy which will include in all its phases the shameful and bold work of Mr. Keenan and his companions against our integrity, indicting all who receive the circulars asking for annexation or who distribute cards or other printed matter through the Cuban mails tending to excite sentiment in favor of the annexation of the Isle of Pines to Yankee territory. We are confident that patriotism on the part of all Cubans, together with an effort on the part of our Government will be sufficient to counteract the pernicious propaganda of these American parrots."

FAITHFUL DOG FOUND WALLET

Owner Lost $2,000 Outside of the Waldorf, but the Terrier Was There.

A well-known Fifth Avenue jeweler, who is a familiar figure about Peacock Alley and the lobby of the Waldorf, owns a fine foxterrier, which he is always forced to leave outside of the hotel because the dog refuses to be led by a leash and the rules of the house do not permit animals to roam at large on the premises.

After leaving the terrier outside of the main entrance, in Thirty-fourth Street, yesterday noon the jeweler walked through the Waldorf to the Astor Trust Company, intending to deposit some money. When he reached there he found, to his consternation, that he had lost his bank book, containing more than $2,000 in checks and yellowbacks. He hurried over the route by which he had come, intending to return to his office, and had forgotten all about his dog until reminded by a sharp bark of its presence as he was hurrying by.

Turning, he was happily surprised to see the faithful animal sitting on the spot where his master had left him, holding the missing bank book in his mouth. The contents were intact. The jeweler then remembered that, in leaving his terrier behind, he had stooped to administer a parting pat, and so doing must have dropped the bank book. The dog, it was said, received a substantial reward.

LUMP CUT FROM HER BRAIN.

Girl Rallies After Operation It Was Feared Would Kill Her.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, March 11.—Resorting to means seldom used except in cases where little hope for a patient is entertained, Dr. S. J. Crowe of the Johns Hopkins Hospital performed to-day a very difficult operation. The subject was the fifteen-year-old daughter of W. C. Likly, a wealthy manufacturer of Rochester, N. Y., who for several years had been afflicted with a disease affecting that part of her brain directly above the roof of her mouth.

A large growth had formed at the edge of the brain, wedging against the thin wall of bone protecting it. The ailment had affected the development and hearing of the girl as well as her speech. Despite several previous operations in Boston and abroad, she did not improve, and when she first was examined by Baltimore surgeons it was decided an operation would be fatal.

Dr. Crowe, after careful diagnosing, announced he would attempt to remove the growth with the aid of an illuminating apparatus, the rays of which were so powerful as to make the roof of the girl's mouth transparent, thus helping in the tracing of the abnormality. The operation lasted almost an hour. Anaesthetics were given to the patient several times. She rallied encouragingly after the operation.

JUDGE DEFIES GOV. BLEASE.

Again Fines Executive's Chauffeur, Despite Alleged Threats.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 11.—Ignoring Gov. Blease's quoted threats to put the city under martial law if his negro chauffeur was "persecuted" by being brought into court on the charge of exceeding the speed limit, the city Recorder to-day fined the chauffour, Harrison Neeley, for the second time, the amount being $15.75.

The Governor immediately issued a full pardon for the negro, but Clint Cathcart, Chief of Police, again declined to remit the fine. The city authorities say that the Governor has no power to pardon offenders, convicted before the city Recorder.

Neeley's offense was speeding the Governor's machine up Main Street on Saturday night. When accused in court he only said:

"I have no statement to make. The Governor was with me, and I was driving him."

Neeley was fined $3.75 on Saturday for violating the speed limit. The fine was paid, and then the Governor issued a pardon to the negro and directed the city authorities to refund the fine. When they refused the Governor is alleged to have threatened to sue for it and to put the city under martial law in case what he called the "persecution" of his chauffeur continued.

The city police force is still under the control of the civil authorities to-night.

Levi P. Morton Slightly Improved.

Levi P. Morton, who is critically ill in his home at 998 Fifth Avenue of hardening of the arteries, was reported last evening to be resting comfortably. Dr. Hermann M. Biggs said on leaving the patient's home last night that he had noted a slight improvement in Mr. Morton's condition.

PROSECUTES GAYNOR IN HIS FATHER'S NAME

Ralph Pulitzer Says He Waited Until Now to Find an Unsubservient Magistrate.

DEFAMATION OF THE DEAD

It Is for That He Insists on a Criminal Action—Magistrate Kernochan Not Convinced.

Howard Taylor, The New York World's lawyer in libel cases, stood before the bar in the Essex Market Police Court yesterday afternoon arguing that Mayor Gaynor had committed criminal libel and should be summoned to court to defend himself. By his side for forty long minutes stood a young man in a gray overcoat, a little impatient. He was Ralph Pulitzer, now chief director of the paper. He kept his eyes steadily on Magistrate Kernochan during the discussion.

Only once did he speak. That was when Magistrate Kernochan noticed that he had failed to sign his complaining affidavit. He hastily signed the paper and responded to the administration of the oath. The bunch of affidavits were laid before Magistrate Kernochan without being read or displayed. They were afterward taken into Magistrate Kernochan's chambers without being exposed to view.

The name of Mayor Gaynor was not mentioned in the whole proceeding. The contents of the affidavits were not revealed except through the arguments. It appeared that the affidavits, besides that of Mr. Pulitzer, were made by four reporters whose names were not disclosed.

Magistrate Kernochan frankly expressed grave doubts that the crime charged had been committed. Mr. Taylor assured him that in his study of the case he had learnel many things about libel which he had not known before.

From one remark of Mr. Taylor it was apparent that Mr. Pulitzer had decided to rest his case on an allegation that the Mayor's remarks in a speech were defamatory of his dead father, Joseph Pulitzer, minimizing, if not perhaps omitting, the attack on himself and his brother. This was regarded as an excellent piece of strategy, since it would compel the Mayor to defend himself from the position of one defaming the dead and vitiate on sentimental grounds any possible pleadings of justification.

The Mayor has spoken much in his public speeches about the Pulitzers and others as publishers of "rag-bag newspapers," since their newspapers attacked the subway contracts. From Mr. Taylor's remarks it was learned that the speech on which it had been decided to prosecute the Mayor had been delivered in Brooklyn. The date was not given, but from a reporter who said he had made an affidavit on behalf of Mr. Pulitzer, it was learned that it was delivered on Feb. 4 before the South Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce.

Wants Mayor's Office Men Called.

Mr. Taylor said that he wanted subpoenas for various subordinates of "the defendant." This was taken to mean Robert Adamson, Mayo Gaynor's secretary; a policeman attached to the Mayor's office, and some of the Mayor's stenographers. In the outline he gave to Magistrate Kernochan, Mr. Taylor said that the "defendant" had instructed one of his subordinates to tell reporters at the City Hall that he was to deliver a speech, that another of his subordinates had told reporters present during the speech not to bother taking notes, and that the stenographers had furnished transcripts of the speech to these reporters.

The passages in the speech to which Mr. Pulitzer took exception were:

"As I left my office to-night I saw on a great pile of newspapers by the Bridge a great heading on one of them, 'An Injunction Stops the Secret Subway Deal.' The proprietor of that paper—or rather two proprietors now, because their father died a year ago, I think—is prone not to tell the truth.

"They have amassed a great fortune by lying. They have addressed themselves to the underworld and criminal classes so long that they are unable to turn over a new leaf and address themselves to respectable people and tell the truth."

In another paragraph of the speech he made more direct reference to the elder Pulitzer and the means by which he acquired his wealth.

Mr. Taylor quoted Section 2 of the Penal Law, which makes one who "instigates a crime" a principal. He argued that the Mayor had instigated the publication of the alleged libel in The New York Sun and other newspapers.

Construction of the Libel.

In defense of his procedure in bringing action in New York County he quoted Section 134 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, which makes a crime prosecutable in any county where a part of it was committed, and Section 1.346 of the penal law, which makes the crime of libel punishable where the person libeled lives or lived, and where the newspaper containing it was published. He said that in the case at bar the person libeled had been a resident of New York County. He explained he wished to hold the "defendant" as "an accessory before the fact," now made by law a "principal" in the commission of a crime.

Magistrate Kernochan agreed to the extent that a summons would be issuable against the papers which had printed the alleged libelous matter, but said he had not made up his mind on the question as to whether or not the publication of the matter had not been made by the "defendant" in his speech.

Mr. Taylor read from several cases to convince Magistrate Kernochan that this was immaterial, and did not reduce the alleged crime to a slander. The cases he quoted included Hewmans against Smith, reported in 153 Court of Appeals 218, in which it was held that one who furnishes a convenient means for the circulation of libelous matter aids in its publication, and is an instrument of the libel. He also quoted Weston against Weston, 83 Appellate Division 524, in which a brother, without "solicitation, design, or desire" to have the matter published, "allowed himself to be interviewed," and was held liable for libel on the subsequent publication of defamatory matter.

Civil Suits as Precedents.

He quoted Thomas against Smith, reported in 75 Hun 574, in which a man who had dictated to a stenographer a statement on which a newspaper article was based was declared in the opinion to be "more guilty than the writer." He ended with Roberts against Brekker, 31 Appellate Division 434, in which a man who had suggested the writing of a letter to an editor, preceding a defamatory publication, had been held responsible.

When Magistrate Kernochan objected that these were all civil cases, Mr. Taylor responded:

"What difference does that make? They were all libel. In a civil case, the charge need only be proved by a fair preponderance of evidence, in a criminal case beyond a reasonable doubt. That's all."

Mr. Taylor also contended that the fact

MURPHY DENIES PRESSING SULZER

Murphy Will Fight Governor, They Assert, if He Finds Sulzer Inspired Patronage Story.

Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, in the first statement of any length that he has made since the inauguration of Gov. Sulzer, denied yesterday that he had ever asked the Governor to appoint James E. Gaffney Superintendent of Public Highways in place of H. Gordon Reel, who was removed by the Governor.

A report came from Albany yesterday that Mr. Murphy had notified the Governor that if he did not appoint Mr. Gaffney to the place Tammany would begin to fight him. It was pointed out at Tammany Hall that the story might have emanated from the Governor, and this did not tend to soothe the leader's ruffled feelings. Those who heard Mr. Murphy's statement said that a break between the Governor and the Tammany leader would follow if Mr. Murphy was convinced that Mr. Sulzer had inspired the story. This is what Mr. Murphy said:

"I never heard of the proposal to appoint Mr. Gaffney to the place of Superintendent of Highways until I saw it in the afternoon newspapers to-day. I have never asked Gov. Sulzer for this appointment for Mr. Gaffney or for any other place at his, the Governor's, disposal. If I knew that Gov. Sulzer had offered the place to Mr. Gaffney, I would advise Mr. Gaffney to decline it.

"I am certain that if Gov. Sulzer is questioned about this he will answer as I have answered, that I have never asked him to appoint Mr. Gaffney as Superintendent of Highways or to any other place at his disposal."

It was pointed out that the Governor had already appointed Mr. Gaffney Chairman of the Advisory Board to study the highway situation, but Mr. Murphy's friends said that "the chief" had nothing whatever to do with the appointment; that he had not suggested it, and, in fact, knew nothing of it until the appointment was made.

Mr. Murphy read the Albany reports about the alleged break between him and the Governor very carefully. At first he was inclined to pay no attention to them. It was set forth in all the stories that the Tammany leader was anxious to get control of the $50,000,000 which would be spent for highway improvement, and that he therefore desired to have his business partner, Mr. Gaffney, made head of the department. Then some of Mr. Murphy's close friends called upon him, and the situation was carefully gone over. The Tammany leader was still inclined to pay no attention to the report, but when one of his advisers suggested that Gov. Sulzer might have inspired the story, the Tammany chief broke his long standing rule and spoke for publication.

It was denied at Tammany Hall yesterday that Mr. Murphy conferred on Monday night at Delmonico's with Democratic legislators on the legislative programme for this session. All the Democratic legislators who were in the city over Sunday departed for Albany on Monday afternoon and on Monday night Mr. Murphy was at a private dinner it was said. It was reported that at the alleged conference it had been decided to have a law passed providing for a special Spring election on the question of holding a constitutional convention and to have delegates to this convention elected in November.

"The Democrats have no intention of holding a special election this Spring," one of Mr. Murphy's supporters said yesterday, "and they have no desire to hold a constitutional convention in the face of the fact that Paragraph 2 of Article XIV. of the Constitution makes mandatory the submission of the question in 1916 anyway. The same clause gives the Legislature discretion to submit the question 'at such times as the Legislature may by law provide.' This means that if the question is submitted this Spring, and is carried in the affirmative, it will be resubmitted in 1916, thus entailing double expense, with strife and agitation over the same subject within two years.

"Tammany has no desire to put the question of boss rule up to the people. It would merely give the Progressives and other opponents of Tammany an opportunity to change certain conditions which are perfectly satisfactory to the party now in power."

KILLED BY SUITOR'S BROTHER

Passaic Girl Shot on Her Sister's Doorstep After Declining to Wed.

Special to The New York Times.

SELIN'S GROVE, Penn., March 11.—Shot through the heart by the brother of her jealous admirer, Sophia Bauze, 20 years old, of Passaic, N. J., was killed instantly in Kulpmont, near here, to-night. Joseph Sabo, 24, escaped, and is thought to be hiding in the woods. Harry Sabo, the suitor, who stood by when the shooting was done, was arrested by Sheriff John H. Glass of Sunbury, and was held as a witness.

The girl went to Kulpmont last week to visit her sister, Mrs. Peter Horvath. There she met Harry Sabo, with whom she had become acquainted in Passaic several years ago. He told her he loved her and urged a wedding. She rejected his attentions, explaining she was engaged to a Passaic man. He called persistently at the Horvath home and annoyed her with his attentions until she decided to get rid of him by returning to Passaic.

Sabo heard of her purpose, and with his brother Joseph went to the Horvath house. Joseph called the girl outside, and they became involved in a loud argument. Mrs. Horvath heard a shot. As she opened the door her sister, dead, fell into her arms.

Harry Sabo told the Sheriff his brother fired the shot after Miss Bauze said she was going to marry a better man than Harry.

FINDS LOW WAGES MAIN CAUSE OF VICE

Head of Chicago Inquiry Declares Evidence Bears Out This Conclusion.

APPEALS TO GOV. SULZER

Illinois Investigators Ask New York Executive to Aid in Nation-Wide Crusade.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Lieut. Gov. O'Hara, in summarizing the work of the Illinois Senatorial Vice Commission, tonight, said: "We have found that there is a combination engaged in wholesale traffic in women and extending over the entire country. In a large proportion of the cases we have investigated we have found that the girls have been procured from large department stores and similar institutions where women are employed. Low wages are to blame for most of the immorality among young girls.

"In most instances State Street merchants have been ready to co-operate with the commission in abolishing the present conditions. While we have found that in most of the stores wages for the younger girls vary from $3 to $5 a week, this is not confined to the large department stores alone, but is even more noticeable in smaller establishments.

"There absolutely is no doubt that the solution of the problem is the establishment of a minimum wage for women. Many merchants have attempted to shield themselves by declaring that the low wage has no bearing upon morality, since many of the girls live at home and are not dependent upon their own earning powers for a living. This is untrue in far too many cases.

"Chicago is the middle Western distributing point and collecting station for women. This gigantic 'white slave' trust, at least the local end of it, is conducted by a Chicago man. He is now in New York, and we are waiting for him to come back here, when a subpoena will be served upon him immediately.

"The most significant thing so far discovered is the fact that many girls go astray purely through environment. In entering the business world the seclusion of the home is lost, and girls become more masculine in their ideas and modes of life. By the establishment of the minimum wage the salaries of men ultimately will be increased. This will make it possible for them to better provide for the home, enable young men to marry, and thus, to a great degree, at least, make it unnecessary for women to seek employment. This, to my mind, is the solution of the entire problem."

The Commission is not alarmed by the theory that a minimum wage law would force 10,000 women out of employment.

Mr. O'Hara declined to discuss the report that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., did not contemplate receiving the Illinois commission in New York.

"Whatever Mr. Rockefeller does, it will have no bearing upon our Eastern trip," he said. "We are going, that is certain."

The commission will visit the principal cities of New York and Pennsylvania in an effort to stimulate a Nation-wide inquiry and effect Federal legislation on the minimum wage for women.

It is planned to seek conferences with President Wilson, Gov. Sulzer of New York, and Mayor Gaynor of New York City, Gov. Tener of Pennsylvania, and Gov. Goldsborough of Maryland.

The City Council Committee on Vice has adopted a resolution to co-operate with the Senatorial Commission in investigating the traffic in women.

Although the State Vice Commission took an indefinite recess yesterday, a force of its investigators went to work to-day gathering data on the following subjects:

The stage—With particular reference to the environment of chorus girls.

Restaurants—To show the wages and environments of waitresses.

Stenographers—Their wages and environments.

Popular songs with suggestive words.

Several complaints regarding immodest costumes worn on the stage have reached the commission recently. The Senators will seek a method of censorship. Cabaret entertainments also will be investigated. Some of these are of real merit, but it is said that others have objectionable features, including suggestive songs.

"The newspapers have told only a part of the story," said Senator Beall. "The situation is appalling. We have not only the moral indorsement, but the active and financial support of some of the best people of the country in our investigation."

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 11.—Gov. Sulzer said to-day that he had received a letter from Lieut. Gov. O'Hara of Illinois asking him for his aid in extending the inquiry into the white slave traffic which the Illinois Legislature is conducting. The letter said that the investigation in Illinois showed that the traffic was of an Inter-State nature and that it could be best controlled by the adoption of a uniform law by all the States. Gov. Sulzer replied that he was in sympathy with the purpose of the investigation and that he would do all he could to further remedial legislation.

The special factory investigating commission may take up the investigation. A bill now before the Legislature extends the time of the commission so that it may look into the question of a minimum wage for women. The Illinois inquiry has sought to connect the white slave traffic with low wages for girls and women, and this phase of the problem will be taken up by the factory commission.

DES MOINES, Iowa, March 11.—Gov. George W. Clarke to-day sent a special message to the State Legislature asking that body to become actively interested in an investigation of the white slave situation in Iowa. The message suggested that a commission be named by the Governor to serve for two years.

JUSTICE GERARD A SPEEDER?

Jersey Policeman Reports His Auto for Breaking the Law in Passaic.

PASSAIC, N. J., March 11.—Traffic Policeman James F. Green has brought a complaint here against Justice James W. Gerard of the New York Supreme Court for exceeding the speed limit in his auto. He will be arraigned before Judge Costello in the Police Court here on Friday morning to answer the charge.

Greene saw Justice Gerard's automobile speeding along Main Avenue Sunday afternoon. He caught the number and sent it to the Motor Vehicle Department at Albany. A letter received this morning said that the auto belonged to Justice Gerard. Justice Gerard, through his secretary, told Chief of Police Henry that he would be here whenever the court desired his presence.

JACK BARRYMORE FINED $800.

Actor Blackened Barber's Eye for Superfluous Hair-Cut.

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—Jack Barrymore, the actor, was to-day assessed $800 by a jury in the Superior Court for having inflicted a black eye upon Martin Bergman, a barber. Bergman sued for $1,550.

Mr. Barrymore, who is in New York, did not defend the suit in person, but testified by means of a deposition that the barber had insisted on cutting his hair when he had merely ordered a shave. He said that the man attacked him when he protested.

Bergman denied this and testified that the actor began the hostilities.

GETS OFF HORSE AND DIES.

Sergt. Hickey Stricken by Heart Disease in Armory.

While exercising a horse in the First Regiment Armory at 56 West Sixty-sixth Street, last night, Leo Hickey, 21 years old, of 328 West 113th Street, a Sergeant in the Second Battalion Field Artillery, National Guard, had an attack of heart disease and died in a few minutes. Becoming dizzy, Sergt. Hickey dismounted and called for aid. He was carried to the mess room, but died before a doctor could arrive.

Sergt. Hickey two years ago risked his life and received cuts in his right arm and side trying to stop a negro, John Cain, who went crazy in the upper west side and slashed nine people, killing three. He was promoted at the time by Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan, then in command of the Second Battalion of Field Artillery, to be a Corporal, and was the youngest Corporal in the National Guard in this State. When he died last night he was the youngest Sergeant.

ALL FOR FAIR DEFENDANT.

$1 Damages for Wife Who Sued Her, and Even the Court Offers to Pay.

A Supreme Court jury took a lenient view yesterday of Rose Eisenberg's flirtation with Joseph Karmel, which was described before Justice Hooker. Mrs. Karmel sued Miss Eisenberg for $10,000 damages for the alienation of her husband's affections, and had her locked up in Ludlow Street Jail, upon her failure to give a bond to defend the suit. Miss Eisenberg testified she had received Karmel's attentions without knowing he was married, and that she had sent him speedily on his way when she learned he had a wife and child.

The jury returned a verdict of $1 damages, which the foreman of the jury announced he would pay. Justice Hooker also said he wished to pay the judgment. Counsel for Mrs. Karmel then offered to pay it, but Miss Eisenberg's counsel announced that he would not permit any one except himself to pay the judgment, and the clerk of the court took his money. The verdict throws the costs of the suit on Mrs. Karmel.

COLLISION INJURES THIRTEEN

Erie Passenger Train Crashes Into Freight on Piermont Branch.

Thirteen persons were injured when the passenger train which left Suffern, N. Y., at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon over the Piermont division of the Erie Railroad plunged head-on into a freight train when midway between Tallmans and Munsey. The collision occurred at the top of an embankment forty feet high. Two of the thirteen persons were very seriously hurt. George Ude of Nyack was taken to the Nyack Hospital with his ribs broken and his face torn, and William Stepler, fireman of the passenger engine, had both legs broken. Stepler also is in the Nyack Hospital. His home is in Spring Valley.

The passenger train of two coaches and a locomotive were descending a steep grade at a 25-mile-an-hour speed when the engineer saw the freight coming around the curve. The two trains were then only 200 yards apart. The emergency brakes were thrown on abruptly with a jolt sufficient to toss all the passengers like peas in a pod, but even so, the collision was inevitable and of such force as to topple the passenger engine partly over the embankment and to crumple the front of the other engine. Ude was more seriously hurt than his fellow-passengers because he had stepped into the baggage car to look after his sample trunks. He is a traveling salesman for J. Wagner, a Brooklyn manufacturer.

Needs a Leavitowoodrow Cocktail.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Wednesday, March 12.—Punch publishes a cartoon entitled "The New Cocktail." It represents President Wilson examining through a magnifying glass the tongue of a sick American eagle and saying: "My poor bird, what HAVE they been doing to you? What you want is a good, stiff leavitowoodrow."

WILSON WARNS LATIN AMERICA

In Personal Statement He Voices Our Friendship and Condemns Intriguers.

MAY BE AIMED AT CASTRO

Washington Has Had Rumors of Revolutionary Plot Involving Many Republics.

ISSUED WITHOUT BRYAN'S AID

Central American Affairs Were a Cabinet Theme, but Document Was Prepared by President.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—There is reason to believe that a statement on the relations of the United States to Latin America, written by President Wilson and issued by him after a meeting of the Cabinet to-day, has deep and significant bearing on a concerted movement in Central America, fostered by ex-President Castro of Venezuela, ex-President Zelaya of Nicaragua, and other malcontents who were about to start a revolution intended to involve all, or nearly all, the Central American Republics.

It is understood that this Government had trustworthy advices that the revolutionary plans had been practically formed, and it was felt by the President and his advisers that unless action was taken by the Washington Administration, Central America would soon be in a turmoil that might involve the United States in serious difficulties with foreign nations.

The matter was discussed at a meeting of the Cabinet to-day, and it was decided by the President and his official advisers that a statement should be issued defining the attitude of the Wilson Administration toward Central America. After the meeting President Wilson wrote out the statement and directed that it be given to the press. The statement read:

"In view of questions which are naturally uppermost in the public mind just now, the President issued the following statement:

"'One of the chief objects of my Administration will be to cultivate the friendship and deserve the confidence of our sister republics of Central and South America and to promote in every proper and honorable way the interests which are common to the peoples of the two continents. I earnestly desire the most cordial understanding and co-operation between the peoples and leaders of America, and therefore deem it my duty to make this brief statement:

"'Co-operation is possible only when supported at every turn by the orderly processes of just government, based upon law and not upon arbitrary or irregular force. We hold, as I am sure all thoughtful leaders of republican government everywhere hold, that just government rests always upon the consent of the governed, and that there can be no freedom without order, based upon law and upon the public conscience and approval. We shall look to make these principles the basis of mutual intercourse, respect, and helpfulness between our sister republics and ourselves.

No Friendship for Self-Seekers.

"'We shall lend our influence of every kind to the realization of these principles in fact and practice, knowing that disorder, personal intrigue, and defiance of constitutional rights weaken and discredit government and injure none so much as the people who are unfortunate enough to have their common life and their common affairs so tainted and disturbed.

"'We can have no sympathy with those who seek to seize the power of government to advance their own personal interests or ambition. We are the friends of peace, but we know that there can be no lasting or stable peace in such circumstances.

"'As friends, therefore, we shall prefer those who act in the interest of peace and honor, who protect private rights and respect the restraints of constitutional provision. Mutual respect seems to us the indispensable foundation of friendship between States as between individuals.

"'The United States has nothing to seek in Central and South America except the lasting interests of the peoples of the two continents, the security of governments, intended for the people, and for no special group or interest, and the development of personal and trade relationships between the two continents, which shall redound to the profit and advantage of both and interfere with the rights and liberties of neither.

"'From these principles may be read so much of the future policy of this Government as it is necessary now to forecast; and in the spirit of these principles I may, I hope, be permitted with as much confidence as earnestness to extend to the governments of all the republics of America the hand of genuine, disinterested friendship, and to pledge my own honor and the honor of my colleagues to every enterprise of peace and amity that a fortunate future may disclose.'"

The President's statement was prepared as a result of a discussion of Latin-American affairs at to-day's meeting of the Cabinet. The statement was made ready by President Wilson personally, after the Cabinet meeting, and was not seen by Secretary Bryan until it was shown to him this afternoon by newspaper men.

Diplomats Wonder What He Means.

The declaration of Wilson's policy excited the liveliest interest in diplomatic circles, particularly among the representatives of the Central American republics

Aimed at Central America?

There was much conjecture whether the statement was intended as a warning to the present Mexican Government or the Gomez Administration in Cuba, but the general opinion was that it was aimed more particularly at Central America.

Intended to Warn Plotters.

While the statement is such as to leave it open to question whether it is intended as a threat or the extension of the olive branch of friendship, the understanding in official circles is that what the President has to say in this first important statement of his term will not be lost on Castro, Zelaya and others who have been organizing the farthest reaching revolutionary movement ever attempted in the Central American Republics.

No information was forthcoming from the White House or from Secretary Bryan as to the exact meaning of the statement, which, according to the answers made to requests for an interpretation of it, "speaks for itself." But it was learned late to-night that what President Wilson and members of his Cabinet had in mind when they discussed the necessity of issuing the statement was information of the approaching climax of the general Central American conspiracy, that foreboded trouble to this Government in its capacity of protecting not only the interests of American citizens, but those of citizens and subjects of foreign Governments as well.

The main purpose of the statement, it is believed, is to warn Castro, Zelaya, and the other plotters that their plans are known and will not be tolerated by the United States Government. The idea had gone forth in Central America that the Wilson Administration intended to follow a "hands off" policy with regard to Latin-America, and that the passing of Taft and Knox would be the signal for license to indulge in riot and insurrection. The State Department has been aware for a long time that this idea was spreading in Central America, and that it was being used to make a foundation for a plot, having for its object the overthrow of the present governments in practically all the Central American republics.

The statement prepared by President Wilson, little as may be understood in this country, will be read by Castro and his fellow plotters with thorough knowledge of what it means. At least, that is said to be the basic idea of the President and his Cabinet in issuing it.

The statement means that the Wilson Administration intends to make no change in the policy pursued toward Central America by the Administration of President Taft. If American or foreign interests are threatened or do not receive adequate protection, the new Government, it is believed, will not hesitate to land marines on Central American territory, not only to give protection to aliens but also to keep means of communication open.

In fact, it is to be inferred that the Wilson Administration will pursue exactly the same policy as was followed under the Taft Administration recently, when marines fought their way through Nicaragua against opposition from bands of revolutionists in order to succor American and foreign citizens whose lives were in danger.

It is known that toward the close of the Taft Administration reports reached the State Department regarding a serious state of affairs in Latin America. For several weeks the department has been getting dispatches from diplomatic and Consular officers that a conspiracy has been formed by ex-President Castro of Venezuela, ex-President Zelaya of Nicaragua, and other Latin-American malcontents who had been ousted from office to organize a movement that would overthrow the rulers in every Central American republic.

That Castro has had a hand in this plot is firmly believed by Government officials. It is presumed that in joining this revolutionary holding company Castro has in mind a scheme to organize an army in Central America to invade Venezuela and put himself once more at the head of the Government. With Central America in the hands of his fellow-plotters, he would be in an excellent position to do this. Arms and ammunition and troops could be obtained without much difficulty, and a superior force could be landed on Venezuelan soil.

The Wilson Administration is considering whether there shall be a change in the plans for the Spring practice of the Atlantic fleet, due to sail from Guantanamo Monday for Hampton Roads. It has been suggested that the ships should be kept at Guantanamo until conditions in Central America are more settled. It is possible that the four battleships now at Vera Cruz and Tampico will remain there for the present, while the rest of the fleet proceeds northward.

SAY MEXICO IS IN THE PLOT.

Reports In New Orleans That Its Object Is to Distract Our Attention.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, March 11.—Impelled by memories of the loss of Texas, the Provisional Government of Mexico is believed here to be supporting a plan to start revolutions in each of the five Republics of Central America, Venezuela and perhaps other Republics of South America.

This is to be done, it is said, to distract the attention of the United States from the struggle between the Huerta-Diaz Government and the States of Sonora and Coahuila, which have seceded from Mexico and hope to establish independent republics. That this movement is receiving aid in the United States is the sincere belief of many prominent men of the Nation.

They foresee in it a repetition of the events which resulted in the acquisition of its largest State by the northern Republic. The revolts in other parts of Latin-America will keep the United States busy elsewhere, it is believed.

Eulogio Gillow, Archbishop of Antequera, one of the most noted prelates of the Catholic Church in Mexico, is credited with being the brains of the movement, in which, of course, the Government is to have no apparent connection. Archbishop Gillow is an Englishman, and has great influence over the Mexican people, among whom he has lived since early manhood.

Guatemala will probably be the first place where the revolution will be started. By recruiting forces from among the Zapotecan Indians of the Oaxaca Mountains the best fighting men in Mexico can be hurried southward to the border.

It is asserted that plans have developed to the extent of providing for one attacking party to enter Guatemala from Yucatan and another by way of Tapachula and Ajutla.

The latter town is in Guatemala across from the Mexican frontier town of Mariscal, terminus of the Pan-American railway. This is in the heart of the great coffee belt and is well away from the sea coast.

There is little doubt that an inkling of the plan has already been carried to President Cabrera of Guatemala, as it is known that soldiers are being hurried into the Department of San Carlos, which is bounded by the State of Chiapas, Mexico.

After the Guatemalan revolution is started, it is believed that other revolts will break out in other parts of Central America.

Money will be supplied to the right interests in Nicaragua, Honduras and Salvador. This alone is being relied upon to start the trouble for the present Governments and incidentally for the United States. Even if this should not succeed, it is thought that only a short time would have to pass before Guatemala would be so aflame with revolution that bodies of insurgents would be detached and hurried southward.

Money and a few agitators are all that will be needed in Venezuela and Colombia, Mexicans believe, to start revolutions. In the meantime Mexico will be sending her regular army against the rebels in Coahuila and Sonora.

The general scheme is for Porfirio Diaz to play no little part.

MORE HOME RULE FOR FILIPINOS

Porto Ricans Also to Have Larger Responsibility in Government.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The Wilson Administration will extend home rule in Porto Rico and the Philippines. This was the decision reached to-day after a conference between President Wilson and Secretary Garrison, under whose department the affairs of these two dependencies are placed.

In Porto Rico all local offices will be given to residents of the island, as far as possible. This does not mean that applicants for appointment must be natives or that citizens of the United States who have gone to Porto Rico and become permanent residents are barred. But as far as Porto Rican citizens are qualified for holding public office they are to have the preference.

The Executive Commission will consist, [illegible] of citizens of the United [illegible] constitutes the upper house of the Legislature. The lower house is made up of Porto Ricans, and there has been much embarrassment because the lower house had often blocked legislation by its opposition to the policies of the Government. The Administration hopes that liberality in the matter of disposing of the Federal offices on the island may bring a friendlier attitude toward the Governor and the commission.

No intimation has been given of the intentions of the Administration toward Gov. Colton, but it is generally accepted that he will be succeeded by a Democrat soon, probably by Joseph E. Davies of Wisconsin, Secretary of the Democratic National Committee.

The policy adopted toward the Philippines will be such as to put the responsibilities of government as much as possible on the Filipinos. As to tariff relations between the Philippines and the United States nothing has been decided. Nor did to-day's conference take up the question of independence. Both the President and Secretary Garrison are in accord with the declarations of the Democratic National platform regarding ultimate independence for the Philippines, but they make no predictions as to when independence may safely be granted.

When asked to-day if he had any idea how long it would be before the Philippines could obtain their independence, Secretary Garrison replied, "Oh, the answer to that is, 'How long is a string?'"

In brief, the President will regard it as the province of Congress to decide when to grant independence to the Philippines. There is no idea of expediting the separation of the islands from the United States, or even of bringing about that consummation during Wilson's term.

WILSON FRIENDLY TO CANADA.

Ambassador Bryce Tells Montrealers of the President's Cordial Attitude.

MONTREAL, March 11.—That President Woodrow Wilson's attitude toward Canada was one of great friendliness was the assurance that James Bryce, the British Ambassador to the United States, gave the Canadian Club in an address this afternoon. This led him to the belief, he said, that the relations between the two countries would in the future be as intimate as before and probably more intimate.

In discussing his theme, which was the future of Canada, Mr. Bryce asserted that the politics of this country and Great Britain should always be kept apart—in watertight compartments.

He concluded by pointing out that the fact that the United States and Canada could live next door to one another without arming against one another was a lesson against countries providing themselves with armament on a large scale.

SENATE HOLDS UP NOMINEES.

Action of Republicans in Insisting on Routine Makes Democrats Uneasy.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Some opposition to President Wilson's appointments developed to-day. Part of this was made manifest in the executive session of the Senate, when Republican Senators insisted that appointments be acted upon by the Senate committee before being taken up for confirmation.

As a result of this insistence no appointments were confirmed, although those of Daniel C. Roper, Alexander M. Dockery, and James I. Blakeslee, appointed respectively as First, Third, and Fourth Assistant Postmasters General, were ready for action.

In addition to this, it became known to-day that the appointment of Charles P. Neill, former Commissioner of Labor, to be Commissioner of Labor Statistics in the new Federal Department of Labor, would be vigorously fought by Senators Tillman of South Carolina, Overman of North Carolina, and several Southern colleagues.

Senators Tillman and Overman have now filed with the Committee on Education and Labor, of which Senator Borah continues as Chairman for the time being, formal protest against the confirmation of Mr. Neill's appointment. In the voluminous papers submitted to the committee, they charge, generally, partisanship and an unfavorable attitude toward some aspects of labor in the textile industries of the South.

Comment was caused to-day by a statement made by Postmaster General Burleson, who remained with the President some time after the Cabinet meeting, and later gave his opinion of Mr. Taft's order putting 35,000 third and fourth class Postmasters in the classified service.

"The policy of the Administration toward that order has not been determined," said Mr. Burleson. "Personally I am in sympathy with it, but I do not believe it went far enough in that many men retained office for political reasons instead of having to pass a test of merit which should have been required."

SAY McCOMBS WON'T ACCEPT.

Friends Indicate Chairman Will Not Take Ambassadorship to France.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—William F. McCombs, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, returned to Washington to-night from New York and will see President Wilson to-morrow.

His friends were saying this evening that Mr. McCombs would probably not accept the Ambassadorship to France. Mr. McCombs, they said, had been impressed with the view that his presence in this country was needed to inform the President as to candidates for office who had been helpful to the party in the Presidential campaign.

MAY BRING 16,000 SUITS.

Government Said to be Planning to Attack Railroads on 16-Hour Law.

CHICAGO, March 11. — Rumors were current to-night that the Federal Government plans to institute 16,000 suits against various railroads for alleged violations of the sixteen-hour law. One Eastern railroad will be made the object of 5,000 alleged violations, it was said.

Evidence, now in the hands of the Government, was given by the railroad heads, it is understood in the course of reporting cases where crews were on duty longer than sixteen hours due to hot boxes.

By the sixteen-hour law of 1907, railroads were relieved of responsibility for crews being on duty more than the legal length of time in cases of unavoidable causes. The roads are said to have believed that hot boxes would come under the same head.

WOULD TELL SENATE TRUTH ABOUT MEXICO

American Colonists in Huerta's Capital Ask to be Heard by Washington Lawmakers.

THEY DEFEND AMBASSADOR

Mr. Wilson, One Writes, Helped to Save a Difficult Situation in the Revolutionary Crisis.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—It became known here late to-night that prominent members of the American colony in the City of Mexico wished to obtain an opportunity to appear before the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate to testify as to conditions immediately preceding, during, and since the Huerta-Diaz revolution.

A Democratic Senator who is a member of the committee received to-day a long letter from one of the leaders of the American colony stating that Americans in Mexico City feared conditions there had been misrepresented here, and requesting that steps be taken toward arranging for a hearing by the Foreign Relations Committee of the American colonists, who would be willing to travel to Washington, if necessary, to testify.

That letter will be laid before the committee at its next meeting. The Senator who received it will ask that the committee consider favorably the advisability of granting a hearing. From the letter received from the American colonist, it appears that the feeling among the American colonists generally in Mexico City is in favor of Henry Lane Wilson, American Ambassador, and his retention as the representative of American interests in that country.

The letter says the sentiment among the American colonists is that Ambassador Wilson performed a great service by the way he handled affairs in the crisis, and that he did a great deal to save an exceedingly dangerous situation. It also is evident from the letter that there is a fear in the American colony in Mexico City that Ambassador Wilson either has been or is about to be misrepresented here—that he has been or will be accused in Washington of having aided the Huerta revolution, and that the American colonists think they should have an opportunity to clear away any misrepresentation or misunderstanding of the exact situation.

CARRANZA BEATEN, IT'S SAID.

Mexican Officials Hear He Is in Flight Toward the Border.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, March 11.—The situation was greatly improved to-day. Several leaders of the Government reported that the Carranza movement in the State of Coahuila had collapsed. Government advices stated that Gov. Venustiano Carranza was in full flight toward the border, pursued closely by Federal troops. It was considered possible the Huerta forces would catch Gov. Carranza. It was not believed he would offer to fight.

Juan Andrew Almazan surprised Government officials by appearing in the capital to-day. It had been thought he still was in the State of Guerrero, and possibly in rebellion against the Huerta Administration. Almazan said in an interview that he represented Jesus Salgado Radilla and other leaders who were at the head of 4,000 men. He promised that all of them would recognize the Government unconditionally. Almazan had not been informed of the uprising by Gertrudis Sanchez, but he said he would deal with him in short order. He explained that Sanchez would have no chance, as that man was hated in the State, his men having come from frontier States. Guerrero, he added, was famous for its clannishness and its hatred of residents of other States.

Revolutionists now concentrated in the larger towns are prepared to take the field on receipt of orders. Government officials stated to-day they would have 10,000 men in Sonora in two days. They set the number of rebels in that State at 5,000, but admitted the insurgents were well armed.

It is recognized here that the entire State of Sonora is in the hands of the rebels. The Huerta plan is to wage two separate campaigns, one against the Yaquis, the other aimed at the secessionists. Representations will be made to-morrow to the Government in Washington to have the United States prevent filibustering.

The Minister of the Interior, Garcia Granados, will appear before the Senate Committee to-morrow to ask for the expedition of the amnesty measure.

It was decided to-day to ask Congress to call the National elections for President and Vice President and a Justice of the Supreme Court for the first Sunday in July. A measure to that end will be sent to Congress to-morrow.

The Legislature of the State of Coahuila officially recognized to-day the Huerta Government, electing Gen. Eugenio Rascon Governor of the State. He had already been appointed as the legislative power and was thought to have disappeared, but ratification by the Legislature is regarded as a good move.

Secession talk on the part of Sonora and possibly other States continued strong to-day. The Government officials were cognizant of the fact, but denied having any ground on which to take action.

REBELS LOSE LONG BATTLE.

Federals Drive Them from Parral Back to the Hills.

EL PASO, Texas, March 11.—Desperate fighting in an attack on Parral, in the State of Chihuahua, entailing a huge loss of life in a 50-hour battle, was reported to-day. Fifteen hundred Constitutionalistas, rebelling against Huerta's National Government, were driven back by almost an equal number of Federal regulars, and Parral, a centre of American mining and industrial interests, was damaged greatly by bombardment and street fighting, in which the townspeople engaged.

The ex-insurrecto troops who rebelled against the Huerta Government and left Parral last week after mobilizing and recruiting at Santa Barbara nearby, returned on March 5 to retake the city. One thousand Federals from Chihuahua City had reinforced the 200 regulars in Parral.

On the afternoon of March 5, the insurgents made an attack, and the battle was continued until the evening of March 7. On the morning [illegible] took the forti[illegible] city, driving the Federals to cover in the town.

Col. Mercado, the garrison commander, and Col. Castro, who had brought the reinforcements from the State capital, called for volunteers to retake the outlying positions. Five hundred men responded. After charges and almost hand-to-hand fighting, they drove the insurgents from the hills.

Then the Constitutionalistas concentrated their fire on the southern section of the town, driving the city officials from their houses and causing great loss of life to the residents. At night the insurgents withdrew unpursued.

In the fighting mobs of townsfolk rioted, burning the market and attacking the banks. Volleys from the soldiers soon quieted the internal disturbances.

NOGALES, Ariz., March 11.—A formal warning against endangering American lives was made to-day by Consul Frederick Simpich to both Gen. Obregon, commanding the Sonora insurgents, and Col. Kosterlitsky, in charge of the Federal garrison in Nogales, Sonora. The American Consul to the Mexican border town journeyed twenty miles south to deliver personally the message to the constitutionalist chief.

The rebels are prepared to move against Nogales with almost 1,000 men and several machine guns, Consul Simpich reported on returning here tonight. The State troops are marching north with intentions of taking positions by sunrise.

A deserter from the State troops advancing against Nogales, Sonora, arrived here to-day and reported that the rebels were only twenty miles away and were advancing rapidly, considering the condition of the railway. He said the force consisted of almost 1,000 men, with horses and building material for the railway.

The entire Federal force in Agua Prieta was put to work this afternoon loading arms and ammunition into box cars. The United States Customs Collector said if Gen. Ojeda's design was to ship his munitions into the United States in bond to prevent their capture by rebels it could be done only by permission of the Government in Washington.

A mutiny of the Yaqui Indians of the Federal garrison is threatened.

LAREDO, Texas, March 11.—Of thirty Federal cavalrymen who attacked 200 Carranzistas on the outskirts of Lampazos, seventy miles south of the border, late yesterday, thirteen were killed, ten were wounded, and four taken prisoners were put to death, according to a telegram received by United States Consul Garrett in Nuevo Laredo. It was the third Federal defeat in Lampazos in as many days.

AMERICANS TO HOLD BORDER.

Gen. Bliss Reports United States Troops Are Needed There.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—No change in the disposition of United States troops on the Mexican border between El Paso, Texas, and Nogales, Mexico, is likely in view of a report to the War Department to-day from Brig. Gen. Bliss that no patrol was nearer to the international boundary than was absolutely necessary.

After the recent clashes near Douglas between Mexican soldiers and American troops Gen. Bliss was asked by Secretary Garrison to investigate the frontier situation with a view to moving the troops further back from the boundary to lessen the danger of border fighting. He reported to-day that the troops are performing difficult duty with great discretion, and that in the vicinity of Douglas no patrol or other detachment was under observation from the Mexican side.

The War Department will accept Gen. Bliss's view, and he will continue his investigation along the entire American-Mexican frontier.

Dispatches to the department indicate a serious situation at Piedras Negras, Mexico, where the forces under Gov. Carranza appear to be in full control. Gen. Aubert, with Federal cavalry, is reported near Monclavo. The railroad near Piedras Negras has been abandoned by the Central Government and Carranza is trying to operate the line by impressing discharged employes. Inhabitants of Piedras Negras fear the town will be destroyed. It is reported that Carranza intends to take part of his force to Cuatro Cienegas.

Inquiry from the Mexican Foreign Office as to the acceptability to this Government of Emilio Rabasa as Mexican Ambassador to Washington to succeed Señor Calero, retired, has confronted the State Department with the question of formal recognition of the new Provisional Government of Mexico. Up to this time Ambassador Wilson has been treating with the Huerta Administration on a de facto basis. It now becomes necessary to decide whether formal recognition shall be extended, such as would be involved in the reception by President Wilson of the new Ambassador.

Señor Rabasa is a lawyer, 56 years old, who speaks English fluently. He is regarded in Mexico as an authority on international law.

'PREPOSTEROUS,' SAYS COLONEL

His View of the Charge That He Planned to Break Up Mexico.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, March 11.—Deputy Escudero asserted to-day the truth of charges against Col. Theodore Roosevelt made in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday by Deputy Querido Moheno, to the effect that the Colonel had given a promise for the partition of Mexico. Senor Escudero not only corroborated all that Senor Moheno had said, but added that he himself would make a sensational announcement shortly. The statements by the two members of the Chamber caused many expressions of indignation among foreigners in this city to-day and led to public manifestations of anti-American feeling.

Deputy Moheno, who is the leader of the Government party in the Chamber, charged that Col. Roosevelt promised his supporters that he would divide the Mexican Republic into several small republics, thus leaving the entire country in its divided form, at the mercy of the United States. Señor Moheno added that the secession movement in the State of Sonora, where the Acting Governor and the Legislature had issued a public defiance of Gen. Victoriano Huerta's Provisional National Government, was a preliminary step toward attainment of the partition of the republic to which, he asserted, Col. Roosevelt had pledged himself.

The Government leader made the specific charge that the State revolt in Sonora was being financed by a syndicate of "Yankee bankers."

It was learned unofficially to-night that the Cabinet had taken action toward showing regret for the remarks made by Deputy Moheno.

When Col. Roosevelt read the dispatch setting forth the charge made by Deputy Querido Moheno that he had promised a division of the Mexican Republic into several small republics, he had no comment to make. At his quarters in The Outlook office it was said that the Colonel considered the material of the dispatch too obviously preposterous to deserve any comment.

SENT NO MADERO RESCUERS.

President's Widow Denies Official Explanation of Tragedy.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, March 11.—Señora Francisco I. Madero, Jr., widow of the slain President of Mexico, denied indignantly to-day a statement made in the City of Mexico on Sunday last by Gen. Mondragon, Minister of War of the Mexican Republic, in which he sought to fix on her indirect responsibility for her husband's death, through an alleged attempt to rescue Señor Madero from his captors.

"That statement is ridiculous," said Señora Madero. "Of course, it is absolutely false. It places the present Government of Mexico in the position of endeavoring to mitigate its crime before a condemnatory world by trying to fasten the responsibility on a helpless woman.

"We had no opportunity to try to muster bands of rescuers," the President's widow continued, "even if we had thought of doing so, because we were in momentary expectation of being assassinated ourselves."

Beyond that indignant denial, Señora Madero refused to discuss Minister Mondragon's statement.

The entire party of the survivors of the Madero family who fled to Cuba from Mexico sailed for New York this afternoon aboard the Ward liner Monterey.

Gen. Mondragon, Mexico's Minister of War, was quoted in a dispatch from Mexico City, dated last Sunday, as saying that Señora Madero largely was responsible for the killing of the President in that capital, following the overthrow of the Madero Administration by Gen. Huerta and Gen. Felix Diaz.

"Investigation shows," the statement attributed to the Minister ran, "that had it not been for the activity of Mrs. Madero in her efforts to rescue her husband he would not have been killed. In her anxiety to effect his release she persuaded groups of men loyal to Madero to go to the vicinity of the penitentiary, School of Target Practice, and the Ciudadela, not knowing to which of those places the prisoners would be taken from the palace.

"It was the group sent to the penitentiary by Mrs. Madero which attempted to rescue the President."

BRITAIN TO ACCEPT HUERTA.

Minister de la Barra Announces Recognition Will Be Given.

MEXICO CITY, March 11.—Great Britain will recognize the Huerta Government, according to official advices received to-day by Francisco de la Barra, Mexican Minister of Foreign Relations, from the Mexican Legation in London. Minister de la Barra announced this afternoon that Bartolome Carbajal y Rosas, recently transferred from St. Petersburg to take the post of Minister at London, was persona grata to the British Government.

At the end of a long Cabinet session to-night the announcement was made that 10,000 Federal troops would be rushed to the State of Sonora in an effort to crush the secessionists before the movement should spread further. The Government has received unofficial advices that the Constitutionalist Party in Sonora has united with that of Sinaloa and Lower California in the secession movement.

A plot to procure intervention in Mexico is said to have been frustrated by the suppression by Government troops on March 8 of the disorders caused by striking workmen in Santa Rosa, near Orizaba, in the State of Vera Cruz, when Camerino Mendoza, a former chief of rural guards, was killed. Documents have been recovered which include one addressed to President Taft asking for intervention by the United States and the restoration of Francisco I. Madero, Jr., as President of Mexico, failing which it was proposed to make attacks on foreign residents in this country. The plotters are said to have been persons who had been connected with the Madero Government.

The death roll of the battle fought in front of the National Palace on Feb. 9, when Gen. Felix Diaz attacked the Government troops with his rebel army, and Gen. Bernardo Reyes was killed, totaled 506, according to a report by the military authorities, who just have completed their investigation. The victims included 170 women, 6 children, 208 non-combatant men, 10 military students and 40 Federal soldiers, the remainder being rebels.

MONTEREY, Mex., March 11.—The Federal troops are reported to have driven a large body of adherents of Gov. Venustiano Carranza of the State of Coahuila back toward Muzquiz after a fight on Sunday last at San Salvador Bonavides in that State. Followers of Carranza are said to be spreading rebel propaganda among the Kickapoo Indians, many of whom are flocking to Carranza's standard.

Gen. Trucy Aubert, with a column of Federal troops, has advanced to Barotoran, sixty miles to the north of Monclova, and it is thought he will attack Carranza's men at Muzquiz shortly.

The City Council of Torreon has been removed from office, owing to the support given by its members to Madero. It has been replaced by a Government commission presided over by Juan Castillon. The commission has been empowered to use all available means for the pacification of the city and the surrounding country.

Gen. Manuel Blazquez has been named Military Governor of the State of Coahuila.

NEWSPAPER LAW'S STATUS.

Supreme Court Asked to Stop Immediate Enforcement by Burleson.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Counsel for The New York Journal of Commerce today asked the Supreme Court to restrain Postmaster General Burleson from enforcing immediately the newspaper publicity law. The request was based upon an agreement between counsel, the Department of Justice, and the Post Office Department made in October last that no action would be taken by the Post Office Department to compel newspaper publishers to comply with the law or enforce any of its penalties until the Supreme Court had passed upon its validity.

Robert G. Morris, counsel for The Journal of Commerce, said that on March 4 the Postmaster of New York had notified The Journal of Commerce that unless the statements required by the law were filed at once he would proceed to enforce the law's penalties. Similar letters, the attorney charged, had been sent to other newspapers throughout the country. Since March 4, Mr. Morris said, Postmaster General Burleson had told him that unless the required returns were made on or before March 11 he would enforce the penalties, which include disbarment from the mails.

The law requires newspapers to file with the Government and publish twice each year a sworn statement showing the names of their bondholders, security holders, and the amount of the daily circulation. It also requires that each paid article shall be designated as "advertisement."

The Supreme Court has had the validity of the law under consideration for several months, but has made no decision. The court took the motion of Mr. Morris under advisement. Solicitor General Bullitt said that the Government took cognizance of the motion, but did not agree to all the statements set forth as facts in the printed statement which Mr. Morris filed with the court.

Mr. Bullitt said later that his recollection was that the Post Office Department had informally agreed not to enforce the law for a reasonable time, but that it did not specifically agree not to enforce the law until the Supreme Court had passed upon it.

Senator Accepts Offer of Assistant Secretaryship of Navy.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—State Senator Franklin D. Roosevelt of Dutchess County, N. Y., has accepted the offer of the office of Assistant Secretary of the Navy, to succeed Beekman Winthrop of New York.

Both the New York Senators, Messrs Root and O'Gorman, have acquiesced in the prospective appointment. It is thought Mr. Roosevelt's nomination will be sent to the Senate this week.

BRYAN IN THE ROLE OF THE HONEY-POT

Office Seekers Cluster About Him Like Flies, but Do Not Disturb His Serenity.

SPOILSMEN ARE DISGUSTED

"Republicans Carried Last Election," Says One—"Bill" McDonald's Qualifications.

From a Staff Correspondent of THE TIMES.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Yes, yes, there is a little bit of a crowd in the White House these days—about a hundred a minute. Also there are crowds in the anterooms of the various Cabinet offices, each member of the multitude elbowing his neighbor and looking askance, as if to say, "Who is this person?" But neither in the White House nor in any Cabinet office east of Seventeenth Street is there any such crowd as is gathered in the office of William J. Bryan, Secretary of State.

Secretary Bryan has had no chance to eat comfortably or sleep creditably or have a chance to think about the problems before the State Department. Even the surging multitude at the doors of the White House is a mere handful compared with that which swarms at the doors of the office of the Secretary of State.

The crowd is not made up altogether of office seekers, though of course they preponderate. There are many men in town who followed Mr. Bryan through his campaigns or who knew him personally, and before they leave Washington they want to call and shake hands with him. Then there is the great army of men who do not want a job in the State Department, but do want one somewhere else, and who have the idea that Mr. Bryan's voice will be potent in their behalf if they can get him to raise it. There are also those who want to get something in the State Department and know they must see the Secretary if they are to get it. These three divisions make up the mass which clogs his doorway and makes it impossible for even Senators and Representatives to see him, even such men as his old running mate, John W. Kern.

It is no wonder that he sends out dispatches indorsing Henry Lane Wilson without reading them. The wonder is that he has time to read anything whatever, or to know what he is signing. When he is not trying to receive and dispose of this hive of visitors he is running over to the White House to consult with the President, always on orders received from the Executive. The man who invented the word "busy" had never heard of William Jennings Bryan.

When the President to-day made public his warning to the Latin-American republics, to the effect that they mustn't imagine they could start anything just because there had been a change of Administration, Secretary Bryan informed the newspaper men that he had nothing to add to the statement. As a matter of fact, he had not even seen it. The President wrote it himself without consulting anybody.

Senator Tillman yesterday made a Biblical quotation with regard to the horde of office seekers. It was as follows:

"The wild asses of the desert are athirst and hungry; they have broken into the green corn."

To-day Senator Tillman came into Secretary Bryan's office and saw on one side a swarm of office seekers and on the other a crowd of newspaper men. He glanced over both groups and then turned to the Secretary with a quizzical smile.

"When I said that thing yesterday, Bryan," said he, "I didn't know that you had two herds of wild asses around here."

The Secretary grinned. Then he turned to the news gatherers and said, with a compassionate smile: "You men who come to the State Department are the most unfortunate set of newspaper men in the city." Whereat, since Mr. Bryan never gives out any news, there was business of attempted jocularity. It seemed to amuse the Secretary, for some reason, and he proceeded to rub it in by recalling something he had read in some book about a man who entered in his diary the words: "12 o'clock. Nothing has happened. 12:15. The situation is still unchanged." Many newspaper men who pride themselves on their sense of humor attempted to laugh and succeeded in coaxing up a simper.

The Secretary announced to-day that he had sent for his horse and intended to add to the beauty of Washington by cantering out into the suburbs daily. It is also understood that Major J. J. Dickinson of The New York American is to be appointed Publicity Agent for the State Department by Mr. Bryan. He and the Secretary are old friends. Harry W. Walker of New York was a candidate for the post, but did not get it.

When the Secretary was asked to-day about the President's South American statement and refused to discuss it he was reminded that it was possible to read between the lines. "Yes," said he, "newspaper men have a faculty of reading between the lines, above the lines, and below the lines, and you can do as you please."

But he kept his temper and did not seem to be disturbed by the immense rush at his doors. At one time it was so great that Eddie Savoy, the messenger, received twenty-five cards all at once. If Mr. Bryan maintains his suavity right along under such conditions he will prove that he has at least one title to fame.

⁂

John R. Burton of Brooklyn is a candidate for Ambassador to Mexico, and is backed by a bundle of telegrams that arrived here to-day from all parts of the country from as far South as Arizona, as far West as California, and as far North as Chicago, New York, and St. Louis. Among his indorsers are President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California and President David Starr Jordan of Leland Stanford. Burton, during the campaign of 1908, was on the Democratic National Committee as Assistant Secretary, and kept the wheels moving.

The deep disgust of the hungry Democratic host over the discovery that there are no offices to be had could not be better voiced than it was to-night in the utterance of one of the leading Democrats among those who took part in the management of President Wilson's campaign. A man went to him with a request to know how to get a friend into office.

"Has he passed the civil service examination?" asked the leading Democrat.

"He has not."

"Then he can't get a job," was the answer. "I have tried to get my own friends into office and I can't. Outside of three or four stenographers, the Republicans seem to have carried the last election."

⁂

When Secretary Garrison was discoursing on Porto Rico and the Philippines to-day, the veiled purport of his words seemed to be that as soon as possible the Filipinos might receive their independence. He would not make any definite statement to that effect, however, and finally somebody asked him bluntly how long it would be before that event took place.

"How long is a string?" asked the Secretary, and the conversation shifted to other subjects.

Capt. "Bill" McDonald of Texas is to have a job. Senators Culberson and Sheppard to-day agreed to recommend him for United States Marshal for the Northern District of Texas. Capt. "Bill" was one of the Texas rangers, has been shot up more times than he can count and has so many notches on his gun that he has quit notching it. He was President Wilson's bodyguard during most of the last campaign. When the Senate committee was investigating the famous Brownsville affray, it manifested some curiosity about McDonald, and Maj. Blockson of the Army, who had been sent to Brownsville to investigate it, was asked what sort of man McDonald was. "Well," said the Major, with deliberation, "McDonald is this sort of man: he would charge hell with a bucket of water."

This characterization remains on the records of the Senate and is McDonald's enduring monument.

W. F. McCombs has come to Washington again to see the President and will hold a conference with Senator O'Gorman to-morrow. Mr. McCombs would not discuss the subject of his conference, but the understanding is that he is about to give the President his final answer as to the French Embassy.

⁂

Dudley F. Malone seems to be out of it for Collector of the Port of New York, in spite of his close personal relations with President Wilson. John Purroy Mitchel, President of the Board of Aldermen in New York City, is now being prominently mentioned for the place and the President has his name under consideration.

⁂

Robert W. Woolley, who served the Stanley committee as special investigator, is considered a likely candidate for Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Woolley is regarded as one of the best bets in Washington for that sort of job.

OLNEY WANTS TO ACCEPT.

Not Health Nor Age, but Home Affairs, if Anything, Will Prevent.

BOSTON, March 11.—If Richard Olney declines the offer of the Ambassadorship to Great Britain, it will not be because of his health or his 78 years, according to Judge Thomas P. Riley, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee. After a conference with Mr. Olney late to-day, Judge Riley said:

"Mr. Olney is to consider the matter very carefully. He says his health is well enough to permit his acceptance, and he thinks all his faculties are clear enough to administer this high office. He feels honored, of course, by this offer of appointment.

"He must consider his business and home affairs, and it will be some time before he arrives at a final judgment."

PROSECUTES GAYNOR IN HIS FATHER'S NAME

that there was a "large additional audience beside the reporters" in the case at bar did not mitigate the intention to deliver the speech to the press for publication.

At the outset of his argument, Mr. Taylor objected to proceeding before a gathering of reporters. He said he was not seeking publicity, and suggested a private conference with Magistrate Kernochan. The Magistrate's insistence that he wished to take the matter under advisement without hearing him, forced Mr. Taylor to make his public argument. When he concluded, Magistrate Kernochan said he had not yet been convinced, and fixed Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at 300 Mulberry Street for another hearing.

Ralph Pulitzer gave out this statement last night:

"The complaint which I have filed charging Mr. Gaynor with criminal libel is based upon his published assertion that my father, the late Joseph Pulitzer, had amassed a fortune of $50,000,000 by blackmail and indecency.

"I wish to emphasize the fact that I have not initiated this proceeding because of any libel of which Mr. Gaynor may have been guilty, either against me or against The New York World, and that The World is in no way whatsoever connected with this case.

"The World is entirely indifferent to any libel which Mr. Gaynor may have uttered against it, and I am equally indifferent to any libel which he may have uttered against me. But I cannot stand by and have Mr. Gaynor wantonly accuse my dead father of having been a blackmailer without doing all in my power to defend his memory and secure the punishment of his libeler.

"I consider the present to be the proper time to open this proceeding. Had it been opened sooner it might have been confused in some minds with the recent subway controversy and might have complicated the very important public questions connected with that controversy.

"At the present time, when the subway controversy is practically settled, this proceeding cannot be mistaken for anything but a clean-cut case standing on its own merits—an attempt on my part to secure the conviction and punishment of Mr. Gaynor for criminal libel in accusing my dead father of having been a blackmailer.

"It has been my desire to avoid any publicity in this case save that which would necessarily attend the customary public court proceedings, but through no fault of my own the facts must become public before these proceedings have been reached.

"Finally, I may add that after the amazing experience through which I have been in the past few days in trying to find an unsubservient Magistrate to administer justice, I am determined not to be balked by any legal quibble or technicality, but if necessary to go to the highest court competent to take cognizance of this crime of defaming the dead."

GOMEZ WILL ADVISE MODIFIED AMNESTY

He Will Lay This Country's Objections Before Congress and Urge Changes.

VETO UNLESS THIS IS DONE

Washington Is Closely Watching Events, Questioning Whether Gomez's Veto Would Now Be Valid.

HAVANA, March 11.—President Gomez will probably send a message to Congress to-morrow, defining precisely the objections which the American Government has to the General Amnesty bill. This massage will be based on a report from Señor Martin-Rivero, Cuban Minister at Washington, which it is expected will be received here to-night. In the meantime it is announced on the best of authority that the President will retain the bill and will veto it within three days unless Congress consents to modify it in accordance with the suggestions of the President.

A conference between President Gomez and leading members of Congress was held this afternoon, but no definite understanding was reached except that the President decided to await further advices from the Cuban Minister relative to the attitude of the Wilson Administration. The message which he will send to Congress, it is stated, will urge modification of the first and second sections of the bill. The second section grants amnesty to defaulting public officials.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The announcement by President Gomez of Cuba that he had vetoed, or would veto, the Amnesty bill, which two days previously he had signed in the face of a protest from Secretary Bryan, has not satisfied this Government. The Constitution of Cuba prescribes with care the procedure to be followed in the approval of a bill that has passed both houses of the Congress, and it is a question whether the President may sign a bill and then veto it.

Even if Gomez vetoes the bill, Congress may pass it over his veto. While this Government can properly protest to the President of Cuba against signing such an obnoxious piece of legislation, a protest to Congress, it is thought here, would be out of place.

Even if the Cuban Congress should not pass the Amnesty bill over Gomez's veto, there remains a question whether the matter could not be taken to the Cuban Supreme Court on the record as it stands. The President signed the bill. Can he unsign it? is asked here. Many persons think the Supreme Court of Cuba would hold that the Amnesty bill became a law when Gomez signed it last Thursday.

Mr. Beaupre, the American Minister, has been directed to watch the course of events and advise the State Department of every step taken by President Gomez or the Cuban Congress. He has also been asked to note the issue of pardons by President Gomez, who has authority to grant pardons for all manner of offences, except those against the Administration of the Government.

The Amnesty bill would have liberated more than 3,000 convicts. Probably the number of grafters for whom the Amnesty bill was especially proposed does not exceed a few hundred. Congress alone has the power to pardon offences involving the administration of Government affairs, and it was to take care of these latter crimes that the Amnesty law was designed. Should the bill finally die, it is thought here that the same result of pardons for Government offenders will be sought by a joint resolution validating pardons that otherwise would be illegal.

The United States is responsible under treaty agreements and the Platt amendment for the credit of Cuba, and the concessions granted by the Gomez Government aggregate many millions. The subvention to the railroad line in which President Gomez himself is interested is thought to amount to $45,000,000. The concession to the Compania De La Puertas De Cuba for the improvement of the ports of Cuba is estimated to amount to from $75,000,000 to $125,000,000. There have been innumerable concessions of lesser importance, and it is doubtful if these can be uncovered until the Gomez administration is out and the new Menocal administration has had opportunity to investigate the condition of affairs.

OUTCUBING THE CUBISTS.

Architects Have Gay Night of Burlesque at Smoker.

Eminent architects burlesqued futurists, cubists, and post-impressionists at a meeting of the Architectural League held in the Fine Arts Building last night, and for four hours they proceeded to manufacture advanced art that reproduced their ideas of what they have been seeing at the international exhibition at the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory.

Nobody could tell what it was the architects, who dressed themselves in the gowns of painters and sculptors, were producing, for they worked three men to a canvas. They they finished their dizzy productions Arnold W. Brunner passed before the post-impressionist art creations with a lantern and hung the lantern on the best.

This prize picture, it turned out, was by a team of artists representing the "Post-Impressionist School," or the "School that Is to Come After." It was labeled "Fifth Avenue at 3 A. M.," and looked like a Salome dance in an insane asylum.

The architects not only produced advanced forms of painting, but they also invaded the field of music and created some Futurist sonatas. They were played while the body of a dead Post-Impressionist was brought in for dissection.

"Here lies the dead" commented Mr. Brunner. "I would be the head of this funeral march, but we Futurists, Cubists, Cubists have no head. When we were made good clay was hard to get, so the gods they used a pumpkin. A candle was put inside and we became illuminated.

"We are a whole skating rink of imagination. We Futurists are a band who will be grand in the future and are no good now. If you grasp this fact you grasp the whole thing. If anything is any good whatever now it is not Futurism."

Seth Low, Cass Gilbert, and the doorman of the Fine Arts Building acted as a Judges' Committee on art objects in the Cubist and Futurist style. Whenever the found a painting the meaning of which they could not even guess they gave it a prize.

Besides the burlesque the architects indulged in a smoker and buffet dinner, at which it was privately admitted that, after all, a good deal of good work has been shown at the exhibit which furnished the evening's fun.

MURTHA SUSPENDED ON WREN'S STORY

Whitman Plans to Indict Three Accused ex-Inspectors Early Next Week.

HARTIGAN TRIAL TO-MORROW

Another Harlem Hotelkeeper Tells of Graft Paying—Mrs. Hertz Continues Her Confession.

Samuel Levy, manager of the Glen Court Hotel in West 116th Street, took up the tale before the Grand Jury yesterday of the payment of graft to the police in Harlem. His testimony will probably be made the basis of one or more indictments to be added to the list of thirteen now standing against Capt. Dennis Sweeney, formerly inspector.

Levy was the only witness to appear before the Grand Jury, although half a dozen women who have kept disorderly resorts were questioned by Assistant District Attorney Smith, and added to the volume of testimony of police graft. The resorts conducted by these women were located between West Thirtieth Street and West Fiftieth Street, a section which has not been thoroughly covered by previous investigations of the District Attorney. The stories of these women involved an Inspector, whose name has not so far been mentioned in the graft revelations.

Levy made a good witness before the Grand Jury, and his story set in a stronger light than any which has yet been told the rapacity of the police grafters. Levy said that he opened his hotel in October, 1910. He conducted a respectable place, he said, and was careful to avoid violating the law in any respect. Levy was a free man until June, 1911, when the district was placed under Sweeney. Then, according to Levy, Sergt. Duffy, personal collector for Sweeney, paid him a call and instructed him that he must contribute $75 a month. Levy insisted that he was abiding by the law in every respect, and that he had no need for police protection.

Levy Refused to Pay.

Levy refused to give in. The following day his clerk was arrested on the charge of conducting a disorderly resort. The morning after the arrest Duffy, Levy said, returned for a second interview. He pointed out that the case against the clerk was not very strong, and that if the contribution of $75 a month were forthcoming the charge would be dropped in the Magistrate's Court and there would be no further trouble for the hotel.

So Levy came to the conclusion that he had to pay. He paid for twenty months. His last $75, he said, was given to Duffy on Jan. 6.

In the course of his story Levy was questioned by several Grand Jurors. One asked him how he accounted for the conduct of Sweeney in demanding graft after the two previous Inspectors had let him alone.

"I don't know," replied Levy. "I suppose when they found graft so easy to get from unlawful places that they grew money-mad and wanted graft from anybody they could frame up."

Mrs. Annie Grey, the retired disorderly resort keeper, who was expected to be the star witness before the Grand Jury, did not appear yesterday. She sent word that she was ill and would appear later. If necessary there is sufficient evidence to indict Mrs. Grey and bring her back to this city by means of a bench warrant, but the District Attorney is satisfied that she will come later without making such measures necessary.

Mrs. Grey is 65 years old. She was a keeper of disorderly houses for forty years and accumulated a large fortune. It is said that if she would begin at the beginning she could tell of the existence of graft among New York policemen for nearly half a century. The District Attorney knows enough of her more recent history to believe that her testimony will lead to the indictment of at least two ex-Inspectors.

Mrs. Hertz Tells More.

Mrs. Rosie Hertz, who was convicted some weeks ago of having rented premises for disorderly purposes, gave the second part of her confession to Assistant District Attorney C. C. Nott yesterday. Although her talk lasted for several hours, her story is not yet complete. The new facts she furnished involve three policemen who have not yet been named in the graft inquiry. Two are Lieutenants and one a patrolman. All three, District Attorney Whitman said last night, would unquestionably be indicted through the information obtained from Mrs. Hertz.

Mrs. Hertz talked to Mr. Nott of the old days when gamblers, disorderly resort keepers, and other protected lawbreakers walked into the police stations at the first of every month and laid down their offerings of graft on the Lieutenant's desk.

The free-and-easy system, however, was done away with a long time ago, and of recent years Mrs. Hertz said she had never dealt with a police official directly, the collectors being patrolmen or civilians. She also gave the District Attorney figures on the difference in the price of police protection, as it varied according to neighborhood and the number of inmates of a resort.

The first result of the confession of Ex-Policeman J. E. Wren was the reduction yesterday of Inspector J. J. Murtha to the rank of captain, and his suspension by Commissioner Waldo. Mr. Waldo acted immediately upon receipt of a letter from an Assistant District Attorney saying that Wren's story would undoubtedly cause the indictment of Murtha. Facing punishment for contempt, if he refused to talk, Wren on Monday told the Grand Jury that he collected for six years in the Sixth Inspection District in behalf of Inspectors Sweeney, Hussey, Thompson and Murtha.

Expects Murtha's Indictment.

Wren's statement was so complete that Mr. Whitman does not anticipate much trouble in gathering up sufficient corroborative evidence to make a strong case against Murtha and an indictment, he says, will probably be returned by the Grand Jury early next week. Mr. Whitman also expects indictments against Hussey and Thompson at the same time. The District Attorney could act more rapidly, but during the last few days new evidence has come to him in such a flood that it requires time to sort and prepare it for the Grand Jury.

The history of ex-Policeman Wren's details during the last six years throws an interesting light on his confession. Though he was changed about frequently in this period, Wren in a mysterious way, always gravitated toward the Sixth Inspection District. On May 21, 1907, he was placed in the Inspector's office in that district. On June 24, 1908, he was transferred to the Seventh Inspection District. He remained there only three months, however, when he got back once more to the Sixth District. This time he remained for a stretch of nearly two years in this rich field, where he was found useful as the personal graft collector. On June 22, 1910, he was sent to the Forty-third Precinct. But this exile lasted only eight days, when he was returned to the Sixth. This time he remained there until Nov. 10, 1910, when, falling under suspicion at Headquarters, he was transferred to the One Hundred and Seventy-fourth Precinct in Brooklyn, known as Flatlands. Here Policeman Wren discovered that his eyesight was failing, and on Dec. 26, 1912, he was retired.

The Sullivan Letter.

District Attorney Whitman has begun an investigation of the story of Mrs. Rosie Hertz that she had paid money to Jacob Reich, or "Jack Sullivan," upon his promise to obtain her release from prison through influence with the District Attorney and with the Supreme Court. Mrs. Hertz showed on Monday a letter, written in Hebrew, which she said had been sent her by Reich, promising that his political connections would free her if she would be patient. Herman Reich, a brother of the man in the Tombs, said yesterday that the internal evidence proved that the letter was not from Jacob. Jacob Reich, according to his brother, came to this country at the age of 6 years and never learned to write Yiddish.

Mr. Whitman has recently received new evidence which makes him hopeful that he may be able to land several of the biggest grafters in the Police Department in the meshes of a single case. Inspectors Murtha, Hussey, Thompson, Sweeney, and others are alleged to have agreed to contribute to a fund of $50,000 to induce Policeman Fox to leave the country when he first came to light as a collector in the Sixth Inspection District through the revelations of Sipp. The men involved in Fox's disclosures realized that a confession from Fox would throw a searchlight on the whole system of police graft, and that if he could be got out of the way the District Attorney would have little chance to pursue his inquiry with success. It was a position which required that all the grafters in the department should stand together, and District Attorney Whitman now has evidence which indicates that the fund to purchase the disappearance of Fox was subscribed to by most of the corrupt police officials.

Waldo Acts on Walsh Attack.

Police Commissioner Waldo is making an investigation of the treatment accorded to Capt. Thomas W. Walsh, when he went to the Far Rockaway police station Monday morning to ask Capt. George S. Walden why his benefit dues had been returned to him. Walsh was reviled by policemen in the station, and called a "squealer." It was learned yesterday that Capt. Walsh had been listed for expulsion from the association, and that his case would be acted upon at the next meeting of the Board of Trustees. The Chairman of the present Board of Trustees is Capt. Murtha. The other members of the board are Capt. Walsh himself, Capts. Thomas Cullen, William Hogan, and Bernard J. Hayes. The Treasurer of the association, according to its list of officers, is Capt. Sweeney.

The trial of Policeman Hartigan for bribery is set for to-morrow in the Supreme Court. Hartigan is accused of carrying a bribe of $1,200 from Sweeney and Walsh, which was used to induce George A. Sipp to leave the city.

Deputy Commissioner Newberger said yesterday that he had obtained important testimony regarding police graft from a woman who kept a disorderly house in the upper tenderloin. Commissioner Newberger, however, has not been able to obtain corroboration of the story by his own endeavors, and said that he would give what facts he had to the District Attorney.

CURRAN REPORT ADOPTED.

But President Mitchel Objects to Eight-Year Police Head.

The Board of Aldermen yesterday by a vote of 63 to 1 adopted the preliminary legislative report of the Curran Aldermanic Committee and ordered it forwarded to the State Legislature. The minority members of the committee had signed the report, so that it passed with practically no opposition, the one vote registered against it being that of Alderman Walsh, a Democrat. Frank J. Dowling, the minority leader, and Harry Folks, the majority leader, both spoke in favor of the report. President Mitchel said:

"While I approve of the report as a whole, there is one suggestion in it which I object to. That is the provision for an eight-year term for the Police Commissioner. I believe it ought to be four years."

"I am sorry that I am not as bright as the Aldermen who have stated that they understand the report," said Mr. Dowling. "I am still of the same opinion I was before. I object to the part of the report which gives the Governor the power to remove the Police Commissioner, and also to the eight-year term."

RUTH ST. DENIS APPLAUDED.

Dancer Exhibits Her Art in Pictorial Hindu and Japanese Plays.

Ruth St. Denis appeared last night at the Fulton Theatre in two new dance-plays, characteristic of her method, in Hindu and Japanese setting, respectively. They were full of color and pictorial effect, gave the dancer opportunity to exhibit diversified forms of her work, and in their detail provided an atmosphere usually described as "artistic." There was a large audience, and it was always appreciative, sometimes enthusiastic

The first play concerned the story of Bakawali, the favorite dancer in the heavenly court of Indra, who falls in love with a mortal. The god summons her before him, and as she leaves her earthly lover he clings to her celestial chariot and is carried into the sky. Having faced Indra's wrath, Bakawali discovers her lover there. She obtains their liberty to depart from on high by dancing, but Indra decrees that for twelve years she shall be of stone from her waist to her feet. The last of the three scenes of the play show her recovery to full life after twelve years, during which her lover has waited with her in the forest.

In "O-Mika," Miss St. Denis portrayed a Japanese courtesan, famed for her beauty and her dancing. A venerable priest is told in a dream that if he goes to her abode, he will see a vision of the deity, Fugen Bosatsu. The second scene shows a street in a Japanese town where two Samurai are arguing as to which has her favor. She comes by, attended by her women, and they go to her home. After some dancing for the pair by O-Miga, the aged priest arrives unnoticed by her. She is about to make known her favorite suitor by the proffer of a bowl of saki, when she see the priest. Her outer robes, symbols of her life, fall away from her and she is revealed to the priest as the living presence of the deity, Fugen Bosatsu.

Both plays abounded in effects pleasing to the eye. Miss St. Denis proved an interesting figure whenever she was seen, which was practically all the time she was not changing her costume for her next dance. Both her dancing and her pantomime were liked by the audience. She was enthusiastically applauded for her "Jewel Dance Before the God of Heaven," which was full of life and motion.

In her Japanese play several native comedians were much in evidence, long dialogues in Japanese filling in the gaps. This fact was fortunate for the production as there were several painful stage waits that had to be bridged over, as well as one piece of bad stage management with the lights that brought the performance temporarily to a halt.

The music for the Hindu piece was written by Arthur Nevin and that for "O-Mika" by Robert H. Bowers. The orchestra, under the direction of the latter, had its share in the reception of the entertainment.

MUSICAL ART CHOIR SINGS.

Gives a Noble Performance, Assisted by Symphony Orchestra.

The Musical Art Society, conducted by Frank Damrosch and assisted by members of the New York Symphony Orchestra, gave the second concert of its twentieth season last evening in Carnegie Hall. The orchestra assisted in two numbers, Brahms "Schicksalslied" and Elgar's "Spanish Serenade." The orchestral accompaniment in "The Song of Destiny" is most important, for, as the programme notes informed the auditors, the orchestra goes further than the original poem, which deplores the fate of mortals. After the singers are finished the orchestra "lifts up its voice and speaks comfort, hope, and surcease of suffering in the beyond. It is Christian hope grafted upon pagan fatalism."

This work had the place of honor on the programme and received a noble performance by the choir of the society and orchestra.

The programme began with a performance of Palestrina's beautiful "Stabat Mater," and the entire first part was devoted to religious music. This included a motet, "Tenebrae Factae Sunt," by Michael Haydn, a brother of Josef, the symphonist; a motet of Nanini, "Haec Dies"; a motet of Corsi, "Adoramus Te," and Bach's motet, "Sing Ye to the Lord." This last, with its elaborate choral polyphony and its involved fugues, served to show what brilliant work the society could do. The audience, a large one, by the way, was not slow to show hearty appreciation.

"The Song of Destiny" occupied the second part of the programme. The third part was devoted to secular songs, "Der Tod, das ist die kühle Nacht," by Cornelius; three Welsh folk songs, "The Bells of Aberdovey," "All the Day," and "Men of Harlech," arranged by Max Bruch; Leslie's "Thine Eyes So Bright," and Elgar's "Spanish Serenade."

The Welsh folk songs are familiar to those who know something of this branch of music. In their original and more naive forms they are included in collections. Leslie's madrigal was presented by the society at its first concert on March 3, 1894, and doubtless was repeated on this occasion for sentimental reasons. Elgar's "Spanish Serenade," with two other part songs, was added to the repertoire of the society ten years later, in 1904.

FRIEDMANN TREATS 56 MONTREAL CASES

Hundreds of Other Tuberculosis Victims Have to be Turned Away.

RECEIVES WARM WELCOME

Many Eminent Physicians Greet the German Visitor—To Take Up Cases in Ottawa To-day.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, March 11.—Dr. F. F. Friedmann had a busy time here to-day demonstrating his treatment for tuberculosis in the presence of a large gathering of physicians. The vaccine was administered to fifty-six patients.

Col. Burland, the founder of the Royal Edward Institute for Tuberculosis; Dr. Adama, Dean of the Medical Faculty at McGill University, and others, met him on his arrival this morning and took him to the Ritz-Carlton Hotel to breakfast. Thence he proceeded to the laboratory of McGill University, which had been placed at his disposal by the university Faculty, and there prepared his vaccine.

His arrival at the Royal Edward Institue was witnessed by a large crowd. He was received by more than sixty of the most eminent medical men in the Dominion, who extended a warm welcome to him. His manner favorably impressed all who saw him, and his quiet confidence disarmed criticism. Seventy patients suffering from tuberculosis in all stages had been selected by the medical authorities, and from these Dr. Friedmann chose the ones to be treated.

"My first step in Montreal," Dr. Friedmann said, "will be to treat cases of visible tuberculosis in the presence of physicians, and thereby accomplish the double purpose of instructing them and proving the efficacy of the use of live germs in tuberculosis. What I mean by visible tuberculosis is fungi on the knee for instance—visible to the eye. Instead of amputating the leg, I will save it. One or two injections are so effective that even in a few weeks astonishing results are obtained."

In reply to the criticism that he had kept the remedy a secret, Dr. Friedmann said:

"I was compelled to do it until I could find a man who would look after my own private patients while I was away. Now that I have found one I have placed the remedy in the hands of Prof. Ehrlich, head of the Government Institution at Frankfort-on-Main, so that he can proceed with the work of investigation. I have treated about eighteen hundred cases and have never had a failure."

Four girls, two women, and one man were in the first group treated with the serum, the whole operation occupying exactly half an hour. The first girl Dr. Friedmann treated was suffering from tuberculosis in the glands of the throat. All the cases were of rather advanced types, and Dr. Friedmann left definite instructions as to their treatment in the future. Later Dr. Friedmann treated the other 49 patients, similarly selected, among them a girl of 16, whose parents had died from tuberculosis. She had traveled 126 miles to receive the treatment.

After the clinic several of the leading medical men congratulated Dr. Friedmann, and expressed themselves as profoundly impressed by his thoroughness and obvious desire to prove the worth of his serum. The physicians manifested the utmost cordiality toward the visitor.

While the clinic was in progress hundreds of sufferers gathered outside the building and pleaded for treatment. Many of them had come long distances in the hope that they might receive the benefit of the vaccine. They were all turned away.

Dr. Friedmann started this evening for Ottawa, where he will treat thirty or more patients to-morrow.

Prof. Adami, one of those who greeted Dr. Friedmann to-day, is recognized on both sides of the Atlantic as one of the greatest authorities on tuberculosis. Prof. Adami presided at the International Tuberculosis Congress in Washington in 1908. He was appointed a Royal Commissioner to investigate the spread of tuberculosis in 1909 and was elected President of the Association of American Physicians two years later. He previously had declined to accept the chair of pathology at Cornell University in 1898. He also refused to accept a similar post at Cambridge University in 1899.

He now is President of the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis.

SOUGHT FRIEDMANN IN VAIN.

Victim of Tuberculosis Who Came from Denver Dies in Hoboken.

Jacob Heideker, 28 years old, who traveled from his home in Denver to New York to be treated by Dr. Friedrich F. Friedmann, died yesterday at 128 Garden Street, Hoboken, after failing to get an audience with the German specialist. On Monday night Heideker engaged a room in the lodging house of Mrs. Annie Grassman of 128 Garden Street. Because of a relapse he had in the night, arrangements had been made to send him to St. Mary's Hospital. When the ambulance arrived to take him there he was found dead. Among his effects was found a letter addressed to a sister, Mrs. Anna Heigler, 1,003 Winston Avenue, Washington Heights, Chicago. The police have notified the Chicago authorities.

Government Test Begun.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Government tests of Dr. Friedmann's tuberculosis vaccine were begun here to-day in the hygiene laboratory. Director John F. Anderson, chairman of the board appointed by Surgeon General Blue of the Public Health Service to investigate the new remedy, returned to-day with cultures placed at the Government's disposal by Dr. Friedmann, and tests upon animals and other culture media were at once begun.

FUSIONISTS TO MEET TO-DAY.

Committee of One Hundred to be Formed to Fight Tammany.

The first serious attempt to line up fusion forces to fight Tammany at the coming municipal election will be made to-day, when a committee of twenty-five citizens will meet to plan a campaign. This committee will organize another of 100 citizens, similar to the Committee of One Hundred which took part in the last city campaign. It will consist of Republicans and Progressives, and meetings will be held at which available candidates to oppose Tammany will be discussed.

The Committee of Twenty-five is self-appointed, and among the members are Joseph H. Choate, Amos Pinchot, Charles L. Bernheimer, Otto T. Bannard, and Charles H. Strong, President of the City Club. The membership of the Committee of One Hundred will be announced at to-day's meeting. Republicans and Progressives will have an equal showing, and it is expected that a candidate for Mayor will be selected who will owe no particular allegiance to either party, but who will represent all the forces opposed to Tammany rule.

Col. Roosevelt is in favor of such a plan, and it was said yesterday that if a candidate acceptable to him was nominated, he would take part in the campaign. Friends of the Colonel said yesterday that he had no particular person in mind. The statement that he favored District Attorney Whitman was denied.

Associates to Honor Dr. McKelway.

Arrangements have been completed for a birthday reception to be tendered to Dr. St. Clair McKelway by his associates on The Brooklyn Eagle. The reception will take place in the Heights Casino, on Montague Street, on Thursday evening, and will be attended by over 400 of Dr. McKelway's past and present associates on the paper. Although the reception was planned primarily as a birthday party, it will afford many of Dr. McKelway's former associates their first opportunity to congratulate him upon his recent elevation to the position of Chancellor of the University of the State of New York.

SUCCESS OF LAND BANKS.

Enormous Sums Handled by German Credit Institutions.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 11.—The success of the credit land banks of Germany and their great service to agriculture are described in a report to the Board of Agriculture by J. R. Cahill, issued as a Blue Book.

There are in Germany 17,000 agricultural co-operative banks, with a total membership of over 1,500,000. In 1910, the total turnover of 14,729 such banks amounted to $1,308,325,000. At the end of that year the loans outstanding for fixed periods, together with overdrafts, amounted to $465,170,000, while the savings deposits totaled $462,145,000, and the deposits on current account $54,325,000.

The success and sound management of these societies were evidenced by the fact that in the sixteen years 1895 to 1910 only nineteen rural credit societies were involved in bankruptcy.

PUZZLE IN MARRIAGE NOTICE.

It Tells of Union 16 Years Ago of Frank Hammond and Isabella Franchi.

The announcement in the current number of a Freeport (L. I.) weekly newspaper of a marriage that took place sixteen years ago has caused a flutter of excitement among residents of that place who are friends of the persons mentioned in the notice. The announcement reads:

> The lawful ecclesiastical ceremony on Dec. 27, 1897, uniting in bonds of matrimony Isabella Avelline Franchi, daughter of the late Giovanni Franchi, and Frank Eugene Hammond, son of Dr. George Hollis Hammond, deceased, who, until the Fall of 1899, was a resident of Freeport, N. Y., is still in force. Dr. Frank Hammond on no occasion has borne any part of the expense of his wife's maintenance, pleasure, or education. Until further notice please communicate by mail only, preferably by registered letter.
> In care of Franchi, 21 Macdougal Street, New York City.

Similar notices were printed in Long Island newspapers four years ago. Until the first announcement little was known of Dr. Hammond's private life. He had been away at a college of dentistry, coming home infrequently until the death of his father in 1902.

Dr. Frank Hammond is supposed to be in Brazil, according to his brother, Dr. Albert H. Hammond, who lives with his mother on the Merrick Road, Freeport. Dr. Albert Hammond said yesterday that he did not know the reason for the announcement.

"It appears as if it were made in the hope of finding Frank or money left by his father," said the missing dentist's mother yesterday. "I cannot discuss the matter, for I do not know enough about it."

Giovanni Franchi left an estate said to be worth several millions of dollars, of which his daughter, Mrs. Hammond, inherited a considerable portion. One reason for keeping the marriage a secret so long is said to have been because there was parental objection on both sides.

HUNTINGTON ON SAVING.

Don't Increase Outgo with Income, Says Retiring Financier.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—Henry E. Huntington, who at the age of 63, is retiring from business as rapidly as possible, but whose fortune of $40,000,000 or $50,000,000 will keep right on working for him, said to-day that the habit of saving paved the road to wealth. Mr. Huntington will leave Los Angeles to-morrow morning for New York, and plans to sail soon for his first trip to Europe. He has been busy here retiring from business, and he will keep at it in New York until he starts abroad.

Mr. Huntington believes that this is an age of great opportunity for young men, and this is his recipe for success:

"Save a little every week, and when you get an increase of wages or salary continue to live within the former limits and save the increase.

"If you find it difficult to save go in debt for a home or undertake some other obligation in the way of investment that will compel you to save.

"In these days, of course, the average man has better opportunities to win success in salaried positions than in individual enterprises. The big enterprises pay big salaries at the top, and close application will win promotion toward these bigger rewards. It is not necessary for a man to get a big salary before he begins to put money aside and start it working for him."

FEARS GRAFT, VETOES BILL.

Mayor Refuses Approval to Jewish Holiday Sales Measure.

Mayor Gaynor vetoed yesterday a resolution of the Board of Aldermen regarding the sale of wares on Jewish holidays. The veto read:

> City of New York,
> Office of the Mayor, March 11, 1913.
>
> To the Honorable Board of Aldermen:
>
> I return without my approval your "resolution for sale of wares during the Jewish holidays."
>
> This resolution has been passed and permitted for several years, but it causes much obstruction and annoyance on the streets, and it seems to me the time has arrived to discontinue it. I see no reason why such a resolution should be allowed to take effect. Moreover, it is probably illegal. We have no power by resolution to permit the streets of the city to be obstructed. Moreover, the people to whom these permits are given are generally made the victims of persons who levy graft on them therefor. Many of these permits in the past have been paid for, and I suppose that custom would continue. This graft is usually collected by persons calling themselves political Captains in the districts. Evidence of the ordinary permits for newsstands and the like being thus bought and paid for is constantly accumulating in the Mayor's office. Very truly yours,
>
> W. J. GAYNOR, Mayor.

The resolution was referred back to the Committee on Laws and Legislation.

CARUSO CONSPIRATOR GUILTY

Cincotto, Who Demanded $15,000 from Tenor, Surprised at Verdict.

Antonio Cincotto, who has been on trial for four days before Judge Fawcett and a jury in the County Court, Brooklyn, on an indictment charging him with attempting to extort $15,000 from Enrico Caruso, the singer, was convicted yesterday afternoon. The jury was out six hours. Cincotto appeared surprised at the verdict. Judge Fawcett thanked the jury for the verdict, and, turning to the prisoner, said:

"If the jurors had known as much about your past as I do they would not have taken so much time in reaching the conclusion that you are guilty."

Cincotto was then remanded to the Raymond Street Jail for sentence on Monday. He is one of two Italians arrested on March 4, 1910, accused of sending blackmailing letters to Caruso in an attempt to extort money from the singer. Antonio Misiano, the other prisoner, has been tried and convicted, but is now a fugitive from justice. He was released in $10,000 bail, pending appeal.

OPPOSE LOWERING THIRTY-FOURTH ST.

Property Owners Allege Change in Grade Would Pave the Way for a Moving Platform.

PENNSYLVANIA BACK OF IT

Railroad Seeks to Tap City Transit Lines, It Is Said—Opposing Interests Form a Corporation.

Owners of property in the vicinity of Thirty-fourth Street, including the department stores, are preparing to fight the proposed change of grade at Thirty-fourth Street and Fourth Avenue. A public hearing on this measure will be held to-morrow by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. Lowering the grade is opposed not only because of the damage to abutting property involved, but because the change of grade is believed to be only the opening wedge toward allowing a moving platform to be built under Thirty-fourth Street.

A certificate of incorporation was filed with the Secretary of State and with the County Clerk of New York for the Thirty-fourth Street Protective Association, which was approved by Supreme Court Justice Vernon M. Davis. The incorporators were Charles D. Wetmore of Warren & Wetmore, architects of the new Grand Central Station; Percy S. Straus of R. H. Macy & Co., Ernest Stauffen, Jr., of Lord & Taylor; Thomas M. Hilliard, proprietor of the Hotel Vanderbilt; Robert Bacon, ex-Ambassador to France; Temple Bowdoin, and George R. Sheldon. The association is said to represent more than $90,000,000 worth of taxable property.

The certificate of incorporation gives these as the objects of the association:

> To oppose by all legal means the proposal to change the grade of said Thirty-fourth Street as at present contemplated; to oppose all proposals to use the street for other than strictly street purposes, and to enforce all laws and ordinances to prevent the encumbrance of the street or its use for private purposes or in any way detrimental to the interests of the owners of property on the street or to the public.

It was learned yesterday that a petition protesting against the proposed change in grade had been addressed to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, signed by J. P. Morgan, Judge F. M. Scott, George F. Baker, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Edward Sheldon, Eugene S. Willard, as trustee; Winthrop Chanler, individually and as trustee; Oppenheim, Collins & Co., Saks & Co., R. H. Macy & Co.; James McCreery & Co., B. Altman & Co., Alfred Vanderbilt, by H. B. Anderson, attorney; George L. Ingraham, J. Sargent Cram, individually and as trustee; George F. Butterworth, Charles A. Peabody, George C. Boldt, proprietor of the Waldorf-Astoria; Robert Bacon, Temple Bowdoin, Thomas M. Hilliard, proprietor of the Hotel Vanderbilt; Whitney Warren, G. S. Nichols, Ira M. Place, Frederick Sturges, and other owners of property in the vicinity or taxpayers of the borough.

The petition enumerated the following reasons for protesting against the proposed change of grade:

> There is no evidence of any public necessity or demand for the proposed change.
>
> It will create congestion of traffic where none exists.
>
> The actual cost of the change and the resulting damage to existing buildings will far exceed the estimate of $500,000 and no corresponding benefit will result.
>
> High-class property will be taxed for the benefit of low class property.
>
> It is essentially absurd, after providing for an overhead crossing at Forty-second Street and Park Avenue, to deliberately construct a grade crossing at Thirty-fourth Street and Park Avenue, thereby impeding all north and south bound traffic.
> If greater facilities for traffic are needed at this point, the proposed plan is both inadequate and extravagant.

The Broadway Association has joined forces with the Thirty-fourth Street Protective Association and with the individual property owners who would be affected, in fighting the proposed change, because the Broadway Association is convinced that the change of grade would be only preliminary to the building of a moving platform under Thirty-fourth Street.

At a joint meeting of representatives of nearby property owners and representatives of the Broadway Association, held yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Vanderbilt, Mr. Wetmore told why the various interests affected are fighting the proposed change in grade.

One reason, he said, was because of the damage to abutting property, which he estimated at $2,800,000, and which, he said, would either have to be borne by the property owners of the neighborhood or would have to be paid for by the city. The physical cost alone of the regrading he estimated at $300,000. Owners of buildings, he said, objected seriously to having them stand on stilts six feet high.

Again, many of the property owners and department stores are convinced that the lowering of the grade would be only the opening wedge for a moving platform across Thirty-fourth Street.

The property owners assert that the moving platform would ruin the Murray Hill district for residences, because the lowering of the grade and the moving platform would tend to bring business into that section. Another argument was that stores on and in the vicinity of Thirty-fourth Street would suffer, because the crowds would be kept off the street.

The final argument against the change of grade, with the moving platform, was that if the moving platform was built through Thirty-fourth Street close to the street level, it would seriously interfere with the Thirty-fourth Street subway station.

It was intimated yesterday that the Pennsylvania Railroad was behind the proposal to lower the grade at Thirty-fourth Street and Park Avenue as a preliminary step to the moving platform, which, it was said, the railroad keenly desired, as it would tap all north and south bound lines of traffic and thus afford transit facilities to and from the new Pennsylvania station.

Those known to be in favor of lowering the grade were E. P. Ripley, President of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé Railroad, and Stuyvesant Fish, both of whom are said to be interested in the Continuous Transit Securities Company; Samuel Rea, President of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Capt. Max Schmidt, who invented the moving platform; Borough President George M. McAneny; Frank H. Dodd of Dodd, Mead & Co., and Edward M. Grout, counsel for the Continuous Transit Securities Company.

ACCUSES BUILDERS OF WRECKING HOME

E. B. Kinney Asks Court to Enjoin T. J. McLaughlin's Sons from Doing Further Damage.

HAD REFUSED TO SELL LEASE

Then Holes Were Punched in His Chimney and Walls, He Avers, and His Yard Undermined.

Edward B. Kinney, who was choirmaster of St. George's Church under the Rev. Dr. Rainsford and now has a studio at his home, 780 West End Avenue, applied yesterday in the Supreme Court to Justice Davis for an injunction to restrain T. J. McLaughlin's Sons from doing further damage to his residence. As a result of building operations on the adjoining property, it is alleged, a hole has been cut in Mr. Kinney's chimney, which prevents him from using his kitchen range. Five large holes have been driven through the lower wall on one side of his house on the excuse of "underpinning," and the greater part of his yard has been cut away.

Mr. Kinney's wife appealed yesterday to Borough President McAneny to investigate the use made of the permit granted by the Building Department to the builders to underpin or shore up the house. She is convinced that the permit has been abused, and that if it was necessary to underpin the house at all, it was quite unreasonable to cut holes about two feet by three through the outer wall to admit supports which are very much smaller.

Mr. Kinney took the house on a two-year lease from Oct. 1, 1913. T. J. McLaughlin's Sons bought the house, which stands at the corner of West End Avenue and Ninety-eighth Street, as well as two or three of the adjoining houses in West End Avenue, in order to put up a large apartment house. The firm wanted Mr. Kinney to move last Autumn, but as he had just established a connection in the neighborhood and had advertised widely for pupils for this Winter he refused to give up his lease.

Building operations began on Jan. 2. Thomas G. Wallace of 938 West End Avenue, the contractor employed by T. J. McLaughlin's Sons to demolish the adjoining houses, in a remarkable affidavit filed with Mr. Kinney's complaint, makes the charge that instructions were given that as much noise as possible was to be made in the work. Moreover, Mr. Wallace states that he was ordered to pull down the chimney breasts of Mr. Kinney's house, and that he was present when some of his men, under instructions, dropped bricks and rubbish down the chimney of 780 West End Avenue.

Mr. Kinney, to repair the damage done to his chimney, sent for Arthur H. Rolph of 200 West 142d Street, who, on Jan. 25, with his assistant, James F. Scott of 342 Forty-third Street, visited the house. They have both made affidavits of the conditions which they found and the quantities of débris and bricks which they had to remove from the chimney.

"I have been informed," says Mr. Rolph in his affidavit filed with the court, "that these holes were made and the terra cotta lining removed by men who were engaged in demolishing the building immediately south of the house in which I was working, that is, 778 West End Avenue.

"From my experience on this particular kind of job, and I have had about five years of such experience, I can state and say that in order to remove this building it was absolutely unnecessary in any way to drive holes into the chimneys and flues of the next house, or in any way to damage or injure said chimneys or flues, which were available only to the tenant of 780 West End Avenue."

Mr. Wallace also asserted that the holes which he had seen could have been made only by the use of crowbars and pick axes, and that it must have been necessary to go seven inches within the outer wall to reach the terra cotta lining of the chimney.

Since Mr. Kinney himself had the chimneys repaired in order to make the house habitable, the Fire Prevention Bureau made an examination of the premises, and all the work he had put up was pulled down. Then came the driving of the holes through the bottom of his walls to admit the iron beams supposed to be necessary to underpin his home. Finally the concreate supporting his yard was cut away, with the result that a large part of the earth under the flag stones slid into the excavation next door, leaving three yawning gulfs in his yard.

When the matter was brought yesterday to the attention of President McAneny he at once ordered the Building Department to send an Inspector to see what could be done. Speaking about it afterward, he said:

"Since the matter has been brought to my attention we have done everything in our power to see that Mrs. Kinney is protected. The Bureau of Buildings, of course, has nothing to do with any damage which one person may inflict upon another, except in so far as that damage involves some infringement of the Building law.

"If a builder enters unlawfully upon another person's property and it is damaged that is an offense for which relief has to be sought either from the police or in the civil courts. It does seem unfortunate indeed that any citizen should be subjected to such treatment as Mrs. Kinney says she has received. At any rate, the Bureau of Buildings will see that its regulations for the protection of adjoining property are strictly adhered to by the builder in this case."

In court counsel for T. J. McLaughlin's Sons contended that they had been refused entry into Mr. Kinney's home to make repairs of such damages as were unavoidably incidental to their operations, and asserted that Mr. Kinney had asked an exorbitant sum as a price of breaking his lease. Both these allegations Mr. Kinney denied.

Justice Davis took the papers and reserved his decision.

FRENCH WAR SCARE HITS BERLIN BOERSE

Fear of Trouble with Germany's Neighbor Causes a Slump in Stocks.

STIR OVER GAZETTE WARNING

Paris Paper Now Says French Government Heard in January of a Plan for a Great Campaign.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, March 11.—The slump on the Boerse in consequence of the growing uneasiness over the political situation and the stringency of the money market continued to-day. The Cologne Gazette's warning of the "inevitability" of trouble with France was the primary cause of the nervousness.

Standard stocks fell sharply. Canadian Pacific Railway shares, which Germans are disposing of both at home and abroad in lots calculable only in thousands, dropped another 6½ points.

The most remarkable decline of the day was in the shares of the Vulcan Shipbuilding Company, which fell from 169 to 133 in consequence of the reduction of the dividend from 11 to 6 per cent. The company was operated last year at a loss of $500,000 on account of the building of German dreadnoughts at a loss. Its shares were offered to the number of 100,000.

General Electric shares fell 6 points, and Deutsche Bank, Phoenix Iron, and other staple issues from 2 to 3 points. Government bonds also declined.

The gold famine shows no signs of abating. Lazard Freres are said to have $2,500,000 worth of gold in transit from New York to Paris, the destination being Berlin.

Money continues inordinately dear. The banks are extending credit with the utmost reluctance.

To-day's stock market recovered fractionally toward the close on a rumor that the Russian troops on the Austrian frontier were to be demobilized tomorrow.

PARIS, March 11.—The Paris newspaper, L'Intransigeant, publishes an article intended to explain the increased military activity in France recently.

Through the indiscretion of an eminent Italian politician, the paper says, the French Government learned on Jan. 13 that Germany had asked Italy if she could be ready to join Germany and Austria in a campaign, to begin in October, 1913, to put an end by decisive action to the general uneasiness in Europe.

It is added that the French Government made inquiries, which resulted in full confirmation of this information, and then decided to proceed with urgent military measures.

BERLIN, March 11.—The Finance Ministers of the Federated States met in conference here yesterday and to-day and unanimously agreed to the increase of the army.

The Imperial Government's proposal to cover the initial expenditure by a nonrecurrent general property tax met with general approval.

The conference further adopted a plan for taxing the wealth of the country for the purpose of meeting the greater part of the permanent increase of expenditure, but the form this will take has not been disclosed. Several supplementary revenue measures were also agreed to.

BREAKS ARM IN TANGO.

Ida Crispi, Dancing "Yankee Tangle," Seriously Hurt by Fall.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 11.—Ida Crispi, a dancer who made her first success in America, fell and broke her arm and badly wrenched her leg during the performance of "the Yankee tangle" dance last night at the Chelsea Palace Theatre.

The dance, which is a whirlwind variation of the Argentine tango, has its finale when Crispi and her partner, Fred Farren, fall to the floor and roll themselves up in a rug. It was in making this fall that the accident occurred. Miss Crispi has been in London for two years as the leading dancer of the "revues" of the Empire Theatre. The Yankee tangle was the hit of the ballet "New York," which was produced a year ago, and realy started the present London craze for American eccentric ragtime dancing.

ELUDES ANTWERP POLICE.

Marrinussen, Sayville Suspect, Escapes on Landing in Belgium.

ANTWERP, March 11.—William Marrinussen, alias Verstraete, of West Sayville, L. I., arrived here to-day on board the steamship Finland from New York. An attempt was made to arrest him, but he eluded the local police and got away.

Marrinussen's departure from West Sayville followed the finding on Feb. 22 of the dead body of his roommate, Hiram Vanderpoel.

The Antwerp police attempted to apprehend Marrinussen on cable advices from America.

Seeking Release of an American.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The American Legation at Guatemala City, Guatemala, reported to-day to the State Department that it was endeavoring to obtain the release of Belmont J. R. van Jenneyns, representative of an American commercial firm in Guatemala, recently arrested on the charge of being a spy. Details of the charge against Van Jenneyns are not known here.

VERY few people associate constipation with their nervous system. Emotion, excitement and worry have a direct effect upon the bowels. Everybody has had that experience. Therefore, such a temporary interference needs a gentle stimulation and NOT a powerful, drastic purgative which paralyses your nervous system, puts you into the chronic class and causes an irreparable injury.

CONSTIPATION, due to nervous irritability, requires a remedy which will give quick action within an hour or so after taken; causes no further discomfort; is harmless and gentle. There is such a remedy—HUNYADI JANOS WATER, the Natural Laxative; to be taken at any time on an empty stomach; ½ tumblerful acts promptly. REMEMBER!

'HAVE A CIGAR,' SAID MORGAN.

Greeting to Satterlee, Who Had Feared Father-in-law Was Very Ill.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 11.—Writing from Cairo on March 5, a NEW YORK TIMES correspondent describes the arrival there of Herbert L. Satterlee, son-in-law of J. Pierpont Morgan, on March 3. He says:

"Half an hour before midnight a figure wrapped in a coat with an astrakhan collar bounded up the stone steps of Shepheard's Hotel, dashed past the young German Prince Joachim, who had just arrived, ran into the corridor, and flung his arms energetically around the waiting figure of his wife.

"Standing in the hall with Mr. Pierpont Morgan's daughter were J. Ridgely Carter and a few other friends. Mr. Morgan awaited Mr. Satterlee in his suite up stairs, to which Mr. Satterlee was conducted.

"'Hullo! Satterlee,' said Mr. Morgan. 'Have a cigar.'

"'I am surprised to see you so well and hearty after all we have read about you,' said Mr. Satterlee, with a laugh.

"'Well, I guess we're going on now all right,' said Mr. Morgan.

"As a matter of fact, I am informed from an authoritative source that the chill from which, despite all denials, the famous financier was suffering, as well as from indigestion, was cured by the strict dieting insisted on by his Cairo doctor.

"Mr. Morgan himself still insists that the cause of his illness was some food which did not agree with him that he ate on the Atlantic voyage. Although at no time could his state have been described as dangerous, there was always the possibility of a serious development common in invalids of his age. However, he pulled through.

MME. DESTINN MUST PAY.

Millinery Firm Wins Suit Against Prima Donna in Prague Court.

BERLIN, March 11.—Mme. Emmy Destinn of the New York Metropolitan Opera was the defendant in a suit at Prague yesterday.

The action was brought by a firm of milliners to obtain payment of a bill for hats aggregating $600. The plaintiffs submitted to the court an itemized account of many "Paris models" furnished to Mme. Destinn and gave in each case the date—in some cases long afterward—when she notified the firm that the hats were "unsatisfactory."

Mme. Destinn's counsel pleaded vainly for permission to introduce her maid as a witness, and the court ordered the prima donna to settle the bill within two weeks or run the risk of having her chattels attached.

Mme. Destinn's previous appearance in the Prague courts was as the contestant of the validity of a number of bills of exchange signed "Emmy Destinn," of which she successfully resisted payment on the ground that this was only her stage name.

LONDON, March 11.—A. E. W. Mason's new play, "Open Windows," was produced to-night at the St. James's Theatre, with Sir George Alexander, Sydney Valentine, and Irene Vanbrugh in the leading parts.

The piece, which is a problem play, was well received, and is likely to prove a success, but the hand of the novelist rather than of the dramatist is evident throughout.

MEDIATION ACCEPTED BY BALKAN ALLIES

But They Demand an Indemnity from Turkey—Hostilities to Continue.

AUSTRIAN ORDER TO SERVIA

Says She Must Not Send Troops to Scutari—Austria and Russia to Demobilize on Their Frontier.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Wednesday, March 12.—Austria and Russia have jointly announced their intention to demobilize the troops massed on their frontier.

The Balkan allies have decided to accept the mediation of the powers in order to end the war with Turkey, but they will continue fighting until a preliminary treaty is drawn up.

The Rumanian and Bulgarian Governments have submitted their dispute to the mediation of M. Sazonoff, the Russian Foreign Minister.

SOFIA, March 11.—The official newspaper Mir says that the Balkan allies have accepted the proposal for European mediation.

The allies stipulate, however, that Turkey must pay an indemnity.

Hostilities, it is further stated, will continue during the negotiations.

LONDON, Wednesday, March 12.—The European Chancelleries and stock markets are being kept in a condition of nervous tension. No sooner does one thorny problem seem in the way of solution than another crops up.

Last night the long-expected agreement for Austro-Russian demobilization was published. The allies have accepted the Powers' offer of mediation under certain conditions. Arrangements have been completed for the settlement of the dispute between Bulgaria and Rumania by a conference of Ambassadors at St. Petersburg, presided over by M. Sazonoff, the Russian Foreign Minister.

Thus the way seems prepared for the restoration of peace in the Balkans. But at the same moment a new difficulty has been raised by Austria, which objects to Servia going to the assistance of Montenegro, and is endeavoring to enlist the powers to her side to coerce Servia. Further, Austria declines to demobilize, so far as the Servian frontier is concerned.

It appears, therefore, that the fate of Scutari is still a menace to the peace of Europe. Austria is determined to make Scutari the capital of autonomous Albania. Montenegro is equally determined on the possession of Scutari, and, in the present temper of the allies, it seems hardly likely that Servia will desist, at Austria's bidding, in her intention of going to the assistance of Montenegro.

According to dispatches from Vienna and Belgrade, Greek transports are landing further large Servian forces at San Giovanni di Medua. These will assist in the capture of Scutari, and a general attack on the town will commence next week.

It is understood that Russia will disband 230,000 reservists under the agreement with Austria, but the action on Austria's side can hardly be described as demobilization, since a much smaller number will be dispersed, and only from the Russian frontier.

A Constantinople dispatch reports that fighting has been resumed both at Tchatalja and Bulair. No particulars are given, except that the Bulgarian advance posts have attacked on both wings the Turkish positions on the Gulf of Saros.

BELGRADE, March 11.—The Austrian Government to-day took a step tantamount to forbidding Servia to send her troops to assist the Montenegrins in capturing the Turkish fortress of Scutari.

The Austrian Minister to Servia, Baron von Ugron von Abranfalva, informed Premier Pasitch that his Government objected to the Servian troops assisting in the siege of Scutari, which was to become the capital of Albania, and he requested the recall of any Servian troops which had been dispatched there.

The Servian Premier in reply pointed out that under her treaty arrangements Servia was compelled to assist her allies without regard to the future of Scutari.

Scutari has been besieged without any material success by the Montenegrins since soon after the beginning of the Balkan War. Its capture and inclusion in the Kingdom of Montenegro were the chief reasons for King Nicholas's action in joining in the hostilities.

When the European powers decided in principle on an autonomous Albania, in which Scutari was to be included, the King of Montenegro insisted that he would enter the fortress at the head of his troops, declaring that otherwise the reign of his family was doomed. In the meantime the Servian troops had completed their campaign in Macedonia and Albania, and had advanced to the Adriatic Coast at Durazzo, whence, on March 7, they dispatched on board transports 5,000 Servian troops, including artillery, to assist in the siege of Scutari.

It was this activity of Servia which called forth the Austrian protest.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 11.—Demobilization by Russia and Austria-Hungary was announced to-night in official communications issued by the two countries. These set forth that the exchange of letters between Emperor Francis Joseph and Emperor Nicholas have proved the continued friendship of the two nations, and that both are desirous of maintaining peace.

"The two Governments, therefore," continues the Russian communiqué, "have arrived at the agreement that certain measures of a purely defensive character in the frontier provinces are no longer required, and, accordingly, have decided to reduce the Austro-Hungarian forces in Galicia to a normal footing, while Russia will disband the reservists who should have been disbanded in the Autumn."

A semi-official Russian agency is authorized to state that, as a result of the explanations exchanged with the Vienna Cabinet, Austria cherishes no aggressive policy against her neighbors in the south.

VIENNA, March 11.—It is stated here that the Austro-Russian agreement to demobilize will affect only the Russian frontier. It makes no provision with respect to Austria's southeastern frontier.

Austria, it is understood, has taken steps at London to induce the powers to act collectively in demanding from the Servian Government an explanation regarding the dispatch of additional troops by Servia to Durazzo.

Growing irritation is displayed by the military party here at Servia's action, which is believed to be encouraged by the apparent helplessness and dilatory procedure of the ambassadorial conference in London. As it is well known that Servia has no real desire to see Montenegro become more powerful, her action in assisting in the attack on Scutari excites suspicion at Vienna, where the opinion is held that it is designed to strengthen the Servian position on the Adriatic.

The organs of the military party are urging Austria to take vigorous steps to guard her threatened interests, without further regard for the "selfish aims of the other powers." In the meantime, it is declared, the forces assembled on the Servian frontier cannot be weakened to the slightest extent by dispersing any of the reservists.

LONDON NEWS IS VEXED.

Accuses This Paper of Misrepresenting Its Views on Mexico.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Wednesday, March 12.—The Daily News says in an article this morning:

"THE NEW YORK TIMES is annoyed because we found suspicious the readiness of American journals to condone the murder of President Madero and to welcome the accession of his murderers to office. That does not surprise us, because THE NEW YORK TIMES has always expounded the doctrine that the American trusts can do no wrong.

"What, however, does surprise us is that this journal should attribute our views to the fact that 'since the recent outburst in Mexico The Daily News has been obviously eager for American intervention' and is 'disgruntled' because that intervention has not come.

"The first time we referred to the Diaz rising was on Feb. 15, when we wrote: 'Mexico's troubles are no ground in law or morals for American intervention.' In the very article which THE NEW YORK TIMES quotes and upon which it comments we wrote: 'Although we have strongly denied any right on the part of the United States to intervene in Mexico, we are at liberty to ask why American journalists who have pressed such a right are convinced that intervention is no longer necessary by a series of murders which do not bring peace obviously nearer.'

"It will be seen that THE NEW YORK TIMES has stated the very opposite of the truth, and can have been ignorant that it was doing so only if it neglected to read through the very articles upon which it was commenting."

NOTORIOUS BANDIT TAKEN.

Lacombe, French Anarchist, Confesses to Three Murders.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, March 11.—The police to-day captured the notorious bandit Lacombe, who since December, 1911, has been actively sought throughout France.

His arrest was due to the chance presence in the Boulevard de la Villette this afternoon of two detectives who were loitering in the district, watching a street fair. As they passed the booth outside of which two men were boxing their attention was attracted by an onlooker who was throwing paper bullets at the boxers. As his hand shot forward one of the detectives noticed between his thumb and index finger a tattooed heart. The detective suddenly recollected the description of Lacombe, in which a heart tattooed on the right hand was mentioned. He drew his comrade's attention to the mark, and when they were certain that the man was Lacombe the officers seized his arms, and pulled them behind him. The prisoner made a quick movement to reach his coat pocket, but was too late. In his possession were found two loaded revolvers, two bombs, and two fuses.

Lacombe is charged with four murders, including that of Ducret, an editor, in the latter's lodgings at the offices of the Anarchist journal L'Idée Libre.

When he was interrogated by the examining Magistrate Lacombe confessed this and two other murders. Lacombe said he had suspected Ducret, a fellow-Anarchist, of trying to betray him. Entering Ducret's lodgings at midnight, Lacombe threatened the man and his wife with two revolvers and kept them six hours in a state of terror. As daylight was breaking he discharged both weapons, fatally wounding Ducret and missing the woman. He then fled and eluded the police for three months.

CITY GIVES WARNING TO GOULD ELEVATED

Unless It Lets Through the Subway Settlement Its Property Rights Will Be Attacked.

BATTERY LOOP IN QUESTION

Also the Company's Present Third-Track Privilege—Few Opponents of Subway Plans at Hearing.

After the hearing yesterday morning before the Board of Estimate on the Subway contracts, Borough President McAneny pointed out that the Manhattan Railway Company had the rest of the week in which to fulfill its duty to the people of the city by reversing the extraordinary position taken for it by Mr. Gould. In so speaking he summed up the view of the Board of Estimate.

The slim attendance at the last public hearing on the proposed agreements and the fact that practically the only opposition came from those who have been heard again and again, seemed to the members of the Board to prove that the citizens at large consider the subway question as finally settled, and take little interest in the formal steps necessary to close the bargain. When Thomas E. Clark, President of the Allied Civic Bodies of South Brooklyn, arose to speak in favor of the dual system, Mayor Gaynor stopped him on the ground that there was no use in his wasting time in pleading a cause which had been won already.

The Board of Estimate is anything but satisfied, however, by the position of the Manhattan Railway Company, and intends to pursue, without hesitation, the course already suggested by President McAneny. If there is not any disposition shown on the part of the Manhattan to meet the wishes of the Interborough in regard to the third tracking of the elevated lines, and if the company persists in its attempt to gain by refusing its assent to the plans agreed upon, the board will begin a close examination of the Manhattan's rights in some property which the city considers of doubtful ownership.

The third tracking certificate to the Interborough comes up for public hearing on Saturday before the Public Service Commission, and will presumably be adopted immediately afterward. Till then the Manhattan Directors have leisure to consider how the situation is developing.

Manhattan's Vulnerable Side.

It is the intention of the Board of Estimate to investigate the right of the Manhattan to such third tracking as it already possesses and also to the continued existence of the loop in Battery Park, which was, it is asserted, erected originally merely as a temporary expedient. In the same way there are several pieces of track in the Bronx which have a doubtful right of way. Mr. McAneny's committee will want to know if the city is to continue to tolerate these usurpations when the company shows no disposition to accommodate the city.

"Of course, you understand," said Mr. McAneny yesterday, "this is not a threat. It is merely a matter of business."

The board is prepared to go ahead with more decision because it offers to the Manhattan in return for the completion of the third tracking, according to the arrangement reached with Mr. Shonts, the complete and final legalization of all these doubtful bits of track. It believes that whatever additional burdens the Manhattan may make itself responsible for, in the unlikely event of the Interborough's failure to carry out the terms of its present lease, would be more than compensated by this clearance of the Manhattan's titles.

Nothing has yet been announced as to the negotiations which are proceeding between the Manhattan and the Interborough Directors, but it is understood that there is a good deal of annoyance among the large shareholders of the Manhattan, outside of the Gould interests, at the situation into which Mr. Gould has brought the company. They realize that if the city does make itself unpleasant about the doubtful franchises to certain portions of the Manhattan tracks they are in real risk of losing much, and that if Mr. Gould had considered the third tracking arrangement should have brought the Manhattan Company some extra rent he should have raised the question long before he did, when it might have been settled amicably.

A Woman Declaims.

The Board of Estimate room was only two-thirds full yesterday morning when the public hearing on the subway contracts began. One of the principal speakers was a woman in black, who gave her name as Mrs. Fincher. She denounced the subway bargain roundly, and asserted that even now the board was trying to pass the contracts in a hurry, without consulting taxpayers.

"Do you want to go down into history," she declaimed, "like Boss Tweed, with something attached to your names. New York is graft-ridden, and I'd like to know who is getting the graft."

Thomas Hart, a contractor from the Bronx, burst in with a round of applause.

"Officer," said Mayor Gaynor to Lieut. Kennell, his faithful bodyguard, "you'll see that the person who makes this disturbance is removed."

Mr. Hart disappeared into the corridor.

Another speaker was Henry S. Wood, who has a plan for raising $1,000,000,000 for subways without recourse to any financiers, but from the public at large. He asserted that he was a native American, and that the redman's blood flowed in his veins, and he wanted a special hearing on his financial plan.

"You must excuse me," said the Mayor. "If you have nothing to say about the present plan, resume your seat."

"I pronounce it rotten," said Mr. Wood emphatically and sat down.

Hint From McAneny.

Fred C. Leubuscher, an attorney, wanted the new rapid transit system built by assessment like highways. Luther S. Bedford argued that the debt limit of the city was so inexhaustible that there was no use to go to private capitalists for money for subways and ended by saying:

"This is the first time I've had a decent and respectable hearing before public officials in this city, I thank you."

Joseph Beeler put in a word of opposition to the Brooklyn third tracking certificates, and then the Board adjourned. It is expected that on Monday next, it will hold another special meeting to approve not only the contracts and certificates that were before it yesterday, but also of the elevated third tracking certificate.

"The Public Service Commission will no doubt," said Mr. McAneny after the meeting, "be able to send over the third tracking certificate for which we are waiting. They propose to issue it directly to the Interborough immediately after the hearing on Saturday.

"We shall then be free to go ahead. The certificate to the Interborough as lessee will of course be less satisfactory than a certificate accepted by the Manhattan Company itself. We shall take the substitute rather than delay matters any longer. But at least it may be said that the Manhattan directors have the rest of the week to fulfill their duty to the people of the city and to reverse the extraordinary position taken by Mr. Gould."

VETOES FIREARMS ORDINANCE

Mayor Says Aldermanic Measure Would Benefit Criminals.

Mayor Gaynor vetoed a resolution of the Aldermen yesterday which allowed non-residents of the city or travelers to carry revolvers without molestation.

There was also a section allowing revolvers to be kept in homes, and while the Mayor seemingly favored this plan, he vetoed the entire resolution, because, he said, the other section "gave immunity to non-residents, sojourners, or travelers, even though they were burglars, highwaymen, or other habitual criminals."

LAWYER BOVEE'S WILL.

Income from $10,000 to Mother, with One-third Residue to Widow.

The will of Christian N. Bovée of the law firm of Woodford, Bovée & Butcher of 1 Madison Avenue, was filed yesterday in the Surrogates' Court for probate. Mr. Bovée died on March 3 at the home of his sister, Mrs. Richard M. Popham, at Merion, Penn. The will bears the date Jan. 14, 1907, and there are codicils, the last dated Oct. 22, 1912. The executors are Haley Fiske of Bernardsville, N. J., and Richard Morris Popham of Philadelphia.

After providing for a life income from $10,000 for his mother, Mary M. Bovée, Mr. Bovée makes specific bequests of $1,000 each to his sisters, Bell, Kate, and Eleanor, of 4 East Forty-ninth Street, and $500 each to his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Popham.

The residue of the estate is made into a trust, with the executors as Trustees to convert into cash and keep invested. One-third of the income is to be paid to the widow, Kate Howell Bovée as long as she lives or as long as she remains unmarried, after which it goes to the daughters in equal shares.

Mr. Bovée provided that the entire income received from the liquidation of his partnership interests in the law business should be paid over to my wife, but in the second codicil he revokes this clause and directs that one-half of the income be used and the balance be kept in the residuary estate.

In the third codicil he bequeathes a house at Hartsdale, N. Y., to his daughter, Mrs. Mackay, and directs that a deduction of $13,700 be made from her share of the remainder. A cottage and garden in Vineyard Haven, Mass., known as the Mayhew Cottage, is left to Kate Bovée, a sister.

Mary G. Potter, Mr. Bovée's secretary, of 916 West End Avenue, receives all of the law books in 38 West Eighty-fifth Street "in view of her intelligent attention and devotion to my interests as secretary."

NEW YORK THE SAFEST CITY.

Shows Best Accident Record of Any First Class Municipality in State.

The National Highways Protective Society has compiled figures showing the comparative number of traffic accidents in the principal cities of New York State for the three months ended on Feb. 28. The figures include killed and injured. For the purpose of comparison they are reduced to a rate per 100,000 per annum. "Up State" includes everything in the State outside the limits of New York City. The rate is based on the population figures of the United States Census of 1910:

	Rate Per 100,000 Per Yr.
New York City	46
Up-State	26
Buffalo	58
Syracuse	17
Rochester	66
Albany	36
Yonkers	85

These figures include accidents from all classes of traffic. Of these, outside of New York City, automobiles furnished about 64 per cent., streets cars about 23 per cent., and wagons and miscellaneous the remainder. In New York City for the same period the proportion was about 50 per cent. for automobiles and 30 per cent. for street cars. The relative figures for automobile accidents follow:

New York City	24
Up-State	15
Buffalo	33
Syracuse	14
Albany	16
Yonkers	75

Regarding these figures, the report says:

"It will be noted that while the up-State, as a whole, shows lower rate than New York City, both for all classes of traffic and for automobiles, the cities of Yonkers, Rochester, and Buffalo show much higher rates. The street car rate in those cities is practically the same as in New York, the increase being chiefly due to the relative increase of automobile accidents.

"The high rate for Yonkers is explained by the fact of its proximity to New York, and to the fact that many of the main highways out of New York pass through it. It thus has an automobile traffic greatly disproportionate to its population. New York is the safest city of the first class in the State."

TWO JURIES ABSOLVE ELEVATED MOTORMAN

Hold Him Blameless for Fatal Collision, Though High Officials Seek to Put Guilt on Him.

CALLS ROAD'S DIRECTORS

August Belmont, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Theodore P. Shonts, and Others Testify in Coroner's Court.

Theodore P. Shonts, August Belmont, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Andrew Freedman, George W. Young, and other men high in the councils of the Interborough assembled as witnesses yesterday afternoon at an inquest into the death of Policeman John M. Gleason, who was killed in a collision on the Third Avenue elevated railroad on Jan. 25. This was the second inquiry held by a Coroner into this accident. Sixteen persons were hurt in the collision and one of them was Mary Lancer of 1,866 Washington Avenue, the Bronx. A jury in the Bronx, sitting under Coroner Shongut, considered the death of Mrs. Lancer on Monday night. They absolved Michael Hearn, the motorman, of blame and put the responsibility for the accident on the Interborough. Coroner Shongut set aside the verdict and held Hearn for the Grand Jury.

The proceedings yesterday afternoon were taken in connection with the death of Policeman Gleason before Coroner Feinberg in the dingy quarters of the Coroners at Lafayette and Franklin Streets because the policeman died in Manhattan.

Vice President Frank Hedley, who is also General Manager of the Interborough, and other officials of the company put the blame squarely on Michael Hearn, the motorman, but the jury in Coroner Feinberg's court would not attach the responsibility to him, and after long deliberation brought in a verdict that the accident was unavoidable. Coroner Feinberg, after discharging him in his court, paroled Hearn in the custody of his counsel until such time as Coroner Shongut should want him. The decision of yesterday's jury in Hearn's favor came notwithstanding the most positive statements on the part of the Interborough Directors that the road was equipped with ample safety provisions and the testimony of Supt. S. D. Smith of the Manhattan Division of the Interborough that the collision would not have happened if Hearn had done his duty. Coroner Feinberg put this question bluntly to Mr. Smith: "Was there any way in which the accident could have been avoided?"

"Yes, Sir," was the quick response. "If the motorman had paid proper attention to his work. It was a clear, sunshiny day, no obstruction from the train ahead, and the grade had a tendency upward there. If he had been looking ahead and had seen the train ahead move and then stop he would have had time to stop his own train without accident."

All the witnesses were warned that anything they might say would be used against them. The Directors were questioned as to the reliability of their signal system and the use of wooden cars instead of steel. The Coroner wanted to know if the Directors had ever considered installing a more efficacious signal system.

"Yes, it was brought up in 1911," said Mr. Shonts, "when the Public Service Commission ordered us to show cause why we should not have more and longer trains and another signal system on the line. Our policy has been safety first. The Third Avenue elevated is the most congested in the city. We operate trains on a forty-two-second headway, and this has been the first case of a passenger being killed in a collision, although there have been passengers killed in derailment accidents. If we established the system of signals used in the Subway we could run only at a headway of 1 minute and 30 seconds, and that would cut the capacity of the line in half. We thought it to the best advantage of the public to run at a shorter headway."

Then the Coroner wanted to know if Mr. Shonts considered wooden cars safe in collisions.

"No car is safe in a collision," was the answer. "Nothing could have saved Gleason. He would have been crushed in a steel car. If there had been steel cars they would have been shot to the streets and many persons would have been killed. If we had had collapsible steel cars many would have been killed anyhow."

Mr. Hedley gave it as his opinion that the elevated railroads in New York were the safest and best operated roads in the world, and one by one Mr. Freedman, Mr. Vanderbilt and Mr. Belmont testified that they had never heard that conditions on the Third Avenue elevated were dangerous to the public.

Supt. Smith, who testified that he was perfectly satisfied with the methods in use in the elevated system, believing them to be the best possible from the standpoint of the public, was examined by Hearn's lawyer.

"Hearn was under your personal supervision?" the lawyer asked.

"Yes, sir, on the line. He passed several examinations and had been a motorman for fifteen months."

"Does not the company usually come to the rescue of a motorman after an accident?"

"I know of no such case. It is a matter for the legal department of the company."

"Is there not a desire to shift responsibility from the company to Hearn?"

"Not at all," replied Mr. Smith. "It was up to Hearn and we put it there."

LITTLE FOR MRS. McALLISTER

Only $50 Counsel Fees for Broker's Wife—He Seeks Divorce.

Supreme Court Justice Lehman denied yesterday Mrs. Adele Brainerd McAllister's application for alimony pending the determination of her suit for separation from Walter S. McAllister, a broker of 30 Broad Street, who is bringing a suit for divorce. Mrs. McAllister got $50 counsel fees, with the provision that her husband might make the payment in ten-dollar installments.

Mrs. McAllister's suit is brought on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment and undue affection for Miss Mazie Elden, whom, it is alleged, he met while ill of typhoid fever in a hospital. Two letters purporting to be from Miss Elden and her mother, Mrs. Helen E. Elden, are attached to the complaint. Mrs. Elden denies having written the one signed with her name. Mrs. McAllister is the daughter of Capt. William P. Brainerd, U. S. N., retired, who was in command of President Roosevelt's official yacht Sylph and now has charge of the "officer's boat" at West Point.

In his suit for divorce McAllister charges Frederick Fisher, a broker of 40 Exchange Place, 72 years old, with the alienation of his wife's affections and submits affidavits made by his son, Frederick A. McAllister, and his daughter, Grace, who are said to have accompanied their mother to hotels in Sheepshead Bay and Poughkeepsie. He is also bringing a fifty-thousand-dollar suit against Fisher for the alienation of his wife's affections.

SULZER WILL REMOVE SCOTT ON CHARGES

Prison Superintendent Refuses to Resign Under Fire—Will Offer Defense.

TAMMANY MAY NOT FIGHT

Would Probably Acquiesce If New Appointee Should Be Good Organization Man.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 11.—Gov. Sulzer has decided to remove Col. Joseph F. Scott, State Superintendent of Prisons. Formal charges, based upon the recent report of the Governor's commission of inquiry, will be served upon Col. Scott to-morrow, and it is believed that his removal will follow within a very few hours.

The announcement of the Governor's determination did not come as a surprise. There has been friction between him and the Prison Superintendent from the very beginning of his administration, when the Colonel refused to bow to a peremptory demand on the part of the Governor that he remove George W. Benham, the Republican Warden of Auburn Prison, and appoint in his place Charles F. Rattigan, editor of The Auburn Citizen and chief political lieutenant of Thomas Mott Osborne, the sworn foe of Charles F. Murphy. Mr. Rattigan is the representative of his district on the Democratic State Committee.

The decision of Gov. Sulzer to file charges against Col. Scott followed the latter's refusal to resign. This demand was made yesterday afternoon, Executive Auditor John A. Hennessy acting as the Governor's representative in the effort to have the Colonel relinquish his position voluntarily. Col. Scott, according to a semi-official statement, asked time to consider, and a respite was given until this afternoon. When the demand was repeated to-day he asked for an opportunity to discuss the matter with the Governor personally. At the close of the interview, which occurred in the Executive Chamber early this evening in the presence of Mr. Hennessy, and with half a hundred visitors looking on, Col. Scott sent word to the Governor that he would not resign, but preferred to be removed on charges.

The Governor has power under the Public Officers act to bring about the removal of Col. Scott merely by filing the charges with him and giving him an opportunity to answer them. There is no provision in the law which makes it obligatory upon the Governor to consider the merit of any answers that may be filed by the public officer who is the defendant in such a proceeding. It may be taken for granted, however, that Gov. Sulzer will give due weight to any defense Col. Scott may make.

"I have been asked by Gov. Sulzer to resign my present position," said Col. Scott to-night, in discussing the Governor's proposed action. "I have refused to do so, preferring to have the Governor remove me from office. I am prepared to answer any charge that may be made against me. That is all I care to say at present."

Up to the point where the Governor's Committee of Inquiry was directed to "go after" Col. Scott, the Colonel had told the Governor again and again that he could have his resignation for the asking. He made that offer the moment friction arose between them over his refusal to appoint Mr. Ratigan warden of Auburn Prison. The power to make this appointment under the law, as well as the responsibility for the conduct of the prisons, is placed with the Prison Superintendent.

At the conference between the Governor and the Colonel this afternoon, Mr. Sulzer reminded the latter of his frequently expressed willingness to hand in his resignation, and said that at the present time he stood ready to accept it. On earlier occasions Gov. Sulzer has invariably asserted that he desired the Colonel to retain his present post and to aid in bringing about certain prison reforms.

Col. Scott, when this reminder fell from the Governor's lips, replied that the time had passed when he could resign without laying himself open to the charge that he was yielding under fire. The accusations made by the Governor's inquisitors and the reports that for weeks have been spread throughout the State by friends of Mr. Osborne, the Colonel said, had changed the situation entirely.

Up to the time when Col. Scott peremptorily refused to heed the Governor's request for his resignation, Mr. Sulzer, according to semi-official information that was permitted to come from the Executive Chamber, had fully expected that the Colonel would get out without waiting for charges to be lodged against him. The Colonel only recently had an offer from his native State of Massachusetts to take charge of the prisons there.

Attorney General Carmody, who is believed to be rather friendly toward Col. Scott, joined in the request made by the Governor that he relinquish his office voluntarily. The final action determined upon by the Colonel was reached by him after consulting Senator John F Murtaugh of Chemung, the Colonel's home county, and other friends in the Senate, which, almost to a man, is with the Superintendent.

It was learned to-night that Col. Scott would retain one of the leading lawyers in the State to prepare his answer, should the Governor afford him an oportunity to do so by allowing him sufficient time to file it. The contention of Col. Scott's friends is that the investigation by the Governor's committee of inquiry was a one-sided affair, that every effort was made to "get him," and little or no opportunity was afforded him to present his side.

The committee absolutely ignored a demand made by Col. Scott for a thorough investigation, and it is a fact that in presenting its report to the Governor the committee, while submitting all the evidence presented, overlooked the explanations made by the Colonel under oath. Col. Scott holds that his opportunity for vindication will depend entirely upon whether or not he has ample time for the filing of an answer.

Ten specific accusations were made against the Colonel by the Governor's inquisitors, namely:

That he retained as sales agent of the Prison Department F. H. Mills, after it had been shown, through reports submitted by investigators appointed by Gov. Dix, that Mr. Mills was engaged in personal business enterprises in direct competition with prison industries.

That employes of Dannemora Prison, after confessing grave affenses against the laws of the State, were merely ousted and not prosecuted.

That Col Scott had given as his reason for not prosecuting them that he could not obtain their convictions in Clinton County.

That this constituted an unseemly reflection upon the County Judge, the County Prosecutor, and the citizens doing jury duty in the County of Clinton.

That he permitted timber cutting on land surrounding Dannemora Prison without the concurring agreement of the State Controller, and that financial loss had resulted to the State. Col. Scott testified on the stand that the Attorney General had aproved his action.

That Col. Scott, contrary to law, had constructed sidewalks within the incorporated village of Dannemora, using convict labor.

That too much freedom was allowed inmates at the State Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Matteawan.

That Col. Scott failed to transmit to District Attorney Whitman the report made to him by Dr. John W. Russell, until recently Superintendent of Matteawan, that John Nicholson Anhut had attempted to bribe him to aid Thaw in getting his release from that institution.

That Secretary John G. McDowell of the Prison Department was not summarily dismissed after he had made a disrespectful remark about Gov. Sulzer in the Colonel's presence.

That the Colonel has failed to make the prison industries self-sustaining.

There is much speculation at the Capitol to-night as to whether the Governor's action in the Scott matter will tend to bring about a break with the Democratic organization. The most influential organization men in the Legislature are among the stanchest supporters of Col. Scott—largely, perhaps, because his quarrel with the Governor is due to his failure to appoint Thomas Mott Osborne's man. In most quarters it is conceded that should the Governor decide to appoint as Col. Scott's successor a good organization man this would reconcile the Democratic leaders to the Colonel's dismissal.

The Senate is almost unanimously with the Colonel, and for some time there have been hints that a Senate investigation of the dismissal of Col. Scott would follow any such drastic action by the Governor. To-night a friend of Col. Scott said that in his opinion no good could be accomplished by any such action on the part of the Senate, as the Governor was perfectly within his rights in ordering his removal.

BARS INSULT BY HOTELS.

Bill Prohibiting Offensive Advertising Advanced in the Senate.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 11.—The Senate today advanced to the order of passage the Levy bill prohibiting hotels from advertising any discrimination against would-be patrons based on race, religion, or color. There was some opposition to the bill in the Senate on the ground that it would prevent Adirondack hotels from excluding persons affected with tuberculosis. Senator Wagner said the bill was open to no such interpretation.

Senator Emerson cited insulting advertisements which he had seen as did Senator Wagner.

Senator Palmer said that the bill might affect the Chautauqua Society. Senator Wagner said that the law now prohibited discrimination as to race and color in hotels, and that the only object of the present bill was to make it unlawful to advertise in any way contrary to the spirit of the present law. The measure has already passed the Assembly.

NO HEARING ON TAX BILL.

Senate Committee Takes No Action on Stilwell's Protest.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 11.—The Senate and Assembly Committees on Taxation this afternoon decided to cancel the hearing which they were to give to-morrow on the Stilwell-Weil bill doubling the tax on transfers of stock and to give way to Gov. Sulzer, who withdrew his support from the measure on the ground that it would be inadvisable to pass a bill which would work injustice and injury to a particular industry. This action was not taken until it had been made plain on the floor of the Senate that the action of the Governor in making public announcement that he had "withdrawn the bill" was resented by members of the Legislature.

Senator Stephen J. Stilwell, who introduced the Transfer Tax bill in the Senate, denied the statement published this morning that he had insisted upon a hearing on the tax bill, although the Governor had withdrawn his support. He said that his idea was that the Taxation Committees should take some formal action, so that those who intended to appear before them to-morrow should be informed as to what they intended to do. Mr. Stilwell also said that while he introduced the bill at the suggestion of Gov. Sulzer, he was opposed to it, and would have voted against it if it had been presented to the Senate.

After a long session of the Senate the Committee on Taxation held a meeting. Senator Stilwell presented his case in detail, and it was decided to hold no hearing to-morrow and to let the bill die. The committee failed to take notice of the Governor's action in saying that he had withdrawn the bill. The Assembly committee took similar action.

Gov. Sulzer was asked late to-day if he would comment on the criticism of Senator Stilwell as to his course in regard to the Stock Transfer Tax bill.

"What's the use?" the Governor replied. "The bill is dead."

TRANSIT EMPLOYES' STORE OPENS TO-DAY

Fresh Eggs at 20 Cents a Dozen One Item in Prices at Company Market.

WILL SELL FOOD AT COST

First of New York Railways-Interborough Shops Opposite Car Barns in 8th Ave.—Five Others Planned.

"We are going to solve the question of the high cost of living for our employes," said F. H. Garde, Superintendent of the New York Railways Company's stores yesterday afternoon.

This was the official announcement of the opening of the first employes' store of the company at 816 and 818 Eighth Avenue, between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Streets. This store, which is opposite the car barns, is the first of a chain of "coöperative stores" which will be opened by the New York Railways Company and the Interborough Rapid Transit Company.

"The object of these stores," said Mr. Garde last night, "is to sell to the employes of the railway companies every food product required at wholesale cost. There will be six, and all will be upon property owned by the New York Railways Company or the Interborough. It is the intention not to charge against the operation of the stores any of the overhead expenses. This first store will be followed by a similar one at 129th Street and Third Avenue within the next five weeks.

"The trade is guaranteed already. Between the traffic men, in which I include guards, conductors, ticket agents, choppers, and station employes, the two companies have on their payrolls 20,000 men. If we include the clerical staff of the two roads, the total will easily reach 28,000. Of the traffic force alone there are 14,000 who are on record in favor of the stores."

The store opened yesterday has a frontage of 65 feet and is 125 feet in depth. The fixtures are hygienic throughout, consisting of white enameled wooden counters and marble blocks and chests.

"We figure that in the aggregate the cost of living to our employes who patronize this and the other stores will be reduced 33 1-3 per cent.," said Mr. Garde. "All of the six markets which the companies intend to open will be conducted within blocks immediately adjacent to terminals or car barns. I have allowed $15,000 a year as the probable deficit which the companies will have to meet for the present store.

"We will sell at cost the best fresh-gathered guaranteed Southern eggs at 20 cents a dozen. We will sell the finest creamery butter, for which 44 to 46 cents a pound is asked in the groceries, for 35 cents. In our fruit department the same cut prices will prevail. In the fish department live lobsters will retail at 30 cents a pound."

Mr. Garde will be Superintendent of all the stores. He said it was the intention of the companies to limit the trade exclusively to employes of the traffic and clerical departments.

"Nobody will be permitted to buy at our counters," he said, "who does not produce either a card or pass showing that he or she is a member of an employe's family. The same 'trailer' system will be used to prevent abuse of market privileges which the companies now employ for their protection in the stations and on the cars.

"The market will open this morning. It will be open from 7 A. M. to 7 P. M., as about $15,000 worth of stock has been installed in the first store."

REEL THREATENS SCANDAL.

Says He'll Give Out Letter Accusing Former Friend of Sulzer.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 11.—C. Gordon Reel, ex-State Superintendent of Highways, said to-night that unless Gov. Sulzer produced to-morrow the letter which Reel says he wrote to the Executive in connection with the highway graft investigation, he would make public the contents of the document.

It is said that this letter informs the Governor that a man, who until recently occupied the entire confidence of Gov. Sulzer, tried to induce Reel to authorize the payment of bills for asphalt paving which was not in accordance with specifications. Reel declares he has a copy of this letter, and it is the subject of keen curiosity in official circles at the capital.

John A. Hennessey, executive auditor, has been directed by the Governor to look thoroughly into the charges that contracts were changed arbitrarily to favor contractors with political influence.

The Governor also has ordered the executive auditor to investigate the charge made by Dennis J. Dewan of Troy that he was arrested by the police of that city on a "frame up" several days ago in order that the police might obtain information of his investigation of highway maintenance contracts in which Troy politicians are said to be interested. Michael F. Collins of Troy and Mr. Dewan had a long talk with the Governor to-day after which Mr. Sulzer expressed the belief that Dewan had told the truth concerning the cause of his arrest.

Two weeks ago Mr. Dewan came to Albany and said he believed the Governor would be interested in certain contracts which had been held by companies alleged to have been controlled through dummies by politicians in Troy and Albany. He said he wanted access to the contracts in question. Gov. Sulzer turned the matter over to Mr. Hennessey and the necessary papers were placed at Dewan's disposal. A short time afterward Dewan returned to Albany to report to Mr. Hennessey, but the report was not made. When Dewan returned to Troy he was taken to Police Headquarters by Edward J. McKenna, Chief of Detectives, and Detective Lawrenson. He had carried his coat on his arm, and when he entered Police Headquarters he put his coat on a chair. One of the detectives said he found a revolver in one of the pockets. Dewan said he had never carried a revolver in his life.

The police and Mayor Burns of Troy said they had arrested Dewan in connection with an arson case. The fire in question followed an explosion in which William Halton, a former pugilist, was fatally injured. No evidence to support the arson charge was presented to the Grand Jury, but an indictment charging the carrying of a concealed weapon was returned against Dewan.

In the meantime Mayor Burns wrote a letter to Gov. Sulzer defending the police force in its action in the Dewan case. Joseph J. Murphy, Democratic leader of Troy, and John P. Kelly, Chairman of the Democratic Committee of Rensselaer County, made trips to the Capitol to see the Governor about the case, but it was not until to-day that Dewan, who has been ill, was able to get to the Governor and to tell his side of the story.

BILL NOT MEANT FOR BECKER.

Measure Abolishing Capital Punishment to be Amended.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 11.—Senator Stephen J. Stilwell did not press his bill abolishing capital punishment for advancement in the Senate to-day. At his request it was laid aside for amendment.

"It has been said in newspapers," Mr. Stilwell said, "that this bill will affect Lieut. Charles Becker. This bill was drafted in the interest of no individual, and I ask that it be laid aside so that it may be amended to apply only to future convictions."

The Stilwell bill substitutes life imprisonment for death as the penalty for murder in the first degree. Gov. Sulzer, who recently expressed himself in favor of abolishing capital punishment, said that the power to pardon in the case of murder in the first degree should be removed, and that a person convicted of murder in the first degree should have no opportunity to secure liberty.

PRAISES HELLEU'S PORTRAITS OF WOMEN

"EPITOME OF HIS ELEGANCE"

So Says A. G. Learned, Leader in Dry Point Etching Portraiture.

"I am delighted with THE NEW YORK TIMES's reproductions of the Helleu etchings to be published in the issue of March 16. I did not think newspaper art was far enough advanced to make such a successful reproduction possible."

This is the opinion of Mr. A. G. Learned as stated in a recent interview with a TIMES representative. Mr. Learned is perhaps the most prominent among the young New York artists who have been exploring the field of dry point during the past ten years, and he may be said to lead the rapidly growing movement in favor of etching portraiture. Mr. Learned is familiar with the Helleu originals, having watched the inception of many of them, and having done most of the printing for the great French illustrator during his visit in the United States.

"The dry point etching is a very difficult thing to reproduce with even a slight measure of success. Especially is it difficult to catch the spirit and the sweep of so individual an artist as Paul Helleu. These eight pictures of typical American women sum up the best in M. Helleu's present style, which is the very epitome of elegance, refinement, and a graceful technique. There is nothing 'tight' about M. Helleu's work. It has an ease and charm which is truly masterful.

"We are all followers of M. Helleu. He is rightly called the father of dry point etching, and he has spent a long life developing that medium to a remarkable extent. We have much to learn from him.

"He has vindicated the force of refinement. I like that. I like to see the public forced to recognize the beauty and the strength of culture. It is a new point of view for them to have to take. Were M. Helleu to depict an old peasant woman, with her scarred and wrinkled face, the public would fall back and call the picture strong, just as it always does. It loves to call unmeaning ugliness strength. Hideous old men and women who have no force about them, when used as models, can cover up a very weak technique. M. Helleu is a Frenchman, and he appreciates the tremendous and restrained force that there is in culture and in refinement. It is greatly to our credit that he has seen in our women an intelligence and a refined elegance. He portrays it in the case of every one of these women whom he chooses to call typical Americans. It is easy enough to express strength and vigor in the heavy lines of an old peasant's face; it is difficult to represent that same strength and force in the face of a cultured woman, where the greatest control is exercised.

"M. Helleu's visit to America, and the reproduction of his work in THE NEW YORK TIMES, showing him to his full advantage, has done a great deal to boom the cause of dry point etching here in the United States. We are just beginning to wake up to the possibilities and the beauties of it. Our apartments are no longer large enough to accommodate huge and heavy oil paintings. American women, especially, have developed a taste for the lively sketchiness of the etching, especially in portraiture. Hundreds of American women are beginning to realize that the dry point etching can catch their personality, express their individuality in a way not possible to the painter on canvas or ivory. Dry point etching seems exactly to suit the American woman more than any other—it can reproduce her dash and her energy as no other medium can.

The public, accustomed to the smooth, careful finish of illustration, where erasure is possible, will appreciate the dry point etching very slowly. It will seem careless and hasty. But gradually, I believe, the public will come to realize that these pictures have strength and character not found among the best of our illustrators.

"M. Helleu has been most fortunate in his selection of models. They seem to me representative of the best among our American women. As for resemblance, well, I must admit that M. Helleu sacrifices resemblance to his superlative technique, but he has caught the American spirit—a spirit seen through French eyes perhaps, but nevertheless American."

ROBIN VICTIM SEEKS RELIEF.

Banker Mortgaged Her Property, and Mrs. Deady Can't Sell It.

Asserting that Joseph G. Robin, the convicted banker, had mortgaged the property without the owner's permission, Charles Foley of 41 Park Row, attorney for Mrs. Josephine T. Deady, asked Supreme Court Justice Davis yesterday for an order to compel the Washington Savings Bank to accept a bond in lieu of cash for the release of eight lots which Mrs. Deady had purchased in the Tremont Terrace part of the Bronx, in order that she might sell them for $5,500 and thereby receive money for the support of herself and her husband, who is a cripple.

Mr. Foley explained that Mrs. Deady and her husband had kept a restaurant in Mount Vernon, and with their savings had purchased twenty-five lots in Tremont Terrace on the installment plan through the Bankers' Realty and Securities Company, with which Robin was connected. The complete title to this property was gained in 1908, but the couple left the deeds with Robin to be recorded. This, Mr. Foley charged, Robin did not do for more than a year, and meantime included the lots in a parcel of 200 which he mortgaged for $118,000 to the Washington Savings Bank.

Not until she contracted with J. Lawrence Davis in September, 1910, to sell eight of her lots did Mrs. Deady become aware of the mortgage. Davis brought suit for specific performance of his contract against Mrs. Deady, and was upheld by Justice Bijur last December. At that time the Washington Savings Bank agreed to release the lots from the mortgage on the payment of $325 a lot, but this payment Mrs. Deady was unable to make.

Frederick Mellor for the Washington Savings Bank opposed the motion, but expressed sympathy for Mrs. Deady, and after court offered to do what he could to find some way in which Mrs. Deady could sell her property in the event that Justice Davis denied her attorney's motion.

BLIZZARD 25 YEARS AGO.

Anniversary of the Great Storm That Tied Up New York for Days.

Twenty-five years ago to-day New York was paralyzed in the grip of the worst storm it had ever known—the great blizzard of 1888. Snow began to fall on the evening of Sunday, March 11, and for the next three days the city was completely snow-bound. Every horsecar and elevated train was at a standstill. Only a few trains entered or left the city, the telephone and telegraph systems passed temporarily out of existence, and, with food supplies shut off, there was some fear of a famine.

Every time there has been a big storm since then it has been measured up beside the blizzard of 1888. The storms have not been as heavy.

Boys walked across the East River after the blizzard and the storm story occupied many pages of the newspapers. There was literally nothing else to write about. News from Boston had to be cabled to London and back to New York before the New York newspapers could have it. Snowdrifts reached to the second-story windows, so that people could walk out from that usually dizzy eminence, a feat much performed at the time and told of later.

FEW "CONTROLLED" PAPERS.

Rev. Dr. Holmes Finds Worst Examples Among Religious Publications.

The newspaper of to-day was discussed last night at the meeting of the Robert Collyer Men's Club at the Church House of the Church of the Messiah. The meeting was opened by L. Melvin Lee, Director of the School of Journalism of New York University, who talked about the ethics of the newspaper profession. The Rev. Dr. John Haynes Holmes made a brief address which attracted interest. He expressed the belief that the policy of a newspaper was not controlled so much by the advertiser as by the owner.

The very worst example of the controlled newspaper, he said, was the religious newspaper. In that respect the religious newspaper and the non-secular paper were not to be compared. Any one who doubted his statement, he added, would quickly learn its truth if he attempted to get something into one of the religious newspapers which did not meet with the views of the owners.

The daily newspaper, Dr. Holmes said, would take a long step in the right direction when editors and reporters refused to remain in the employ of a proprietor who asked that they do work which was opposed to their convictions. To-day, he said, a newspaper sometimes experienced a complete change of policy as the result of its sale, yet the same staff would prepare it for publication.

ALDERMEN DEFEAT FILM THEATRE BILLS

JOHNSON PLEADS FOR ACTION

Legislation Badly Needed to Regulate the New Houses, Says Fire Commissioner.

The ordinance of Alderman Folks for the regulation of moving-picture theatres failed of passage in the board yesterday, as also did the several other ordinances of a similar nature, after the Aldermen had wrangled for several hours. The vote was 32 in favor of the Folks ordinance to 26 against. Forty votes are required for the passage of an ordinance.

Alderman Nicoll's bill providing for a censorship was disposed of first. Mr. Nicoll wanted his ordinance coupled with that of a structural ordinance, but the Tammany members objected strenuously. Alderman White, who had opposed the censorship measure, surprised everybody by voting for it. The vote was 32 in favor to 26 against, and Alderman Folks called for the absentees.

"We have had enough of roll calls," objected Alderman Frank Dowling, the Tammany leader, "and I move that the roll call be discontinued on this question."

This resulted in another roll call, and the motion to call the absentees was lost. This meant that the censorship resolution was also lost.

Commissioner Johnson said that two firemen were stationed at each moving-picture theatre, and to take them away, he said, would cause an uneasy feeling among the people who were accustomed to see them there. Two years ago, he said, he reported to the Mayor that all galleries should be done away with, except in cases of theatres with exterior exits from the galleries. Certain places, he said, had been built since his report, which should come under better regulation.

"I want to say," the Commissioner went on, "that the general situation regarding these new places is bad, and the only power I have under the law to close these places is the police law. We need legislation very much. The Mayor is in favor of the Folks ordinance, and so am I. There are a few mistakes in the ordinance, in my opinion, but I am in favor of its spirit. I earnestly hope that this body will enact as soon as possible laws governing the moving-picture houses."

It was then moved that the minority report be voted on as a substitute for the Folks ordinance. The vote was 28 in favor of it to 27 against. The Folks ordinance then came up and was defeated, and upon Alderman Folks's motion it was made a special order of business for next week. The Alderman said he felt sure that it would be passed then.

30,000 More Garment Workers Yield.

The dissatisfied workers on men's and boys' garments, who refused to accept the terms of settlement made more than a week ago under which the strike was declared off, voted yesterday to return to work to-day under a new agreement. This agreement was reached through Marcus M. Marks and Dr. J. L. Magnus, two of the men who brought about the settlement which some of the strikers refused to accept. About 30,000 will return to work.

Expert Points Out Need of More Individual Help—Finds Many American Children Lacking Accuracy.

American-born children of American parentage, with the most favorable conditions of home surroundings, do not excel children of foreign parentage in school ability, according to the report of Stuart A. Courtis, in a second installment, to be made public to-day by the Committee on School Inquiry of the Board of Estimate, which employed him, as one of eleven educational experts, to investigate the New York public school system. Mr. Courtis put more than 33,000 school children of this city to standard tests in arithmetic in the course of his investigation. Two "Jewish," one "German," two "Italian," and two "American" elementary schools were picked for the tests. The two "American" schools were chosen as having children of the most favored conditions. The children in these two schools, he found, stood high in neither speed nor accuracy. The children in the "German" schools were slow in speed and high in accuracy. In general, the children of foreign parentage, while poor in number work unrelated to practical problems, did no worse than those of the "American" schools, indicating that language difficulty had little effect on this type of work.

"Whereas the American children were found to be below standard in speed and accuracy in abstract work," says Mr. Courtis, "in reasoning the situation was different. Here the familiarity with the language allowed the Americans to excel, both in speed and in accuracy. The children of foreign parents are consistently below in both these abilities."

In order to determine the ability of the employe in a low-salaried position, and to indicate a method to the Board of Education whereby it could learn whether these schools are preparing their pupils to meet the demands of the business man, Mr. Courtis tried his tests on fifty employes in a New York department store, under precisely the same conditions as the tests were performed on the public school children. The tests for abstract arithmetic work, Mr. Courtis found, showed that in general a child obtaining the standard scores for these tests would have at least an average equipment with which to enter upon business life. The results in the reasoning tests were uniform and quite low, conforming with the low scores in reasoning obtained from all the large school systems.

Mr. Courtis compared commercial and general high schools by means of his standard arithmetic tests. He found that the commercial high schools affected boys more than girls in certain arithmetic abilities. The boys in the commercial high schools showed no greater development in speed of work than they would have done had they taken the other course, while the girls showed less. In accuracy, however, there was quite a gain; half of the boys and one third the girls were more accurate than they would have been had they not taken the commercial work.

Whether or not the present course of study is better adapted to the needs of girls than boys, as suggested by Dr. Bachmann, one of the other experts, in his report on non-promotion, may, according to Mr. Courtis, be determined statistically by a series of experimental trials following the method outlined in this report. The higher averages of girls over boys indicate the necessity to consider at least the question of sex differences in planning the course of study.

Mr. Courtis found the present system of grading in the schools utterly defective.

Comparing pupils of private schools with those in the public schools, Mr. Courtis found a great difference in results as to accuracy, abstract work, and reasoning. Private pupils showed low scores in drill and abstract work, but high scores in reasoning and an unusual degree of accuracy. The exact reverse was true of the public school pupils.

Mr. Courtis recommends that systematic experimental work in testing and measurements be undertaken for the purpose of securing definite information of the number of factors on which efficiency depends. Specifically he recommends that systematic efforts be made in the following directions:

> To determine what features of the child's past and present social and mental life react on school work and how they can be controlled.
> That a study be made of the relation between the race, nationality, and social conditions of children and their scores and growths in standard tests.
>
> That a special study be made of the relation between physical and mental growth as measured by standard tests, so that if the two are related the proper adjustments may be made in school programmes.
> That systematic study and examination of individual children leaving school to go to work be carried on for several years, both that the needs of the different classes of children may be determined and that the changes following the close of the school work may be measured.
> That one or two teachers be placed in a school without assigning them to regular work, and that these teachers be required to devote all their time to work with individuals sent to them from any class for help on particular points. It is recommended that the efficiency of this scheme be measured.
>
> That the best method of developing both speed and accuracy in abstract work should also be determined experimentally. Four separate groups of children should be tested, 12,000 in each group, and that one group should be used as a "control" and should carry out the regular work, without change of any kind. Comparisons of the growths recorded in the other groups which have made formal preparation with that of the "control" group would afford a reasonably accurate measure of the efficiency of the arithmetic work in the elementary school. This plan is now being tried out in the Boston schools under the supervision of Mr. Courtis.
> That the foregoing experimental tests be controlled by the Bureau of Investigation and Appraisal recommended in the report of Prof. Elliott. The experimental work of this nature, already undertaken by many cities in this country, suggests that New York City is not making the most of its wonderful opportunities to profit by similar work.

In conclusion, the expert emphasizes as the vital import of his investigation that "in spite of the expenditure of millions of dollars annually, in spite of hours of labor and years of effort, the gross inefficiency of present conditions is caused by a lack of exact knowledge of conditions acted upon and effects produced."

FOR COMFORT IN THE COURT.

Justice Page Calls Down an Attendant Who Called Down a Witness.

Dr. Albert C. Rice of Babylon, L. I., was called yesterday to give expert testimony before Supreme Court Justice Page in the case of Miss Dora Kane, who is suing to recover $15,000 damages from Charles A. Cowan for injuries received in falling down an unprotected coal chute in front of the defendant's Fifth Avenue home. On the stand the physician assumed an easy and comfortable posture, with his hands thrust in his pockets and his legs crossed. An attendant noticed this pose, and, approaching the stand, whispered a few words to the physician which made him immediately assume a rigid attitude. Justice Page, noticing the sudden change and the doctor's evident embarrassment, demanded of the attendant what he had said to the witness.

"I merely told him, your Honor," he replied, "that it was not customary in this court for a witness to cross his legs and put his hands in his pockets."

"Never do that again," said the Justice. "Let the witness sit as he pleases. We want the witnesses in this court to be as comfortable as possible. There is certainly no harm in a man putting his hands in his own pockets."

As the laugh following the jurist's last words subsided, Dr. Rice gradually settled into his former posture.

KOHLER CASE MYSTIFIES.

Father Seeks Discharge of Young Men Held for Assaulting Son.

The mystery surrounding the assault upon Harold Kohler, son of Charles S. Kohler, a wealthy real estate dealer, who was ejected from Healy's restaurant at Columbus Avenue and Sixty-ninth Street early on Sunday morning, and taken to Bellevue Hospital suffering from a fractured skull, was not cleared up yesterday afternoon, when Chester Christie and Alexander J. Shehan, who were with Kohler when he was injured, were arraigned before Magistrate Harris in the west side court.

Kohler's father had promised some startling exposures, and said he would name the man who really assaulted his son. Instead, however, he confined himself to an effort to obtain the release of the defendants, who are charged with felonious assault. Young Kohler probably will recover. Pending change in his condition, Magistrate Harris held the defendants in $1,000 bail each for a hearing on March 25. The father testified in court:

"I saw the doctor who is in charge of my son not an hour ago. He said to me: 'Tell the Judge your son is likely to have brain fever, and is in a very serious condition. The trouble is at the base of the brain, and under the most favorable circumstances it will be a week before he is out of danger.' My son has assured me, and also assured his mother, that neither of the young men under arrest hit him, and I will do everything possible to have these defendants discharged."

After leaving the courtroom Mr. Kohler said to reporters:

"I want to wait until my boy gets well or passes away. Then I want these boys discharged. After that there will be something done that will prove interesting."

Sheehan said he and Christie ran out of Healy's when the trouble started. He knew who hit Kohler, he said, and he heard some one call "get the gang." He was ready to tell all about the trouble in the restaurant, but Kohler's father advised him not to talk.

STRAUS TRUSTS BRYAN.

Says He Will Put Through Peace Treaties Taft Proposed.

Oscar Straus, former Ambassador to Turkey, paid a tribute to Secretary of State William J. Bryan yesterday on board the Hamburg-American liner Cincinnati before sailing to Algiers.

"Mr. Bryan has the vision of a Jefferson and the diplomacy of a Hay," said Mr. Straus. "As Secretary of State he will be in a position to carry out his ideals, which will benefit the country. Mr. Bryan is one of the world's greatest figures in the work for arbitration. He will put through the peace treaties proposed by Mr. Taft."

Mr. Straus, who was accompanied by his wife, said he was going to Italy after Algiers and then north to The Hague to attend the dedication of the Peace Palace in June, and did not expect to return to this country until September. In his opinion the war talk in Europe was merely due to the circulation of rumors by different nations anxious to secure bigger appropriations for their armies and navies.

WANT TO CLOSE VICTORIA.

Owners Plan to Build Twenty-Story Building on Old Hotel Site.

Negotiations are pending for the cancellation of the lease held by George W. Sweeney and the American Hotel Company on the Victoria Hotel, Broadway and Twenty-seventh Street, and the turning over of the property to the Johnson-Kahn syndicate of operators who bought it in June, 1911.

Mr. Sweeney controls the lease of the hotel until August, 1914, and is trying to arrange with his sub-tenants so that the property may be turned over to the owners at once. If this is accomplished, the owners will begin tearing down the hotel early in April, and on the site will build a twenty-story commercial building costing about $1,500,000, for which plans were filed some time ago.

'MALOOM,' MOORS TOLD MAJOR

Linguist Burke Said "All Right" and Took Them to Trenton.

The Cunard liner Caronia arrived yesterday from Alexandria, Egypt, with 78 first, 475 second cabin, and about 1,900 steerage passengers from Italian ports. The most picturesque were six dignified looking Moors, from Tetuan, Morocco, where the famous boots are made.

They were met at the pier by Major John W. Burke, the famous linguist, showman, plainsman and author of "How the American Indian Originally Came from Wales," and other books. The Major explained in the Mogharibi tongue that he had come to meet them and escort them to the Wild West camp at Trenton.

"Tyib, maloon, hawadja kibeer," said the Moorish leader. In English that means, "Good, let it be so, stout gentleman." The Moors packed their tents and wrapped their bernous around them and stalked gravely after the Major, who said the show would open in Philadelphia on April 3, and follow the circus at the Garden in New York.

SLEUTH GETS $1,100 VERDICT

County Detective Cassidy Compromises Suit for Injuries.

County Detective James Cassidy of Queens and a brother of Joseph Cassidy, ex-President of that borough, received $1,100 in settlement of a $10,000 suit for damages yesterday from the Brooklyn Heights Railway Company.

A year ago, while crossing from Greenpoint into Hunter's Point on a shuttle car which runs across Newtown Creek bridge, Detective Cassidy's right hand and arm were injured by being caught in a seat which the conductor was reversing as he went through the car. The injury was such that Cassidy was compelled to withdraw from the competing teams of the Ravenwood Club and give up rowing altogether. Soon after the suit was put on trial yesterday before Justice Scudder a juror was withdrawn and a settlement effected.

DENIES INJUNCTION TO BAR HER RIVAL

Court Holds Mrs. Hall Waited Too Long Before Taking Action Against Husband's Affinity.

NO BASIS FOR SUIT, HE SAYS

Hall Asserts You Can't Sue for Loss of Affection When There Isn't Any to Alienate.

Efforts of Mrs. Ella M. Hall, wife of Charles M. Hall, an insurance broker, with offices at 64 Wall Street, to win back her husband by having the courts enjoin Mrs. Emma S. Sith of 130 Lexington Avenue from alienating his affections failed yesterday when Justice Benedict of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, refused to issue an injunction to Mrs. Hall.

Mrs. Hall has made repeated efforts in the past six years to cure her husband of his infatuation for her rival. On Feb. 27 she filed an affidavit in her alienation suit in which she alleged that Mrs. Smith had controlled her husband's affections since the Summer of 1906, but she delayed seeking relief from the courts until last month. According to Justice Benedict, it was this delay, as well as her failure to show that she had suffered civil injuries by the estrangement of her husband, that lost her the relief she sought through an injunction.

Concerning the issuance of injunctions, Justice Benedict said:

> Injunctions do not issue to prevent acts merely because they are immoral or illegal or criminal, but only in case the plaintiff's civil rights are being invaded. In this case the gravamen of the charge made by the plaintiff is an act which occurred in or about July 9, 1906. It is alleged as being at that time a completed act of alienation, since which date her husband has not lived with or shown any love or affection to the plaintiff herein, but has lived with and continues to live with the said defendant, and he has refused to come back to the plaintiff.

Mrs. Hall has started a suit to recover $25,000 damages from Mrs. Smith for alienating her husband's affections. Justice Benedict in his decision questions whether she can maintain this suit "after the lapse of six years from the date of the alleged alienation."

In behalf of Mrs. Smith, the defendant in the alienation suit, Mr. Hall, husband of the plaintiff, submits an affidavit, in which he says that when he stopped living with his wife his "feeling toward her was such that there was no affection left which anyone could possibly alienate from her."

"If this be shown on the trial to have been the fact," says Justice Benedict, "the difficulties in the way of the plaintiff would seem to be well-night insuperable."

SULTAN OF TURKEY SUES HERE

Claims $10,000 of Tavshanjian Estate for Ottoman Treasury.

The Sultan of Turkey, through his local lawyer, George S. Kebabian of 60 Wall Street, applied yesterday to Supreme Court Justice Davis to vacate an order requiring him to furnish bonds in a suit he brought against the estate of Hovannes S. Tavshanjian, a rug merchant who was murdered on July 22, 1907, as the result of a Hunchakist plot.

The Sultan is trying to get possession of $10,000 which was willed to Tavshanjian's mother, a Turkish subject. She died before her son. Under Turkish law, the Sultan asserted, the bequest should go into the Ottoman Treasury. Under New York law the bequest would go into the residuary estate for division among the legatees entitled thereto.

The executors of the estate, as one step in resisting the Sultan's efforts to get the money, pleaded that he was a nonresident and must furnish a bond to secure payment of the costs. The Sultan's application is based on a contention that his Consul General, Djelal Munef Bey, was his personal representative and costs might be collected from him. Justice Davis reserved decision.

The Largest Specialty Rug House in America.

Country Rugs for the Cottage or Mansion

ONE house must lead in everything—and to keep that leadership it must have a purpose from which it does not depart.

The approach of country-house weather recalls the Wild leadership in country-house rugs.

Our purpose has been, and is, to be as fully prepared to furnish the house of a great country estate, or a modest bungalow in the hills or by the sea, with appropriate and tasteful floor coverings, as we are to similarly equip a Fifth Avenue residence.

The difference in these rug requirements is as great as the difference in the size and architecture of the houses themselves.

Wide experience with the owners of country places who are careful to preserve rug harmonies in the great halls, spacious living rooms, sleeping chambers, and even on the verandas of their out-of-town houses, has been our teacher.

As a result we have known what to select and what to avoid—how to assemble both Oriental and domestic country-house rugs which by their atmosphere add to the comfort and restfulness of country or suburban homes.

These assortments, we believe, are unequalled.

Four Large Country House Orientals

Here are two unusually large Kermanshahs—rugs particularly appropriate for the country, because of their soothingly cool colorings and generally refreshing effect. One is 22 by 40 feet, the other 26.2 by 39.2 feet.

Two beautiful Masheds of extraordinary size are also on our floors. One 27.1 by 40.2 feet, the other 23.8 by 37.2 feet.

Full Assortment of Nirastan Rugs

Pure Orientals with Chinese patterns, in light greens, cool golds and blues, for country sleeping chambers, dining and drawing rooms. From $175 to $600.

Feraghans in room sizes, from $75 up, and a great number of effective Ispahans and Kurdistans.

Smaller Orientals for the here-and-there places from $12 up.

Effective Bungalow Rugs

The Cresson, a rug of aristocratic plainness, can be made to order in any solid color and any size, with two-tone border: very reasonable in price.

Cape Cod Grass Rugs, for porches—a rich, sunbleached green; from $1.25 for mat size to $11 for one 11 by 13.9 feet.

Wild's Cliffside Rugs, pure wool, resembling Navajo Blankets; from $8 to $80.

Scotch Art Rugs, in twenty-six delicate tints and well planned borders; 3 by 6 ft., $1.75, up to 9 x 12 ft., $27.50.

JIM THORPE MAKES LONGEST HIT IN WORLD

That's What McGraw Said When Ball Went Out of Reach of Every Giant Fielder.

Special to The New York Times.

MARLIN, Texas, March 11.—With McGraw, Evers and Herzog taking turns at umpiring and with "monkey shines" in the latter part of the game, the Giant regulars beat the second team 9 to 3 this afternoon. The results of the second inning put the second team out of the running. The regulars fell on Pitcher Kirby for eight hits and eight runs, of which total of hits Doyle made two two-baggers and Murray two singles.

Kirby's arm is not in shape yet, and though it worked all right for one inning there was not enough speed to hold the regulars long, and they jolted it for keeps in the second inning. The game was close enough, excepting that one inning.

Goulait blanked the second team for three innings and Mathewson pitched the remaining six. That was the longest continuous service any pitcher has done so far. Matty didn't exert himself more than to put the ball over the plate. Wiltse did good work in three innings.

James Thorpe let fly with a home run, which McGraw cried out was the longest hit in the world, the drive being made off Matty. The ball went sailing to the left field fence, which is a long distance out. It hopped over a far away tennis court, and the Indian scored in a romp. Thorpe also distinguished himself on a fielding chance, making a large fat muff of a fly ball. Robertson, with a pair of clever foul catches, Shafer with all-round fielding and Herzog with a rattling catch off the ground of a hot liner were the best on the defense.

In the sixth inning Wiltse batted out of turn and Groh, who was out because of the pitcher's misdemeanor, was much distressed. A freak ball was called on Wiltse. He picked up one of the balls behind the box and pitched it with another ball still in play. "But the umpire handed me the wrong ball," explained Wiltse. Joe Evers was umpiring at the time and informed Wiltse that he shouldn't have pitched it.

Mathewson stood in position on the rubber without a ball in his hand, and a balk was called on him. That brought a demurrer from Matty. "I can stand in position to pitch without the ball in my hand so long as I don't make a motion to pitch," he declared. "An umpire told me last year I could." There is nothing in the rule to contradict Mathewson's assertion, but the contest developed a tendency toward kidding.

The same line-ups as yesterday obtained except that Chief Meyers was back at his post after a week's absence, and caught for the first team. It was a good day for work, and in the morning bunting and fielding bunts were in order. The score by innings:

DAUBERTS WIN AGAIN.

Capt. Jake's Team Find Little Trouble in Vanquishing Dahlenites.

Special to The New York Times.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 11.—Manager Dahlen cut this afternoon's game to seven innings so as to give the players a short workout before and after the game. The morning session was short on account of the damp grass in the outfield after last night's rain.

Capt. Jake Daubert's team, which had been defeated by the Dahlens four times in succession, turned the trick again this afternoon by winning easily 5 to 3.

Allen and Curtis, who pitched for the Dauberts yesterday, were on the winning side again to-day. Allen went the first four innings and Curtis finished. Allen held the Dahlens to five hits and Curtis to two. Rucker and "Rube" Hall were touched for eight hits, seven of them being made off Rucker in five innings. J. Carlisle Smith, who gathered in four hits in yesterday's game, made a single and a triple this afternoon, scoring three of the runs made by the winners. Kirkpatrick, Moran, Callahan, and Dahlen also hit for half the route. Shortstop Fisher got into the game at short field for the first time, but had very little to do.

Young Callahan played a good all-round game for the Dahlens again. His three put-outs were all on long, hard drives, which he handled cleanly. In addition to this he contributed a two-base hit and scored a run.

Several of the players are complaining of soreness, and one or two slight cases of "Charley horse" have made their appearance.

The date for the game with Ty Cobb's all Georgians has been changed again. Manager Dahlen received word from Cobb late last night that owing to a slight mix-up over a game he had scheduled with the University of Georgia at Athens, it would make it necessary to play the game next Saturday instead of March 17.

EMPIRE LEAGUE REJECTED.

New York Organization Denied Protection from National Association.

AUBURN, N. Y., March 11.—Secretary John H. Farrell of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues today announced the formation of two new leagues which have received protection from the National Association. They are the Southern California Association, composed of San Diego, Pasadena, Long Beach, and San Bernardino, and the Empire State League, composed of Brunswick, Waycross, Americus, Thomasville, Cordele, and Valdosta, Ga. Both qualified in Class "D."

Regarding the refusal of the National Board to grant protection to the Empire League recently formed in Central New York, Secretary Farrell said:

"On the list of proposed club owners of the Empire League are the names of some men who were identified with the Ohio-Pennsylvania League last year. The National Board and the National Commission both determined last November not to grant protection to any league with which these men were identified."

New League to Meet To-day.

Mayor R. M. Cox of Middletown, President of the New York and New Jersey Baseball League, announced yesterday that he had called a meeting of the Directors of the league to be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Hotel Cadillac. At this meeting, it was said, a constitution for the recently organized league will be adopted, and possibly a playing schedule drawn up. Long Branch will be formally admitted to the league to take the place of Long Island City, which recently resigned.

Athletics Win, Browns Lose.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 11.—The Philadelphia American League team to-day defeated the local Texas League club, 3 to 1. Houck, Plank, and Harrell alternated as pitchers for Philadelphia. To-morrow the Philadelphia regulars will start homeward.

WACO, Texas, March 11.—The St. Louis American League team was defeated by the local Texas League team to-day, 6 to 4. Schwenk, Stone, and Wieldman, recruits, pitched for St. Louis. Wieldman is said to be the tallest pitcher in either major league.

YANKEES' FIRST GAME.

Shut Out Jersey City Team with New York Pitchers for Skeeters.

Special to The New York Times.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 11.—Frank Chance put his Yankees through their first nine-inning game of the season here to-day—also the first of the series of exhibition games with the Jersey City team of the International League—and he had the satisfaction of seeing his charges go through the conflict in midseason form. The Yankees won by the score of 9 to 0, and the game produced many things to enthuse Manager Chance and Owner Frank J. Farrell, who was one of the spectators.

As the Jersey City pitchers have not rounded to form sufficiently to use either speed or curves Manager Chance loaned two of his pitchers to Manager Larry Schafly for the game, and both pitched fine ball. Biebahn of the Jersey City squad occupied the mound during the fifth and sixth innings, and it was in these chapters that the Yankee batsmen piled up 6 of the 9 runs scored. Schultz and Hoff of the Yankees worked in the other innings for the Skeeters, and the Yankee regulars did not do much damage to their offerings.

Manager Chance divided the pitching for his team between McConnell, Warhop, and Ford, each of these boxmen working through three innings. The Skeeters got only three hits off the trio, Ford being especially effective in the last three innings. The New York pitching star mowed down three of the Jerseyites on strikes during his term on the rubber, and did not allow anything that looked like a hit. Not one of the Skeeters reached first base while Ford took care of the pitching.

The New Yorkers showed some high-class fielding for so early in the season, and went through the game without an error. Midkiff at third base was easily the star from a fielding standpoint. Four times he made sensational stops of hard-hit grounders down the third base lane, and each time he followed up the stops with throws to first base which retired the batter. He also did some clever execution at the bat, driving out a double and a single.

The team which Chance sent against the Skeeters was a combination from the teams which have been playing here as Regulars and Yannigans. Manager Chance decided not to take active part in the hostilities, and sent Malcolm Barry, the recruit from Brockton, to cover first base, as Charley Sterrett was assigned to backstop duty during the last four innings. "Pep" Young held down second base in the absence of Hal Chace, and he also distinguished himself at the bat with a double and three singles in five times at bat.

Schultz and Hoff opened and closed the game as pitchers, for the Skeeters, and each showed form on a par with that of the three boxmen who worked for the New York team. One run was scored off each pitcher, but their support was nothing like that accorded to the New York pitching trio. Biebahn, who succeeded Schultz at the beginning of the fourth inning and gave way to Hoff at the close of the sixth, was responsible for the one-sided victory of the Yankees, as his offerings were driven to all sections of the field during his three innings of service, netting seven runs. The score:

RUBE MARQUARD TO MARRY.

Takes Out License to Wed Blossom Seeley, His Partner in Vaudeville.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—Rube Marquard, the New York pitcher, and Miss Blossom Seeley, who have been playing an engagement in vaudeville at a local theatre, to-day took out a marriage license. It is rumored that this will be Marquard's final week in vaudeville, and that he will leave in a few days for Marlin to join the other New York players. They will be married here to-morrow.

Marquard and Miss Seeley have been partners in vaudeville since a few weeks after the close of the 1912 season. Their sketch is entitled "Nineteen Straight," referring to the record run of victories which Marquard made last season before suffering his first defeat. At the time the vaudeville tour was started, Miss Seeley was the wife of Joseph Cahan, who has since obtained a divorce from the actress, who declined to contest the suit. An escapade at Atlantic City, which brought the vaudeville partners considerable undesirable notoriety, was the basis for the separation. Cahan named Marquard as co-respondent, and the pitcher is now being sued for damages. Shortly after the divorce was granted, Marquard announced his intention of marrying Miss Seeley.

Marquard has refused to make any definite assertion about his intention of joining the Giants, although he was quoted during the Winter months as making many pointed remarks about Manager McGraw and threats to retire from the game. During the last few days he has repudiated most of these interviews, but he is evidently waiting to learn what sort of a welcome is in store for him at Marlin before he decides to report. Reports from the New York training camp are that Rube will start for there early next week.

Manhattan College Baseball.

The prospects for a fast baseball team at Manhattan College are brighter than for several years. Every member of last year's team has returned to college and will go out for their old positions. It is conceded that three or four of the veterans have their positions cinched, but the others are not so fortunate, for the new material is strong and may supplant some of the veterans. Practice has been going on for several days under the supervision of Capt. "Jim" Hanley and Manager Carey and will continue under their direction until the arrival of the coach, who is expected in a few days. For battery positions Capt. Hanley and O'Connor, pitchers, and Loughran, catcher, are unbeatable. The following are out for positions as third string pitcher: Farrel, E. Ward, Staib, and O'Mara. For catcher Griffin, Tee, Dun, and Cruise are the most promising of the new men. Candidates for the infield are Draddy, Sullivan, Burchell, Suarez, (all members of last year's team,) D. Houlihan, Caffrey, Van Wagner, Norton, Bolton, and Scanlan. The outfield will be picked from Owens, Barry, Murphy, Killeen, Downing, Kelly, and Smith.

Harvard's Spring Baseball Trip.

After a week's practice in the baseball cage Frank Sexton, the Harvard baseball coach, has cut his big squad of fielders to eighteen men. All the work thus far has been in the baseball cage, and among the men retained are Hardwick and Mulholland, the football players, and Carnet, the best of the freshmen fielders last season. The plans for the Spring trip have been completed. The Crimson squad will make its headquarters in Baltimore, where it will stay a week. It will leave Cambridge on April 14 and play Johns Hopkins on the following day. Four games will be played with Jack Dunn's Baltimore team, and games will also be played with Georgetown and Annapolis. On the return trip the Harvard team will play Columbia in this city and the Cadets at West Point.

Al Sharpe Raps Basket Ball Claimants

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, March 11.—"We got what we were after when we captured intercollegiate honors. I do not care a rap about the claims of other teams," said Coach Albert H. Sharpe to-day when he was asked about the controversy raised over the Eastern intercollegiate basket ball championship, which is claimed by Union and Wesleyan, and which friends of the army and navy also think is theirs. "If Union or Wesleyan or any other teams are anxious to claim a championship, let them come into the intercollegiate league and fight out a hard schedule like the one we have been through, and win it," he said. "That's just what Cornell has been through." There is no prospect of the Cornell basket ball team playing any further games this year.

Batterman Games To-night.

Rassmussen, the Danish walker, who recently arrived in this country, has been granted special permission by the Amateur Athletic Union to compete against Gifford, the American walking star, at the Batterman Carnival in the Forty-seventh Regiment Armory to-night. Rassmussen finished fourth to Goulding at the Olympic games, and was a close second to Webb at Copenhagen in a special 1,000-meter race last August. In December he turned the tables on the pick of Europe, at the same place, in the good time of 48:05 for 10,000 meters. In the other events the best athletes in the amateur world will be seen in action. Altogether there will be twenty men who represented America at the last Olympic games. The team race should be an excellent event, having Gallagher of Georgetown and McGuire of Providence teamed against such cracks as Kramer, Scott, Jordon, Smith, Dwyer, Roth, and McGinn. The carnival attractions include a drill by the regular army and other features.

CLUB TO DECIDE YACHT CHALLENGE

Reply to Lipton's Defi for America's Cup to be Announced by N. Y. Y. C. To-day.

A special meeting of the members of the New York Yacht Club will be held this evening at the clubhouse, 37 West Forty-fourth street, to consider the challenge of Sir Thomas Lipton for the America's Cup. The challenge has been sent by the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, which was selected by the British yachtsman to act as the official medium for the challenge according to the requirements of the deed of gift of the America's Cup. Whether or not there will be a race for the blue ribbon of the yachting world depends upon the action of this meeting, as the vote on the challenge will be final.

Some doubt is expressed in certain circles as to whether the latest attempt by Sir Thomas to capture the trophy will receive official sanction, owing to the conditions which the owner of the famous Shamrocks attached to the challenge. These stipulate that the competing yachts shall not exceed seventy-five feet on the waterline, and that the best of five races shall decide the issue.

It is for the purpose of deciding these momentous questions that Dallas R. Pratt, Commodore of the New York Yacht Club, has called a special meeting. That there will be a wide difference of opinion among the members is an admitted fact. Some think that the seventy-five-foot boat is the best type of yacht that is of any use in the race, and that the day of the ninety-foot racing machine has gone. They declare that while the America's Cup stands for the supremacy of the seas, at the same time it also stands for the best thing in yachts, and that the challenge should be accepted for this reason.

There is, however, another element in the club that holds that the cup was never intended to be for racing in any specific class, such as is named by Lipton, and that the challenge should be declined on the ground that it would eliminate the best yacht ever built in this country—Reliance—and therefore the club would not be doing its duty in taking a chance against the new Shamrock, even though the members believe that boats of this size could be turned out in this country which would be as successful against the challenger as have been the larger boats in the past.

It is known that the question has been thoroughly though informally discussed by the club members during the past week, or since the challenge reached the hands of Secretary Carmack. It is pointed out that when Sir Thomas Lipton some time ago made his sugestion to the club he was told to challenge first, and then he would be answered.

Sir Thomas Lipton said one week ago, when announcing the fact that he had challenged, that he had asked for a race under the terms of the deed of gift, but in limiting the contending boats to seventy-five feet he has taken fifteen feet off the limit in the deed, which is not looked upon with favor by many members of the York Yacht Club. He also said he had challenged under the old rules, and now those who have not been let into the secret as to what is meant by the "old rules" are anxious to know whether they are as greatly modified as the length clause.

Sir Thomas said after the challenge that he and his advisers were convinced that they had a better chance of winning the cup with a boat measuring 75 feet on the water line than a longer one. This length is only one foot longer than the present Shamrock, with which Sir Thomas has been so successful in the regattas in European waters. Sir Thomas explained, however, that the challenger in other respects will be larger than the Shamrock.

The deed of gift provides that the challenger, if a sloop, may be anywhere from 65 to 90 feet on the water line. The challenger can elect to sail on any water line length within the designated limits of 65 and 90 feet, and the defender has the same right, and the larger craft incurs a penalty of time allowance. By the deed of gift Sir Thomas can challenge with a 65-foot boat if he desires, and the New York Yacht Club can meet him off Sandy Hook with a 90-footer, though the defender would of course be compelled to give a heavy time allowance.

YACHTS FOR NEW YORKERS.

Nine 46-Foot Knockabouts Being Built for N. Y. Y. C. Racing.

BRISTOL, R. I., March 11.—The fleet of nine 46-foot knockabout, bald-headed sloops, which is being turned out here for prominent members of the New York Yacht Club, is now regarded as a possible stepping stone for the aspirations of those members for the America's cup defending honors in a larger class next year.

Five of the new sloops are now afloat and the other four are fast nearing completion. The owners announced to-day for the first time are: Vice Commodore George F. Baker, Jr., Rear Commodore J. P. Morgan, Jr., Ralph N. Ellis, Harry Payne Whitney, Pembroke Jones, Edmund Randolph, August Heckscher, William Earl Dodge, and Howard W. Maxwell.

The new boats follow closely the fashion of the Dorello II. and the Medora, built last year by George L. Batchelder of Boston, and H. G. S. Noble of New York, respectively. They are "knockabout" in that they have no bowsprit, and "bald-headed," because of the short topmast which is capable of swinging only a small club topsail. Both the Dorello II. and the Medora proved to be very fast both on and off the wind besides being comfortable and easy to handle.

The fleet will be in commission by May, and it is expected that the craft will participate in the June races on Long Island Sound, and later come around Cape Cod for the cruise of the Eastern Yacht Club.

Local yachtsmen believe that some of these owners will be found among the builders for the honor of defending the America's cup in 1914, if Sir Thomas Lipton's latest challenge is accepted. It is pointed out that the skippers of the 46-foot sloops may become so proficient in handling them during the coming Summer that some of them will wish to match their skill and seamanship next year in 75-foot sloops against professionals.

TO PROTEST OFFICIALS.

Fencers' League Suspends Foilsman Who "Cussed" the Judges.

Members of the Executive Committee of the Amateur Fencers' League of America last night at a special meeting at the New York Athletic Club, Fifty-ninth Street and Central Park South, took a decided stand in protecting the officials at the league competitions. There has been a growing disposition on the part of the contestants to take issue with the judges. During the competition for the junior foil championship at the New York Turn Verein on March 5, Louis Bresson of the French Young Men's Christian Association was disqualified for using improper language to the judges.

Secretary W. Scott O'Connor of the Amateur Fencers' League reported the offense to the committee, and Bresson was suspended from competition during the season of 1913. This suspension will be reported to all the divisions in the league, where it will be recognized as binding.

The case of Studiford Pitt, Jr., of the Fencers' Club, who was accused of throwing the last bout to his clubmate, in order that the latter might obtain second medal in the tournament for the junior foil championship, was discussed, but as the league officials acted at the time of the violation, it was decided not to take further action.

Whitestone Y. C. Loses Its Float.

Members of the Whitestone Yacht Club have been unable to locate their float and gangway, which disappeared from the club dock a week ago during one of the heavy seas. Several boatmen have hunted for it, but not the slightest trace has been found of it. The float was heavy and might do damage to any vessel should it strike it while traveling at high speed. The members are anxious to find their lost float, which was a gift of the late Capt. Merritt, one of their early Commodores. It is easily recognized from the fact that the gangway is attached to it.

AUTO POLO IN LONDON.

American Promoter to Introduce Sport to Britishers.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, March 11.—Richard Klegin, an American promoter, who introduced prizefighting in France, arrived to-day on the steamer Mauretania and commenced negotiations for motor polo games in London during the coming season. He purposes to bring over the eight participants from the games held in Madison Square Garden.

Klegin says he has several English backers, who believe Londoners will be interested in this thrilling and dangerous sport, and has already contracted with American motorists who are ready to sacrifice life and limb. He says the contests will occur either in the Olympia or at the Shepherd's Bush Stadium, probably in May.

Klegin is also bringing two semi-professional baseball teams from Philadelphia to Paris in April to introduce the American National game in France.

NATIONAL RELIABILITY RUN.

Automobilists to Start from Minneapolis, Probably Going West.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 11.—The National reliability run of the American Automobile Association for 1913 is to start from Minneapolis, according to information made public here to-day. The association's trophy will be sent here for exhibition, as will also the Glidden trophy. The route is to be selected by the Minneapolis organization. It is proposed to route the tour via the Yellowstone National and Glacier Parks.

PIPING ROCK POLO CLUB.

New Combination Will Include Two Members of Cooperstown.

The Cooperstown first polo team has disbanded and the members will play on the Piping Rock and Meadow Brook second teams. During the past two seasons the Cooperstown four, composed of C. Perry Beadleston, F. S. Von Stade, P. Rumsey, and Malcolm Stevenson, made an enviable record and was considered one of the strongest teams on the field. The four captured many prizes during the two seasons of play.

P. Rumsey and Malcolm Stevenson will form the nucleus of the second Meadow Brook team, while C. P. Beadleston and F. S. Von Stade, together with J. B. Thomas and Louis E. Stoddart, will represent the Piping Rock Club. Thomas and Stoddart were formerly members of the New Haven Club, now out of existence.

Long Island Polo Team Wins.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 11.—Polo play ended at Camden to-day for the Citizens' Cup and begins to-morrow for the cups offered by Godfrey Preece of New York. The concluding game resulted in a victory for the Long Island Club of New York over the Camden Freebooters by a score of 8¾ to 1½. The fast play that enabled the Freebooters to defeat the army men Monday was lacking in the exhibition to-day. Boyer and Witherall were out of the Camden line-up, thus weakening the team. To-morrow another Camden team will play the Eleventh Cavalry team of Fort Oglethorpe.

DANKELMAN WINS AGAIN.

New York Billiardist Defeats McCourt in Inter-City Series.

The second game of the three-game series at three-cushion carrom billiards, between New York and Pittsburgh, was decided last night at Doyle's Billiard Academy, between John Dankelman of New York and James McCourt, the Pittsburgh representative, and after eighty-seven innings of close playing, the local cueist was returned the winner by the score of 50 to 47, making his second consecutive victory over McCourt.

As in the first game, the visiting player started with a rush, and soon had piled up a big lead. The nineteenth inning found McCourt leading, after tallying a high run of 6 points, with the score of 24 to 17. Dankelman played determinedly, however, and steadily began to decrease his opponent's lead until in the forty-second inning, the local player duplicated McCourt's earlier feat, and ran out a string of 6 points, before he missed a shot. This run tied the score at 38 points all.

The closing innings were productive of some exciting moments, and the lead continually alternated. The Pittsburgh representative received an unfortunate setback in his last time at the table. McCourt had just accomplished a splendid "reverse" shot, and was in a fair way to have the balls "set-up" for his next shot when they "kissed," and probably cost the visiting player the game. Dankelman tallied his fiftieth point on his next trip to the table and won with a three-point advantage.

The concluding game of the series will be decided this evening. McCourt and Dankelman again being opponents.

Dinner for Billiard Winners.

At the Imperial Hotel in Brooklyn last night a dinner was tendered to the contestants and friends of those who took part in the recent amateur handicap 18.2 balkline billiard tournament at Keeney's Billiard Academy in Brooklyn. About forty persons were present, including some of the most prominent amateur billiardists in the metropolitan district, and among them were Ferdinand Poggenberg, Edward Gardner, and George Brown. Dr. H. D. Jennings, who won the tournament, with a record of six victories and one defeat, was presented with a stickpin, consisting of a pearl surrounded with diamonds. Joseph Mayer, the Philadelphia expert, who finished second, with five wins and two defeats, also received a stickpin, a sapphire surrounded with diamonds. The winner of third place, Charles P. Conway, was awarded a diamond pin, and Charles E. White, who finished fourth, received a pair of cuff links with diamonds in the middle.

All-American Hockey Team.

In selecting a hockey team of all-American stars to play the best amateur team in Canada no favor is shown, and invariably the players chosen are the ones who have filled the various positions most acceptably upon the teams competing in the Amateur Hockey League championship tournament. Cornelius Fellowes of the St. Nicholas Rink management, who arranges such a game every year, as a post-season hockey attraction and who is a qualified judge of a hockey player's merits, has this year selected the following named players to represent an all-American team: Goal, Lewis, Hockey Club; point, Browne, Crescent A. C.; cover point, Du Fresne, Crescent A. C.; rover, Morgan, St. Nicholas; centre, MacDonnell, Irish-American A. C.; right wing, Britton, Hockey Club; left wing, Chew, St. Nicholas.

The choice of rover is really divided between Morgan of St. Nicholas, and "Hobey" Baker, the brilliant Princeton player, and Mr. Fellowes asked Baker to join the team, which he is willing to do with the approval of the Princeton faculty.

The Canadian selection will probably fall upon the all-stars of Winnipeg, which recently defeated the Victorias of Winnipeg in a series of games for the Allan Cup, emblematic of the amateur championship of Canada.

Junior A. A. U. Games at Far Hills.

The Junior Metropolitan Association Track and Field Championship Committee at a meeting recently voted the junior championships for 1913 to the Far Hills Athletic Club, to be held at Far Hills, N. J., on Saturday afternoon, June 28.

TRACK MANAGERS PLAN EARLY RACING

Belmont Park May Open New York Racing Season on Memorial Day.

Race track managers are preparing plans for an early resumption of thoroughbred horse racing on courses in the metropolitan district. It is understood that the opening meeting will be held at Belmont Park, and that a programme is now being prepared for the Westchester Racing Association, which owns that course, and within a short time it is expected that it will be made public.

In view of the agitation among the opponents of racing, the track managers are secretive as to their plans. A meeting was held yesterday at the offices of the Saratoga Association for the Improvement of the Breed of Horses, 6 East Forty-sixth Street, when many of the details for the coming season were discussed. It was attended by August Belmont, James Butler, Philip J. Dwyer, and W. A. Engeman. Fred Rehberger, who frames the racing programmes for a number of the associations; A. E. Earlocher of the Saratoga Association, and V. E. Schaumburg, secretary of the Coney Island Jockey Club, were also within the call of the meeting.

The meeting was held behind locked doors, and a guard was posted in the corridor to insure even greater privacy. When it adjourned, the four track representatives said that there was nothing of importance to give out, and Mr. Dwyer added that it was a very troublesome question.

The presence of Mr. Engeman at the conference was a surprise. He is the President and controlling factor of the Brighton Beach Racing Association, and in the various plans that have been put forward for the coming season Brighton Beach has never been seriously considered. There has been no horse racing over the Brighton Beach track since 1908. The following season dates were alloted the association on its application, but there was no racing. Since that time the track has been put to various uses, and it was generally considered that it had entirely disappeared from the New York racing map. It would now appear that Mr. Engeman wants his track properly recognized in any plans that may be made for the resumption of racing.

There are some of the race track Directors who still advocate waiting until the Court of Appeals decides the Shane betting case, but they are in the minority, and in the mean time the season preparations are going forward. Richard T. Wilson, President of the Saratoga Association, has said that he would conduct a meeting at his track in August, and it is known that others controlling the sport on Long Island are very much in favor of opening the season at Belmont Park, May 30. It has been argued that such a date would launch the sport with a big holiday crowd and give it the send off that is so greatly desired.

Attorneys have been consulted on the rights of the racing associations under the ruling that makes oral betting legal, and at the same time relieves the Directors of criminal liability, and every obstacle to the proper resumption of the sport has been carefully considered.

At the meeting yesterday, the tracks that were represented were Belmont Park, Yonkers, Gravesend, Aqueduct, and Brighton Beach, while it is probable that Saratoga and others were taken care of by proxies. It had been announced before the conference that a meeting of the track Directors was not possible for the reason that many of them were out of the city, but it would appear that this was a ruse in order that the meeting might be held as secretly as possible.

With the exception of the Metropolitan Jockey Club, of which W. H. Reynolds is President, the Directors of all of the licensed tracks in New York have met since the decision of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in the Shane case. At the previous meeting Andrew Miller, Secretary of the Saratoga Association, attended, and, with the meeting yesterday, practically all of them have been heard from. Mr. Reynolds has been quoted as saying that he wanted his track declared in with any of the plans, so that now it would seem that all remaining to be done is the agreement on a division of the racing time.

McElwee, the 1912 winner from Onwentsia, playing Walter Fairbanks of Denver, many times a winner of big Florida events, in the thirty-six-hole final to-morrow. McElwee had a close call with George G. IN BOXER'S TRAINING CAMP.

Bombardier Wells Shows Visitors Stunts in Preparing for Smith.

Up at Dal Hawkins's roadhouse in Westchester Bombardier Billy Wells, the English heavyweight champion boxer, is going through a strenuous course of training in preparation for his ten-round bout with Gunboat Smith at Madison Square Garden on Friday night. Wells is very businesslike even in his training, so much so that he draws the line against the ordinary eight and ten ounce gloves, so common in training camps, and uses gloves of the five or six ounce variety. As a result, sparring partners, or the scarcity of these necessary adjuncts to a boxer in training, cause Wells the greatest amount of worry.

Jack McFarland, the Long Island City heavyweight, who has seen considerable service in local rings, is employed as Wells's partner, and yesterday afternoon he boxed three rounds with the English champion during the latter's workout. In the second round Wells landed a left swing on McFarland and the big Irishman, who weighs more than 200 pounds, was the victim of a clean knockdown. Wells helped him to his feet and was very careful about his swings during the remainder of the bout.

The English champion said yesterday that he weighed 195 pounds, at which figure he expects to climb into the ring Friday night. This is almost seven pounds more than he weighed when he boxed Al Palzer at the Garden last Summer. A crowd of about 100 people, including a delegation of newspaper men, saw Wells go through an hour of hard work at Hawkins's gymnasium yesterday afternoon, and all were impressed with the superb condition of the Englishman.

At the same gymnasium where Wells is getting into shape for his bout with Smith, Abe Attell is preparing for his come-back into the ring, which is scheduled for next week at the Forty-fourth Street Sporting Club, against Ollie Kirke of St. Louis. It was Kirke who caused Abie to give up during the progress of a bout in the West several weeks ago. Abe boxed six hard rounds yesterday with Special Delivery Hirsch, who is far from a novice at the game, and the ex-champion clearly showed that he retains much of the boxing ability that gained him so much fame. It has often been said that Attell was negligent in his training, but that cannot be said of the ex-champion now.

PACKEY MAY ACCEPT.

McFarland-Ritchie Boxing Match May Be Arranged Soon.

The interview which Willie Ritchie gave out at Chicago on Monday that he would give Packey McFarland first chance at the title, if the stockyards boy would make 133 pounds six hours before the battle, has set Packey thinking and a match on those terms in the near future is not an impossibility. Packey makes no pretensions at being able to make 133 pounds ringside, but that six-hour proposition has an inviting sound to it.

McFarland will remain in New York until Saturday when he will sail for Bermuda for a visit of two weeks with Manager Frank Chance of the Yankees. Packey is a close friend of the Peerless Leader, and is also a baseball player of considerable ability. He plans to get out in uniform and limber up with the Yankees while on the island.

The twenty-round route in vogue at Los Angeles would suit Packey perfectly for a match with Ritchie and the bout, if arranged, will probably go there. It would be McFarland's first bout with a lightweight champion since he took up boxing more than eight years ago, although four different boxers have held the title since then. This fact also makes the proposition appeal strongly to the Chicagoan.

McFarland makes no secret of the fact that he is tired of the boxing game, with its necessary travel and strenuous training. He figures that three more bouts will be about enough to satisfy him for all time, and nothing would please him more than to get one chance at the title before retiring. He would not object to another bout with Freddie Welsh, the English champion, and such a bout may be arranged for the Garden A. C. before Packey gives up the game. As for Britton, he would not object to another match if a suitable offer is made to him.

During his ring career McFarland has amassed a fortune that is said to run in the neighborhood of the quarter-million mark, and he is undoubtedly the wealthiest boxer in the game. He has done much to elevate the sport and is exceedingly popular in circles which are usually closed to members of the boxing profession. His reputation as an abstainer from liquor and tobacco and a model liver in every way has resulted in an invitation being extended to him to deliver a lecture to the inmates of a boys' home in this city before he leaves New York this week. McFarland intends to accept the invitation and tell the youngsters how to make a success in life.

Kline and Driscoll Draw.

Patsy Kline, the Newark featherweight, and Young Driscoll of Brooklyn fought ten hard rounds to a draw last night at the Irving A. C. of Brooklyn. In the third and fourth rounds Kline had his opponent in a bad way and looked like an easy winner, but Driscoll rallied, and in the closing rounds he gave Kline as much as received. Driscoll's superior height and reach stood him well against his more experienced and hard-hitting opponent. Driscoll had the better of the first, second, fifth, and sixth rounds, and got an even break in the eighth and tenth rounds. The other four belonged to Kline. Kline weighed 123 pounds and Driscoll was one pound heavier.

Donahue Wins Easily at Brown's.

Harry Donahue, the Pekin (Ill.) lightweight, had things all his own way last night at Brown's Gymnasium in his ten-round bout with Jimmy Jarvis of Long Island City. The latter was substituted for Mike Mazie, who was unable to go on. Donahue was far too clever for Jarvis, and he held the lead from the opening gong to the finish.

OLD NOVELTIES.

"A Veteran Observer" in The Springfield Republican analyzes the conduct and composition of the Bull Moose Party in Massachusetts, which has just acquired a newspaper organ in Boston. "We are justified in using that "animal simile," he says, "because "their trick of imitating bellowings as applause shows how well the "term fits and how much they like it." He points out that their enthusiasm is largely due to the novelty of their experience, and that is due to the fact that so many of them have utterly ignored in the past the evils that now excite them and have neglected the duties which they now think are performed by themselves only. In Massachusetts for many years there has existed an active movement for the betterment of labor conditions. It has always been supported by the Democratic Party and has accomplished much. The leaders of the Bull Moose Party, some of them in pure ignorance, some of them craftily, assume that the movement is theirs and that it is a new movement. "If these Moosers had shown in the past "a tenth of the interest they show now "these reforms would have been secured "years ago."

But it is not merely that the Bull Moosers are freshly awakened to old needs and old efforts at remedy; they are as yet in one essential regard reactionaries, and of a peculiarly cruel sort:

> Having been Republicans, most of them, they are protectionists. They have been beneficiaries of the tariff so much as Republicans that they have no conception of the justice and possibilities of unfettered trade, nor do they see that it is as immoral and as uneconomic to exploit the public for the benefit of the wage-earners of a few industries as for the benefit of capital.

This "defect effective" in the political conscience of the followers of Mr. ROOSEVELT is largely due to the influence of that gentleman. His zeal for the abolition of privilege and the advent of social justice never, after he secured power, embraced animosity to the odious privilege or the gross injustice ingrained in the protective tariff. This was the more discreditable because in his earlier years he had seen and denounced those evils and had enlisted in the battle with them. When he became President he had no trouble in persuading himself that his re-election would be of greater value to his country than the removal of the burdens of protection. And even in the late campaign he ranged his followers — mostly old Republicans — squarely on the side of the "principle" of protection. But we are confident that in the long run he cannot hold them there. The flat contradiction of the tariff to all the ideas the sincere Progressives believe in is too absurd.

THE DRESSMAKERS' STRIKE.

No grievances have been formulated, no demands have been made, previous to the issuing of the strike order by the Children's and Misses' Dressmakers' Union, with the sanction of the International Garment Workers. The strike is the work purely of professional agitators. The dressmakers do not know why they are striking. Mr. SAUL ELSTEIN, the leader of the agitators, declares that the chief purpose of the strike is to spread the "union idea" and to effect a strong organization.

If the Dressmakers' Union were discontented with sanitary conditions, with the system of sub-contracting and sweatshop labor, or with the wage scale, it would be well to make such grievances an issue. Unions ought not to exist for the sake of the union. It is right and proper that they should be formed, not to benefit the professional agitators, but to improve the condition of the workers and of the trade. If the dressmakers would follow the example of the other women's unions in the garment industries, who have provisionally settled their differences with their employers by the formation of boards of grievances and arbitration, they would be in a position to present their demands in a reasonable way.

"SOLIDARITY OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE."

The King's speech thanked Canada for promoting the solidarity of the British Empire by its contribution in aid of the navy. In the words put into his mouth by the Premier the King said: "The "discussions now proceeding in the "Canadian Parliament on matters of "defense testify to the universal desire "within the Empire for the maintenance "of the common safety." The desire may be universal, but there is no unanimity about the method of procedure. "Bad Imperialism" is the headline of the "leader" of The London News upon the proposal which the King's speech approves, and which the Dominion Parliament cannot easily, if at all, bring itself to adopt.

The ground of the criticism is that a Government which was not elected upon the navy issue is assuming a mandate to overturn a policy which Canada adopted unanimously, including the hearty support of the present Premier. The Canadian Commons sat in continuous session from Monday to Saturday last week, and on the day the King's speech was presented to Parliament in London the Commons in Ottawa began a second week of the same sort. In 1896 there was a similar but less stubborn contest, and the result was a change of government. Now, as then, there is a question of the status of Canada, whether it is a colony subordinate to the Motherland or is a "nation," but now there is also a question of loyalty to the Empire. To establish the closure to enforce a declaration of loyalty would be to negative the professions in the act of making them. To carry the programme by a divided vote, and with less than the normal strength of the Government, would be similarly unfortunate. To turn out the Government in the very act of professing loyalty certainly is "bad imperialism." Even though the result were to be reversion to the policy originally professed, it would be less gracious than the original declaration.

Not only is Canada divided against itself. Dominion is arrayed against Dominion. Australia repudiates the policy which the Dominion is asserting with such difficulty. During the same week that Premier BORDEN'S Parliament was balking, his procedure was condemned in the South African Parliament. Canada was described there as resolved to hoist her own flag in preparation for independence, and the fear was expressed that the loyalty movement in such widely separated parts of the Empire, and with such different results, was not spontaneous. The Canadian Commons discussed yesterday a memorandum from the British Admiralty disparaging the construction of a navy for Canada in Canada on the ground that it would require the expenditure of $75,000,000 and four years' time even to make ready the plant, and that the construction of warships would require years after that. To this the answer was made that Australia with less capacity is building warships, that the United States requires neither so much money nor so much time for that work, and that the intervention of England in Canadian politics was undesirable. In short, in the words of a London newspaper, "it is doing an ill service to the "Empire to make the navy an issue "between the parties in the Dominion. "Now that BORDEN'S scheme has been "pushed to the point of an acute politi"cal crisis in Canada, it will be agreed "in all rational minds that it is doing "the worst service to imperial unity."

Our Canadian cousins can hardly blame us if we take the British view of their procedure. And they will pardon us the interest with which we watch their embarrassment because of the critical attitude which they took toward our own President. Canadian misrepresentation of the United States' attitude toward reciprocity was a leading factor in putting Premier BORDEN in the position to advance his naval policy in order to lessen his difficulty over the betterment of the commercial relations between Canada and the United States. If now he meets with misadventure over his naval policy, the result will be also the nailing of the slander that trade with the Yankees is treason to the Empire. Rather the prohibition of trade with the United States fosters disloyalty toward the Government which forbids it, and kills sympathy with Canada's embarrassment on the navy question.

THE SUFFRAGETTES AND THE KING.

The militant suffragists are now reaping the fruits of their policy. Those who throw bombs, and burn railway stations, and otherwise break his Majesty's peace, are not in the class of those who can be allowed to approach his person to present even the most constitutional of petitions. Especially is this true of those who profess attachment to the Constitution in the very act of their unconstitutional procedure. If they are such friends of the British Constitution as they declare, it behooves them to be content with their constitutional privilege to present their petition to his Majesty through his Ministers.

The course they are taking is more revolutionary than that of the Socialists. They have learned that it is wise to separate theoretical and practical socialism, because progress toward theoretical socialism is feasible only through politics. By affiliating themselves with parties they are attaining many socialistic aims to a degree that would be impossible if they acted as lawlessly as their theories in their rigor require. Direct attacks upon society harden society's heart, and excuse its procedure in self-defense in any manner necessary. The non-militant suffragists might well take the hint and improve upon it. They also have the right of petition, and by exercising it in a proper manner they may perhaps advance the cause which the militant suffragists have prejudiced so grievously.

A CUSTODIAL ASYLUM NEEDED.

According to the estimate of Dr. HASTINGS H. HART, more than one-third of the prisoners in the Elmira State Reformatory and in the New York Reformatory for Women are feeble-minded. Dr. GODDARD of the Vineland School says that one-fourth of all criminals are of defective mentality. Dr. GEORGE M. PARKER, medical examiner of the Prison Association, finds one-tenth of the inmates in the Tombs defective or insane. Secretary O. F. LEWIS of the Prison Association says it is no use trying further to deal with the feeble-minded by the same methods that apply to normal persons. Such authorities as these support the bill introduced by Senator FRAWLEY, establishing a commission to select a site for a custodial asylum in which feeble-minded male delinquents may be properly kept.

There are 30,000 feeble-minded persons in this State for whom no special institution is provided. An adult person with defective mentality possesses the passions of a man with no more control over them than a child. He may at any time become a criminal, and dangerous to the community. Senator FRAWLEY'S bill has the sanction of the highest medical authorities.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

They Are Inviting Suspicion. There is a sinister significance in the fact that there has not yet come from the police force as a whole, or from any group of its members, organized or unorganized, one word indicative of satisfaction over the present and prospective elimination from the department of its grafters, blackmailers, and partners of criminals.

We are constantly told that great majority of the policemen are honest, and everybody has been willing, even eager, to admit that contention, but to do so becomes constantly harder and harder as day after day passes without a single manifestation among these honest men of the feelings which honest men are expected to show when they are relieved from association, physically and in the public mind, with men thoroughly dishonest. On the contrary, the police attitude toward the investigations now in progress and toward all concerned in them is that of resentment—as if the prosecutions were persecutions, in some way cruel, unjust, and above all unnecessary.

All through the department, from close to its top down to its humblest members, so far is there from being any inclination voluntarily to supply the District Attorney with evidence that only when he proves to some policeman that the alternative to confession is imprisonment does he get any help from this source, and then the force expresses, as plainly as it dares, abhorrence of that man, not as an exposed criminal, but as a traitor. And occasionally, as when WALSH went to the Far Rockaway Station to find out how he stood with the Inspectors and Captains' Association, this expression dares to be plain indeed—to take the form of savage revilings which the officer at the desk makes no effort to suppress.

Of course, the man who, to save himself, turns informer, is not an agreeable spectacle to anybody, but he does perform a very real public service, and nobody has an excuse for hating him except those who have been associated with him in criminality. No honest policeman whose conception of "loyalty" is not utterly perverted regrets or attempts to prevent or to punish the disclosure of police evils. On the contrary, every policeman who is both honest and intelligent rejoices over, and to the extent of his ability assists, the cleansing of the house in which he lives and by the condition of which he is judged.

Reminiscent of Old New York. Just twenty-five years ago to-day there raged in this city the one snowstorm which became a notable date in its meteorological history, and, like the "big wind" in Irish annals, still stands distinctive as the "great blizzard." Great it certainly was, and those of us who were here then remember almost as if the quarter century were but a month the savage blasts which filled many a metropolitan street and avenue with snow drifts as deep as the horse cars of that day were high.

For close to forty-eight hours New York practically suspended business and only the sturdiest of its inhabitants managed to get down town the first day. Even they, for the most part, wished that they had remained at home. If the southern journey was difficult, that to the north at nightfall was nothing less than desperate, for the requisite exertions and involved hardships cost a few their lives and many more a serious and permanent impairment of health.

Had the great blizzard come in midwinter it would have been less, though sufficiently, remarkable, but as a vagary of Spring and the immediate follower of a rain as warm as that of last Monday night, it was amazing.

One of its never quite explained mysteries was the fact that the elevated trains were tied up almost as soon, and just as completely, as the surface cars. The little steam locomotives now scattered far and wide over this country and others, to remind wandering New Yorkers of old times, were an energetic and able tribe, but the great blizzard somehow cowed them, and though their tracks were swept bare by the howling blast, they did not venture out till the storm was well over.

The exhumation of the buried city was a colossal task, in comparison with which all subsequent snow removal has been trivial, and for many days the side streets contained mountainous reminders of what had been. The amount of talk the great blizzard made was commensurate with the depth of the snow, and there were humors of the storm as well as tragedies. Facetious signs ornamented many a Broadway drift, calling the attention of Alpinists to their opportunities for congenially dangerous excursions.

Once since there was a weak imitation of the great blizzard. In current slang, that, too, was "some storm," but everybody has forgotten when it happened—everybody, that is, except the professional statisticians.

He Is in for Some Surprises. Another man, this time a resident of Kansas City, has formulated and secured wide publication for a set of rules which, if followed, he says, will enable him and others to be happy though married.

This particular set of rules is an especially irritating one to the thoughtful, because it so clearly assumes that wives are a sort of house pet, much after the order of cocker spaniels, and that all they need or demand is the sort of treatment which keeps such animals affectionate as well as docile.

That may have done in the past, though it is doubtfully true even of a largely imaginary era when it was woman's ideal to be a tender vine clinging to a sturdy oak. If that day ever existed, it does no longer, and the Kansas City man is going to be both surprised and disappointed if he places his dependence for domestic happiness on a continuance of courtship attentions alone.

And he mentions no others—apparently has no intention of admitting his wife to anything like an equal partnership in the big as well as the little things of life. Who is he that he should think it enough to be "kind"—to give flowers and candy and to be fairly decent about seeking unshared amusements?

He does verge on something important when he advises against awakening jealousy, but even in that he shows no real understanding either of the situation or of his duty.

One would like to hear what the Kansas City man's selected mate has to say about his silly rules. Her comments, or those of other women, would be interesting.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE PARADERS.

Themselves Declared to Blame for Ill-Treatment at Washington.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Miss Paul of English jail experience, one of those who recklessly defied law and order in a country which she was visiting, admits that the head of the Washington police opposed the granting of a permit to the suffragists to parade. "He told me," said Miss Paul to the committee which is "investigating the shameful behavior of the police," instead of investigating the callous insistence of the women paraders, "that the riff-raff of the South would be here on account of the inauguration."

Will anyone tell me why a body of women has the right to impose on the authorities at Washington the double task of keeping order for two parades instead of one—the one in which the entire country was interested? It was cruelly thoughtless and obstinate for the women to insist upon parading the day before the inauguration, a bit of the same policy of "advertising at any cost" that has been pursued by the militants. Those who are responsible for the good name of the Nation had all they could attend to in handling the vast crowds that were assembling on March 3, and it is inconceivable that any body of men would have received permission to parade.

An editorial article in THE TIMES calls upon everyone, anti-suffragists especially, to deplore the outrageous treatment of the suffragist paraders by the hoodlums, but I see no one to blame but themselves. No longer is the world divided into separate countries, but for the purposes of publicity it is all one huge country. Therefore, the suffragists cannot expect in England to destroy the mail of innocent people, cut up golf courses, blow up houses, and set fire to theatres, without the rougher, (and, perhaps, the saner, who knows?) element of all countries becoming inflamed. It is idle for American suffragists to say they do not countenance militant methods. They certainly continue entertaining and honoring those who are responsible for that shameful spectacle of a disgraced and degraded womanhood. Only this week I have twice refused to meet an English author whose work I should have liked to honor, but I will not meet anyone who defends the outrageous behavior of those termagants—the English militants.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A scientific test of Dr. Friedmann's vaccine in tuberculosis of the lungs would necessitate the following procedure:

At least 300 cases should be treated, of both sexes, and as nearly equal in age and other essential respects as possible. All of them must have demonstrable tubercle bacilli in their sputum. The lesion in their lungs must be diagnosed as such by examiners of good average ability. The patients had best be ambulant cases, with slight, if any, elevation of temperature, (to exclude mixed infection.) They must all have been under a physician's observation for at least six months previous to the test.

Then let Dr. Friedmann inject his cultures into 100 of these, the remaining 200 receiving no other treatment save what they had been getting during the six months previous to the test, (excepting in the case of tuberculin.) Then compare results every three months for at least one year. If by that time it can be shown that seventy-five of the 100 vaccine-treated patients have lost their tubercle bacilli from their sputum, as proved by the later methods for the detection of the same; if the signs of disease in their lungs have markedly diminished or disappeared entirely, as noted by the same physicians who examined them before the vaccine treatment; if their cough and expectoration have practically disappeared, while their nutrition has been definitely improved; and if it could further be shown beyond a reasonable doubt that no such improvement could be noted in the 200 patients who were not treated by Dr. Friedmann's vaccine, then, and not until then, could the vaccine be pronounced as curative in some cases.

Let it be understood, however, that the observation of 100 cases for one year is the very least in time and number that could be considered. Nothing less than an equal percentage in 1,000 cases so observed would be necessary to conclusively prove the vaccine curative. And even then it would be at least five years before one could safely pronounce the vaccine harmless and declare that those who have been cured have stayed "put."

From the above statement one can readily see that the few cases treated the other day by Dr. Friedmann at the People's Hospital are less than worthless as a demonstration of the value of his vaccine, even if they were all "cured."

BERKELEY'S SOCIALIST MAYOR

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Some weeks ago you commented editorially on the action of the just and virtuous Mayor of Berkeley, Cal., who, being invited to spend $3 and enjoy a good dinner with a group of sociologists bent on discussing social uplift, refused in a just and virtuous tone to use so large a sum of perfectly good money on his own unworthy self. The virtuous (i. e., Socialist) public servant declared that he did not belong to the class that could spend $3 on a single "feed" while poor children went hungry, shoeless, and so on.

Now comes the astonishing news that the just and virtuous friend of the peepul, who would not indulge his appetite in a feast while the peepul cried for bread, was shortly afterward arrested and fined $10 for speeding his motor car at twenty-nine miles per hour! Being caught flagrante delicto, i. e., "with the goods on," the just man paid his fine, equivalent to three dinners plus.

All the good opinions we had formed of the virtuous public servant, who no doubt wept when the peepul cried, have melted away in our wrath at discovering him owning so plutocratic a machine as a motor car, denying himself a good dinner perhaps to pay for it, as many another auto is paid for; claiming credit for refusing to eat heartily when the refusal was due to causes other than the one assigned, (by the way, he did not say he had given the $3 to buy food for the foodless,) and having his little deception exposed by a policeman, no doubt instigated by capitalists. Not he alone

Atones for sins that he's inclined to
By damning those he has no mind to.

Cure for Tariff Uncertainty.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I trust for the sake of the business interests of the country that, taking it for granted there will be material reductions in the tariff, an announcement will be made as to the actual date the new scheme will take effect. This will enable business to move freely in its accustomed channels. The uncertainty as to the precise day on which the new tariff will come into operation might be productive of panicky conditions, while an announcement that schedules would be operated from, say, Jan. 1, 1914, would allay all fears of disturbance. Business is already in a halting state owing to lack of knowledge on this point, and I hope that some definite announcement will be made to reassure manufacturers and merchants.

THE DEARTH OF NURSES

Due to Other Causes Than Regents' Requirements.

Department of Nursing and Health,
Teachers College, Columbia University,
New York, March 11, 1913.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Under the heading of "The Nursing Profession" and signed "A Regents Nurse," a letter to THE TIMES states that the decline in the number of applicants for admission to training schools for nurses is due to their control by the New York Board of Regents. So erroneous an impression should not remain uncorrected, and I therefore beg the courtesy of your columns in order to point out that the decline of applicants to training schools in this State can hardly be due to the moderate educational requirements of the law (one year of high school,) since the same decrease exists in other States where there are no laws.

With the truly enormous increase in hospitals of all kinds during the last decade, the number of pupils required to carry on hospital work has almost trebled. In 1900 there were 432 schools, with 11,164 pupil nurses, but in 1910, within ten years, the number of schools had jumped up to 1,129, with 32,636 pupils. At present it appears that there are so many hospital training schools in competition for the existing number of properly qualified candidates there are not enough to go round.

Another cause of the deficiency is undoubtedly to be found in the many new occupations and professions for women which have opened up during the last fifteen years, and are apparently more attractive to them than nursing. Still another cause lies in the severe physical exactions of the system of training, and a good many women whose natural gifts and inclinations fit them eminently for the work of nursing, especially in its social and educational aspects, do not dare attempt the exhausting 9 to 10 hours of daily work, or 12 hours of nightly work, which still prevail even in most of our best hospitals.

It is not the praiseworthy efforts of the Regents to maintain reasonable standards for the education of nurses that is at fault, but the fact that the training school to-day faces new conditions which it did not have to face 15 or 20 years ago, and against which it is having difficulty in holding its own, without greatly altering some of its methods.

It is most desirable that training schools should be so improved as to attract a high type of candidate, for never was the field of nursing in itself more interesting to the individual worker, or more important to public welfare.

EUROPE'S WAR SCARE.

Franco-German Jealousy Deprecated as Causeless.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

If a plague were devastating Europe we would feel an impulse to send help and sympathy. But this increase of armaments by France and Germany means as much loss and misery. It is logical for peace lovers to try to understand the cause of this panic fear, which may be an illusion, a mistrust which need not exist. Why should the birth of a new Balkan nation be a menace to Europe? In families the coming of a new son or daughter does not call for unreasoning jealousy on the part of the elders. Why does not the new State with increasing civilization mean new markets for the rest of the world, new outputs of mining and agriculture to employ the excess of population of other countries?

There is no antagonism of religion to create warring ideals, as in the case of Turkey. As Italy emerged a new State in the 60s, as Germany in 1870, why should not Graeco-Bulgaria also be welcomed to the Congress of Nations? The food problem, the cost of living problem, is the real difficulty ahead for all nations. This can only be solved by a more highly developed civilization, which would bring better efficiency to individual effort so that more wheat could grow to an acre and inventive genius be applied to labor-saving and comfort-producing.

Is the fear of Russia to stop all progress, and is the only way to improve the lot of underfed millions to kill them off in wasteful, cruel war? If statesmen of the right calibre would only appear it might instead look forward to a federation of the States of Europe, which would insure the peace of the world and the chance for men to go forward toward the ultimate goal of possible development.

ANNIE W. GOULD.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

For New York City there is no position that is of more importance than that of Collector of the Port. It is the first to be considered. President Wilson has properly turned over all such appointments—and the responsibility for them—to the Cabinet chiefs, but before them is the high example he himself has set in choosing under the Nation-wide responsibilities they are to serve. There seem to be in the air as imminent possibilities for the Collector of the Port various names whose political service is of a most loyal and valuable character, but who are not identified with any of the angles of tariff peculiarities. Political recognition should not be at the expense of New York as a port.

The Collector of the Port will have on his hands a problem that no amount of party loyalty will help him solve; he must have more than that. Therefore it has been disappointing not yet to hear as a possibility the name of a man whose qualifications are as obvious as the needs of the Collectorship.

Impure Furnace Coal.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I was glad to read in THE TIMES the letter of Severino Pauli that spoke of adulterated coal, as it almost exactly hit my own experience with degenerate furnace coal. The fact is that the operators, not content with big profits, are loading on us consumers the rejected "culm" of the years before the big coal strike—slate, stone, iron ore, and a something that clogs grates with a large mineral skeleton-like formation that has to be dug out with long pokers.

Only men who now and then go to their cellars and see to things themselves understand the situation and the rascality of the treatment they are receiving. Retail coal dealers only grin when you hand them $7.50 for a ton, and say they cannot tell bad coal from good coal at sight. Thousands of consumers will thank the Washington authorities if they will take this abuse into consideration.

The School Inquiry Report.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It has been asserted that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment has recalled its offer to turn over to a society interested in the cause of education, the plates of the recent school inquiry report, and that by this action cheap reproductions of the report will never be available.

If this is so it is deeply to be regretted, for in the main this report must come to be regarded as the most important educational publication of 1912-13. And especially is this action to be deplored in connection with the McMurry report on the "Quality of Instruction."

Can it be that the plates of this interim report are to lie forever idle while the very teachers that it concerns wonder what is between its covers?

Unstamped Mail.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Had "indignant merchant of this city" sent his check in an envelope which did not bear on its face, nor elsewhere, his name or address for return purposes, and had that envelope been sealed, making it first-class matter, it would have been at once forwarded to the party to whom it was addressed. And that party would have had to pay double the rate—or four cents. First-class matter only, not fully prepaid, but upon which a single rate (2 cents) of postage has been affixed, will be forwarded, and the postage due will be collected at the delivery end. No other class of mail will be so treated.

FIRES IN FACTORIES.

Mr. Porter Says Commission Has Not Solved Its Problem.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have read the letter to THE TIMES from Senator Wagner, explaining his bill asking for "a special appropriation of $50,000 from the Legislature to extend the work of the State Factory Investigating Commission," and I have also noted your editorial comment on this letter. Two years ago this month occurred the holocaust of the Asche Building fire. I had just completed an investigation of the Highland Avenue, Newark, factory fire for the Russell Sage Foundation, and my report had appeared in its organ, The Survey, in which I stated that such a fire could be duplicated in many hundred factories in this city. I prophesied that we would have such a fire before long, in one of the loft building factories. The morning after the Asche Building fire your paper printed my letter, written some time previous, to the proprietors of the Triangle Waist Company, advising them of their dangerous conditions and urging that they install a fire drill in order that in case of danger the occupants could be gotten out of the building in safety.

I prepared a lantern illustrated address, which I delivered to the Fifth Avenue Association and the Public Forum of the Church of the Ascension, in which I stated that there were only two alternatives presented to the occupants of crowded loft factories in this city in case of fire, viz., to burn to death or jump to death. On the strength of this assertion I succeeded in gathering from these two organizations a group of men prominent in the professions of architecture and engineering, and in the real estate field, who went to Albany and asked for the appointment of a commission to investigate the abnormal conditions which I stated existed in the loft buildings in this city, for the purpose of recommending remedial legislation. The result of the hearing, which was granted to us by the Governor, was the appointment of the present Factory Investigating Commission.

The Legislature in establishing this commission thought it wise not only to have it investigate the fire hazard in these buildings, but not to neglect any other dangerous conditions which might come within its purview. It should be borne in mind, therefore, that the definite problem which the Factory Investigating Commission was appointed to solve was the improvement of the dangerous fire condition in the loft and other factory buildings of the State, and anything other than this was wholly supplementary.

Two years have passed and not a thing has been done toward improving this condition, although the Commissioners had in hand all the necessary data. On the other hand, it has been aided by all the civic organizations throughout the State, who have been busy for years endeavoring to ameliorate the unsanitary and uneconomic conditions affecting the wage earners in these factories.

The Commissioners now present thirty-two bills for the action of the Legislature. Only five of these are directed toward improvement in the fire situation, while the other twenty-seven apply to matters affecting the hours and health of the workers, and I claim that not one of the former will be effective, for they are either intrinsically weak, or, if they show a slight tendency to be drastic, there is always a string attached which relieves this latter feature.

Taking up these seriatim, Bill No. 7 requires that no waste materials, cuttings, or rubbish shall be permitted to accumulate on the floors of any factory, but shall be removed therefrom not less than twice each day, and entirely removed from the building every day. This is a good bill if it stopped there, but the string attached to it is apparent; viz., that, if these waste materials, cuttings, and rubbish have a string tied around them (i. e., are baled), they need not be removed more than once a month.

Bill No. 8 calls for fire-alarm signal systems which may be installed by the Fire Commissioner in this city, or the Fire Marshal in the State. As there are over 40,000 factories in which fire alarms are to be installed, how long would it take the Inspectors in these two departments, who are very few in number and totally unqualified for the work, to get these drills installed?

Bill No. 9 requires automatic sprinklers to be installed in every factory building over seven stories in height, in which wooden flooring or wooden trim is used, but entirely neglects to protect the thousands of non-fireproof factory buildings of three or four stories in height, occupied by more than two hundred persons above the first story.

Bill No. 10 enters into the construction of buildings for the purpose of making them safe for their occupancy. It is full of inconsistencies; as, for instance, having limited the number of people per floor to such a number as can safely escape by means of the exit facilities provided, which would be an excellent provision, it provides that in any building where there is a sprinkler system 50 per cent. more people can be allowed. As sprinkler systems have never been considered life-saving devices, and as, like all other automatic devices, they frequently do not operate at all, and when they do operate it is at a temperature and in an atmosphere filled with smoke and flames which human beings cannot stand, the latter always have to make their escape in advance of the operation of such a system. But with the additional occupancy allowed there would be no place for the people to escape to, owing to the congestion of the exit facilities.

The Factory Investigating Commission has done admirable work in marshalling the social forces of the State to aid in improving industrial conditions in its factories in all directions, except in that of the fire hazard for which it was specifically appointed.

YES, A SPRING SONG!

Come on, O Muse!—I've got to do it,
This hardy annual poetry thing—
Come on—you'll surely see me through it—
We're off: The Spring
I sing!

Oh, smiling glades and groves and bowers
Where blossoms sweet the greensward dot,
Oh—(Keats could keep this up for hours,
But I, God wot, Cannot!)

(Quick, Muse!)—in forests cool and shady
Let's carol our delighted lay
With rhythmic (unobliging lady,
Where are you, pray,
To-day?)

With rhythmic dance and joyful chatter
Let's celebrate the lovely sight
Of—of—of—say, Muse, what's the matter?
Ring off? All right!
GOOD-night!

M'ANENY WOULD TAX ALL HEAVY LOADING

Introduces Ordinance to Make Great Load Carriers Help Pay for Streets.

WOULD GOVERN SIZE OF TIRES

Proposed Law Provides for License Fees for Business Vehicles Based on Capacity.

Borough President McAneny has a plan to make the owners of vehicles, other than automobiles, using the city streets pay for the damage caused to the pavements. He had introduced yesterday in the Board of Aldermen an ordinance for the regulation of width of tires and weight of loads which will compel the owners of vehicles to take out a license, the same as required now of automobilists. Special license fees must be paid if there is a variation from the prescribed width of tires and weight of loads.

The Borough President is of the opinion that wagons and carriages cause as much damage to the pavements as automobiles and that they should be regulated. His plan is to charge fees ranging from $1.00 to $1,000, depending upon the size of the load. Vehicles carrying a gross load of 6,000 pounds or less upon any wheel shall be charged fees ranging from $1 to $50, depending on the load in pounds per inch width of tire. Additional fees of from $75 to $1,000 shall be charged for loads greater than 6,000 pounds, but not exceeding 10,000 pounds. In addition to this there is to be a fee of from $5 to $25 an inch for vehicles with tires exceeding 6 feet 6 inches in diameter. In a letter to President John Purroy Mitchel of the board, Mr. McAneny explained his plan as follows:

> For some months past the consulting engineers of the five boroughs have had under consideration the desirability of securing better control over the use of the streets of the city by vehicles transporting excessive loads. In recent years these vehicles have increased in size and carrying capacity until it is now a common sight to see trucks and wagons carrying from three to five tons of coal, broken rock, or building material through the streets. There are also a number of vehicles, such as those operated by the Fifth Avenue Stage Coal Company, which are so constructed as to exert an excessive wear and tear upon the pavements. This results, in its last analysis, in imposing upon the taxpayers in general an excessive charge for pavement maintenance, for the benefit of a comparatively few concerns operating such vehicles.
> After a careful examination and inspection of the kinds of vehicles now in use in the city, and the effect of their operation on the various pavements, it is the opinion of the Engineering Board that there are three very glaring abuses which can be, and should be, immediately checked:
>
> Certain vehicles are operated with too narrow tires for the load transported. This results in cutting a gash in an asphalt pavement, which ruins it. The tire should be proportioned to the load the vehicle is intended to carry.
>
> Other vehicles are too heavily loaded for any pavement to support. Our pavements are built upon a six-inch concrete foundation. This will support an exceedingly heavy traffic. But if a foundation is to be laid to support some of the loads now commonly seen on the streets, the cost of street construction will be greatly increased, thereby imposing a heavy tax upon the city at large for the benefit of a few.
>
> A third class of vehicles are those having an excessive width. The main thoroughfares of the city have recently been widened at considerable expense in order to accommodate two lines of traffic, of regulation width, going in opposite directions. A modern automobile truck or van, measuring eight or nine feet in width, will completely block one extra line of traffic, thereby reducing the capacity of the street by 50 per cent in either direction.
>
> "These are evils which can and should be checked at once, and I have accordingly had drawn an ordinance regulating:
>
> (a) The proportion which the load of any vehicle shall bear to its tires.
> (b) The load which may be carried upon any vehicle, estimated upon the per wheel basis.
>
> (c) The excessive widths of all vehicles.
>
> "Recognizing, however, that the construction of large buildings and the progress of many important public works may at times necessitate the transportation of heavy timbers or steel beams through the streets, the proposed ordinance further provides for the issuance of single permits for individual trips of this nature upon payment of specified fees.
>
> "The necessity for some regulation of this kind is apparent and urgent. Such excessive wear and tear upon and concrete damage to the pavements cannot be embraced within the meaning of ordinary street use. In many cases it is unnecessary. It is imposing a constantly increasing burden for pavement maintenance upon the city at large for the benefit of a fee; and it is in reality in large part an economic waste."

The proposed ordinance was referred to the board's Committee on Laws and Legislation.

STEFANSSON SHIP OFF TO-DAY

Starts for Arctic Waters to Find That Polar Continent.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 11.—The steam whaling bark Karluk is ready to sail to-morrow for Esquimault, B. C., on the voyage of arctic exploration to be undertaken under the auspices of the Canadian Government by Dr. Vilhjalmar Stefansson, discoverer of the blond Eskimos. On board will be Capt. C. Thedore Pedersen, an American, as navigator, and Dr. R. M. Andersen, heading a party of ten scientists. Dr. Stefansson will join the expedition, Capt. Pedersen said to-day, at Esquimault, with a wireless outfit and motion-picture equipment.

Under the agreement, the crew and navigators must be Canadians. Capt. Pedersen, however, still hoped to-night that he would not be asked to surrender his American citizenship.

"This expedition," he said, "means the hopes of twenty years to me. I was with Stefansson when he discovered the blond Eskimos, and I feel sure there are other peoples to be found even more remote from known territory. I believe, too, that there are rich copper deposits in the country for which we are headed."

The expedition expects to be gone three years. It is planned particularly to explore the unknown stretches of Prince Patrick Land and Prince Albert Land, and to find a polar continent. There is hope that it will find relics of the lost McClure expedition of 1851-1853, and the abandoned bark Investigator.

TO STOP WIRE DESTRUCTION.

Electrical Workers, Fighting Telegraph Company, Are Enjoined.

CHICAGO, March 11.—An injunction restraining Local Unions No. 9 and No. 134 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers from interfering with the property of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company was granted to the Federal Government here to-day by Judge Carpenter in the United States District Court.

The restraining order, which is temporary, is the result of a bill filed by the Government charging that the electrical workers, to retaliate against the inauguration of an open-shop policy by the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company entered into a campaign of depredation during which wires and cables were destroyed.

Officers and members of the two local unions are warned in the restraining order that a violation of the decree will be construed as contempt of court. The unions, through Edward R. Litzinger, their counsel, agreed to the entry of the decree after several changes suggested by him had been made.

CHARMING REVIVAL OF 'LIBERTY HALL'

R. C. Carton's Fragrant Little Comedy Provides a Pleasant Evening at the Empire

AND IS DELIGHTFULLY ACTED

Lennox Pawle Scores as the Old Bookseller—Mr. Mason and Miss Hedman Revive Sentimental Interest.

LIBERTY HALL, a comedy, by R. C. Carton. Empire Theatre.

Mr. Owen	John Mason
Blanche Chilworth	Martha Hedman
Amy Chilworth	Charotte Ives
Hon. Gerald Tanqueray	Julian L'Estrange
William Todman	Lennox Pawle
J. Briginshaw	Wilfred Draycott
Mr. Pedrick	Wigney Percyval
Mr. Hickson	Sidney Herbert
Miss Hickson	Emily Dodd
Robert Binks	John Dugan
Crafer	Ada Dwyer
Luscombe	Willis Martin

It is not necessary to bring either an indulgent or a reminiscent mood to appreciate Mr. R. C. Carton's very charming comedy, "Liberty Hall," which was most pleasantly revived at the Empire Theatre last night. The piece stands the test of time very well.

Not the most modern of comedies even in the long ago, when it was first presented in this city, its chief charm now, as then, is in a sort of fragrant sentimental bouquet pervading the story and the characters. "Tom" Robertson belonged to a remoter period than the nineties in which the play was written, and yet in its essence it seems nearest the Robertson comedies, with a story that interests in spite of much that is obvious and artificial in it, and one character at least that might have stepped right out of the pages of Dickens.

To say this of it is to repeat what must have been said over and over again when "Liberty Hall" was a new play. And yet in some sense our later audiences may have a better appreciation of it than those of some years back. We are not the less amused at the peculiar snobbishness, if one may call it that, of the Miss Blanche Chilworth, who finds it so hard to demean herself by association with any one in trade, but our sense of class distinctions has somewhat broadened with the times. It is not quite as easy to believe in the old fallacy about the "free and equal" business. And, right or wrong, it is not quite so difficult to comprehend the varying point of view.

With that question, however, most playgoers will be little concerned. What they will see in "Liberty Hall" is a fragrant little comedy, with a sentimental interest sustained throughout its four acts, and pleasantly interpreted in the action of several lovable characters, chief among whom is the Mr. Todman, who keeps a book shop in Bloomsbury, and is ultimately befriended by the supposed Mr. Owen, who, though a titled person, can think and act like a commoner, and teaches his haughty cousin Blanche a valuable lesson in human relationships. Mr. Carton's figures are all attractive, and his lines are exceptionally bright, so bright in fact that one is almost willing to overlook the frequency of the characteristically English puns.

Good acting adds its share of pleasure to the revival, with Lennox Pawle playing in a very amusing and at the same time tender vein as the old bookseller, originally delivered so very beautifully by the late William H. Crompton. In the rôle of Mr. Owen, originally played by Henry Miller, there is nothing that is not easily and agreeably realized by John Mason, while Miss Viola Allen's original rôle of Blanche Chilworth finds a very beautiful and appealing representative in Miss Martha Hedman.

And Mr. L'Estrange, Mr. Draycott, Miss Percyval, Master Dugan, Miss Dwyer, and Miss Ives fill out the other figures with generally good effect.

On this occasion, however, the rôle of Luscombe somehow does not seem to appear of such monumental importance as in the original performance, but the fault is certainly not with Mr. Martin, who makes all the entrances and exits with as much promptness as could possibly be desired.

Littleton has issued invitations for a party to hear "The True Story of Monticello," illustrated with stereopticon pictures, and to view the Jefferson-Monticello Memorial petitions addressed to the Congress of the United States. MR. WITHERSPOON'S RECITAL.

Another Opera Singer Who Comes Back to Songs on Concert Platform.

Mr. Herbert Witherspoon is in a different case, when he appears in a song recital on the concert platform, from many other opera singers, for he began his career and continued it a good while on the concert platform; and he is not yet so habituated to the stage of the Metropolitan and other opera houses as to have forgotten the art of song singing, which he practiced with much success. He gave a recital yesterday afternoon in Aeolian Hall that offered renewed evidence of this. Mr. Witherspoon sang with a true command of the style and technique of lieder singing, which demands something different from the operatic and dramatic style. He was in excellent voice, and that meant that he gave uncommon enjoyment with an organ of truly noble quality, more flexible and adapted to a variety of expression than many bass voices possess. His singing of songs shows intelligence and artistic insight, the purpose of expressing the same spirit and the inner meaning.

His programme was long, varied and interesting. He began with airs by Mozart, "Per questa bella mano;" Gluck, "Un Ruissetet bien clair," and Beethoven's song, "Prüfung des Küssens," which he sang with unusual command of style and beauty of phrasing. His choice of songs by Schubert included some that are little known, as the "Liebeslauschen;" nor are "An die Leyer," the "Gesang des Harfners" and "An Schwager Kronos" among the more familiar ones. Brahms's noble "Todesschnen" he sang with real eloquence. His last group were dialect and old songs—Elizabethan, Scotch and Irish—for which Mr. Witherspoon has a special taste.

MR. CLEMENT'S RECITAL.

The French Tenor Has the Assistance of the Barrere Ensemble.

Mr. Edmond Clément varied the usual procedure at his song recital given yesterday afternoon in Carnegie Hall by having the assistance in it of the Barrère Ensemble, of wood wind instruments, and Carlos Salzedo, harpist. Mr. Barrère's players not only furnished accompaniments to songs, but also played various numbers, two movements by Gouvy and the andante from Gounod's "Petite Symphonie," heard at the Barrère Ensemble's concerts earlier in the season. Mr. Salzedo also was heard alone in a transcription of one of Debussy's "Arabesques," and a set of variations by himself.

Mr. Clément confined himself entirely to modern French songs; his last number was from Weckerlin's "La Laitière de Trianon. Mr. Clément sang in excellent voice, with his well-known polish of style, fine taste and fitness of expression. As for the Barrère Ensemble, their playing was charming, too; but there might have been some question as to the wisdom of effecting just this sort of combination between a voice of the quality and limitations of Mr. Clément's, and the characteristic tone color—which also has its limitations—of the wind instruments. There was a very large audience that almost filled the hall, and that showed the greatest interest in Mr. Clément and the instrumentalists.

Rayson School League's Fair.

The annual fair and entertainment of the Rayson School League in aid of the Santa Clara Homes and similar charities for the aid of sufferers from tuberculosis will be held next Saturday afternoon and evening at the Parish Hall of St. Michael's Episcopal Church, Ninety-ninth Street, between Broadway and Amsterdam Avenue. It had been announced that the fair would be held at the Sherman Square Hotel. A play will be given by the Rayson alumnae under direction of Mrs. Leonard Shepard.

WOMEN PLAY CARDS FOR A CHOW PUPPY

Mrs. S. A. Henszey the Winner at Auction Bridge in Aid of League for Animals.

COMPETE AT 200 TABLES

82 Prizes Include Boxes at Opera and Theatre—Jasper, Educated Dog, Amuses Players.

There was a large attendance yesterday afternoon at the auction bridge held at the Ritz-Carlton for the benefit of the New York Women's League for Animals. About $2,500 was realized from the sale of tickets, and this amount will be devoted to the league's hospital for animals, which is to provide free treatment and care for all animals in distress.

The 200 tables were placed in the large ballroom of the hotel, which the management donated for the occasion, and for two hours society played cards for a cause, and, incidentally, a prize. There were eighty-two prizes altogether, including two boxes at the opera, two at the theatre, and a Chow puppy.

Although New York society was well represented at the tables, the large prizes were captured by women from the other boroughs. Mrs. S. A. Henszey of Tompkinsville, S. I., won the Chow puppy as first prize, and Miss Mary Lloyd of Brooklyn won a box at the opera. Miss E. C. Burne of 129 East Seventy-sixth Street also won an opera box, and Mrs. John F. Farrell of 171 West Eighty-first Street, and Miss Katharine W. Wodell of 30 East Thirty-ninth Street each won a box at the theatre. Mrs. Gouverneur Kortright won a small prize, also Mrs. Irving Brokaw and Mrs. Edwin Marston.

Mrs. James Speyer, President of the league, and Mrs. Ormond Smith donated the opera boxes, Mrs. Speyer's being for Thursday night at the Metropolitan, and Mrs. Smith's for the first Monday in April. Mrs. Cornelius C. Cuyler and Miss Elsie de Wolfe each donated a box at the theatre. Mrs. F. L. Hutton was the donor of the Chow puppy.

Much interest was shown in the awarding of the prizes, the fashionably gowned throng filled the corridor and grand staircase, while the lucky names were being read. Jasper, the educated dog, amused everybody by his tricks, while the scores were being counted, the lowest of which was 2,057. He displayed almost human intelligence, and even picked out Mrs. Speyer among the crowd, when directed to do so by his master. Later he ran up to a balcony and sang to the audience, which was in reality a series of barks, not having been set to music as yet.

Among those who took tables were Mrs. Charles F. Hoffman, Miss Amy Townsend, Mrs. Reginald de Koven, Mrs. E. H. Gary, Mrs. C. B. Alexander, Mrs. Mortimer Brooks, Mrs. W. D. Sloane, Mrs. F. W. Vanderbilt, Mrs. Lewis Nixon, Mrs. George Blumenthal, Mrs. Archer M. Huntington, Mrs. John Astor, Miss Anne Morgan, Mrs. Paul Morton, Mrs. Isidore Wormser, Mrs. Randolph Guggenheimer, Mrs. Lawrence Keene, Mrs. Justus Ruperti, Mrs. W. Bourke Cockran, Mrs. F. W. Whitridge, Mrs. M. Orme Wilson, Mrs. Charles R. Flint, Mrs. Ogden Mills, Mrs. Edward F. Harkness, Mrs. J. Lee Finney, and Mrs. W. P. James.

ANTIQUE SCREEN TO BE SOLD.

Ellen Terry Former Owner, and Its Duplicate in Windsor Castle.

One of the most important antiques seen in New York in many years is a mammoth screen recently brought here from England as part of a collection formerly owned by Ellen Terry, the actress. Miss Terry bought the screen from the Duke of Manchester, and it was one of the prizes of her collection. There is but one other like it in existence and it is owned by Georve V., the present King of England. It stands on the grand staircase at Windsor Castle.

The screen is in eight panels and stands nearly eight feet high. It presents a panoramic picture of the coronation procession of Edward VI. showing the route of the great pageant from the Tower of London to Westminster Abbey, including the historic buildings along the way and an extensive view of the Thames. It is painted on cordova leather in illuminated colors by a contemporaneous artist, with stiff little figures and clustered houses, arranged with Oriental effect.

Miss Terry sold the screen to a London dealer, who sent it to New York. It will be sold at auction at Clarke's Art Rooms next Saturday.

MRS. PARKER A BRIDE.

Widow of Francis E. Parker Married to Gustaf Stromberg at Her Home.

Mrs. Henrietta Macaulay Parker, widow of Francis E. Parker of this city, and Gustaf Stromberg were married yesterday at the home of the bride, 160 West Fifty-ninth Street, the Rev. Dr. Lubeck, pastor of the Church of Zion and St. Timothy, officiating. Only the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends were present.

Constant Surveillance

The importance of investigating before purchasing securities cannot be over-emphasized. After that, constant study of the various changes affecting one's investments is required. For instance, who would have thought years ago that large amounts of money would be lost by holding guaranteed stocks of the METROPOLITAN STREET RAILWAY System?

One of our principal functions as investment bankers is to watch such developments and advise necessary changes in investment holdings. Investors, institutional and individual, should consult investment bankers at least annually regarding their holdings.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

First Hour Advance Makes Up Much of Monday's Loss—$2,000,000 in Gold for Berlin.

With no material change in the conditions which had unsettled the world's markets on Monday, the effect of a partial return of confidence due in large part to a growing belief that the Balkan situation is now rapidly mending, was seen yesterday morning in a spirited upturn in prices. The initiative in this movement, as in the downward movements of the previous few days, was taken abroad, but New York was quick to catch the meaning of the change in sentiment and a short interest helped to bring about recovery by taking the other side of the market. Most of the active issues opened with substantial gains; Reading opened up a full point, Union Pacific up ⅞, Steel up ¾, Amalgamated up 1⅛, Erie up 1¼. Canadian Pacific, which had been the centre of the selling movement on Monday, as foreign holders liquidated, opened yesterday with a gain of 2½ points over Monday's close, and 4 points above the low price for that day. The cables brought buying orders for substantial amounts, and the first hour witnessed an unusually active and strong market. With the close of the London Exchange the New York market lost much of its impetus and the balance of the day proved nearly featureless. The comparative dullness induced only a slight reaction in prices, however, and the list closed near the best quotations for the day. There was a feeling that Monday's declines had been largely due to the fear of serious trouble in Germany, and this was lightened somewhat by a realization that the stringency at Berlin had been brought about by an overexpansion of industrial enterprises, and was not due primarily to the uneasy political situation. The gains in yesterday's market almost counterbalanced the losses suffered by the active issues in Monday's slump.

The announcement late in the afternoon of a further engagement of $2,000,000 in gold destined for Berlin was not unexpected, and international bankers looked for further engagements during the next week. It is realized that the United States can stand a further loss of gold if necessary to stabilize the foreign monetary position. Apparently, no considerable progress has yet been made toward clearing up the muddle into which the carefully-worked-out plan for separating the Harriman Pacifics was thrown by the unlooked-for refusal of the California Commission to assent to the terms in so far as they affect the lines in that State. A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Union Pacific yesterday was watched with interest in the belief that it might result in some announcement of a solution of the problem of making the orginal plan conform to the Railroad Commission's revision, but Directors said after the meeting that they were as much at sea as ever. A meeting of the board may be held on Thursday, but the Directors hold out no hope of a plan being ready in time for its submission to the California Board before the date set for the underwriting syndicate agreement to expire. Until the European strain is relieved, this market is likely to be goverend by developments abroad and the clearing up of domestic difficulties will not be sufficient to restore business confidence.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call loaned on Stock Exchange collateral at 3½@4½ per cent., with the last loan at 3½ per cent. Most of the day's business was done at 4 per cent.

The Paris check rate on London was 25 francs 24½ centimes, and the Berlin check rate on London was 20 marks 44½ pfennigs.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Friendly Minority Appeal.

When a united minority stockholding interest goes to the Directors of their company to find out why divdends haven't been paid on their shares, the advance is usually made, figuratively speaking, with club in hand fire in the eye. As an instance of recent memory, the contest between Central Leather's management and the common share owners may be referred to, although the matter of dividends was of secondary importance in this case to a clearer knowledge of prevailing business methods. A distinctly different procedure from this is in evidence in the effort being made by the minority holders of Union Typewriter common stock to get a return on their investment. A committee was quietly formed a few days ago, and as quietly a petition was presented to the Board of Directors to begin dividends just as soon as the time was ripe for them in their judgment. The committee let the management know that it had full confidence in the policy of the company to maintain a high working capital from profits, but the management was told that the common stock ought not to be completely ignored when two succeeding annual reports had shown something better than 6 per cent. available for the stock. There was no hint of belligerency in the proceedings. The common stockholders simply informed the Directors that they would be in a receptive mood for a share of the profits at the earliest possible moment, which they considered should not be far away.

Brake Shoe's Dividend.

In the general run of industrial companies there are not many which provide that the preferred stockholders shall have the advantage over the owners of common stock in participating in extra dividend disbursements. The American Brake Shoe and Foundry Company is one, and the declaration of a 2 per cent. quarterly payment on the $5,000,000 preferred stock yesterday was the first advance over the usual dividend of 1¼ per cent. that the Directors have allowed the shares since the company was formed. The terms under which the company raised its capital was that after 7 per cent. had been paid on the common stock in any year, the Directors would have the right to pay out of surplus a further distribution as they saw fit to the preferred stock.

Bulls Had an Inning.

European buying of the prominent speculative stocks imparted the major degree of strength to the first hour's trading yesterday, but a lot of credit was also due to the bullish traders on the boardroom floor. It was apparent at the close of business on Monday that a substantial short interest had accumulated in the course of the day, and there was no difficulty in sifting out weak positions after the heavy flow of foreign orders yesterday morning gave the cue for the market's immediate movement. The bears resisted in fairly good style, considering the course of prices as a whole, but their adversaries enjoyed a profitable period before the market straightened out into the monotony which continued for the remainder of the session. A member of one of the largest Wall Street commission houses said a week ago that he had every reason to believe that a scattering long account, which aggregated a very large total, was being carried by Stock Exchange firms. Another member of the same house was positive yesterday that a huge short account was on the books of the brokerage houses. If both of these estimates were correct, there must have been a much more lively shifting of positions in the week than was indicated to the casual observer of the market by the volume of transactions. The course of prices, however, would go to substantiate the second broker's statement, for on only one day of last week did the list show any rallying tendency worth while, and the decline was extensive in other sessions.

Guests of the Stock Exchange.

Further evidence of the extent to which the younger element on the New York Stock Exchange is directing matters will be furnished in a few days by the adoption of a new order which would have appeared impossible a few short years ago. A large and comfortable room on the fifth floor of the Exchange Building, with an outlook upon New Street, is being fixed up with a long library table, comfortable arm chairs, a telephone booth, newspaper files, a statistical reference library, news and stock tickers, ice water and other appurtenances of a well equipped office, for the use of financial news writers. There was a time when the Stock Exchange did not make a newspaper reporter feel entirely at home within its walls, and any attempt to obtain anything except approved routine news was looked upon as in the nature of an impertinence. Since the beginning of the "Money Trust" hearings the various committees which have been appointed to look after the interests of the Stock Exchange in matters of legislation have made it a point to keep the reporters informed as to their doings, and the new room was decided upon as a convenient place for representatives of the Exchange to meet the men delegated to learn the Exchange's side of questions involving that body's relations with the public.

May Have Double Holiday.

If business on the Stock Exchange is dull enough next week, the Board of Governors may decide to close the Exchange on Good Friday, March 21, and the day following. A petition asking that this action be taken was circulated on the floor yesterday and was signed by almost all of the brokers. The Exchange has no fixed custom in regard to a formal observance of Good Friday, but it has closed in previous years when trading was at an ebb. The holiday in London tends to keep down business in this market, and advantage will probably be taken of the two-hour session following to close for a three-day rest.

Bank Sues to Foreclose Mortgage.

The Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank began suit yesterday in the Supreme Court to foreclose a mortgage for $170,000 on property on Lenox Avenue between 142d and 143d Streets, owned by G. Alfred Lawrence and his wife, Julia Watts Morris Curtiss Lawrence, who has frequently been in the courts. Mrs. Lawrence spent several years in litigation before she obtained free control of her property, which the courts of Connecticut had put in the hands of a Board of Conservators on representations that her habits were intemperate.

London Market Improves After Weak Opening—Canadian Pacific Recovers.

LONDON, Wednesday, March 12.—The Times says in its City article today:

"The pressure in the money market continued yesterday, and the Bank of England again did a big business in short bills.

"Discount quotations were all a shade higher, there being a good supply of bills. The rate for three months' paper was very nearly 5 per cent., and for shorter maturities, particularly dates in May, a shade over 5 per cent. In spite of this firm tendency, the chief Continental exchanges moved against London.

"The Stock Exchange met with a feeling of uneasiness, uncertainty prevailing in some quarters regarding the amount of monetary assistance which might be obtained at the settlement, which began in securities other than mining shares. Rumors were current that the Imperial Bank of Germany was about to raise its rate and that the clearing banks would raise the charge for fortnightly loans. These reports had no foundation except the fears of nervous members, who went the length of predicting a rise in the official minimum on Thursday. It was soon found that the banks were charging no more than on the last occasion.

"Business showed no signs of expanding, but in the later hours the tone was much more cheerful and in a fair number of instances prices showed advances on the day.

"In spite of the feverish, unsettled tone in Wall Street at the close on Monday, American shares opened well above parity. In the afternoon Wall Street helped the recovery in prices."

PARIS, March 11.—The Bourse opened heavy to-day. A better tone prevailed later, and the market closed firm. Trading was light.

Three per cent. rentes, 89f. 17½c. for the account.

BERLIN, March 11.—There was a general decline in prices on the Boerse today.

Canadian Pacific led with a slump of 6 points, while banks and industrial shares lost from 2 to 3. The closing was weak.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Prices on the opening call on the Consolidated Exchange showed sharp gains over Monday night's closing figures, the improvement in the markets abroad causing a rush to cover shorts, under the impetus of which quotations rose rapidly. When this demand was satisfied, the market eased off slightly, and the tone became quieter until the late trading, when there was renewed buying, although on a lesser scale than in the early dealings.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Gross earnings of the Lehigh Valley Transit Company for transportation sources only were $94,052 in February. For the first two months gross revenues from transportation were 18 per cent. larger than for the corresponding period of last year.

W. B. Franklin & Co. have issued a booklet on the stocks of the various companies involved in the disintegration of the American Tobacco Company.

The past year was the most prosperous in the history of the New York Mortgage and Security Company, and thus far each year has shown a steady increase, both in gross and net, over the preceding year. The amount of outstanding mortgages guaranteed by the company on March 1, 1913, was $35,315,000.

The Kaufmann Department Stores, Inc., of Pittsburgh, have declared the first quarterly dividend on their 7 per cent. preferred stock, payable April 1.

The $2,500,000 three-year 5 per cent. notes of the Chicago & Alton Railroad Company will be paid at the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, at maturity on March 15.

An additional $2,000,000 gold has been engaged for shipment to Paris on La Touraine to-morrow, its ultimate destination probably being Berlin.

Stability of Earnings

The operation of several Public Utility corporations by a single management reduces the operating cost because of the numerous economies that can be effected. This means larger and more stable net earnings than could be secured were the same properties operated separately.

With stability of earnings assured and ample property securing the bonds, the only other element desired is a satisfactory return on the investment. This is supplied in the high-grade bonds of Public Utility corporations that we control and operate and which we offer to conservative investors.

RAILWAY BOUGHT FOR COAL.

Witness So Explains Frost's Purchase of Alaskan Central.

CHICAGO, March 11.—In an effort to prove that the sole purpose of Albert C. Frost and others in buying the Alaskan Central Railway was to procure the coal lands adjoining it, John E. Ballaine, promoter and first President of the road, was placed on the stand by the Government in United States District Judge Landis's court to-day. Mr. Frost took over the road in 1904 and became President of it.

"When you discussed the sale of the road, did Frost say anything about the coal lands?" Special Examiner Townsend asked.

"Yes," Mr. Ballaine replied. "He said that the line was worth little to him except for coal purposes. He said that unless he could procure coal property along the line he would not desire the railroad."

Other witnesses were United States Commissioner Lee Van Slyke of Susitna, Alaska; Receiver F. A. Boyle of Juneau, Alaska; Commissioner J. J. Finnegan of Seward, Alaska, and George E. Parks, a Government mining engineer. Mr. Boyle continued to identify original coal land documents purporting to show that the alleged conspirators used sixty-four names to get that number of 160-acre claims. He testified that one of the original vouchers was signed by Bion J. Arnold, known in many cities as a traction expert.

Brokers Settle with Emma Carus.

When the case of Emma Carus, the actress, against the Stock Exchange firm of W. L. Stevens & Co. for $2,100, was called yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Brady, it was announced that the brokers had settled with the actress. The plaintiff alleged in her complaint that she purchased 100 shares of United States Steel in October, 1911, through the defendant firm, and that on Nov. 13 of that year the brokers converted the stock to their own use, although she offered to pay the full amount due on the stock.

KENDALL GIVES LIST TO PROVE HIS CHARGE

Shows Stock Exchange Control of 23 Per Cent. of American Bank Note Company Stock.

MORGAN'S NAME AT THE TOP

Russell Sage Tried to Get Him to Sell to Rival, and Resigned as Director When He Refused.

George H. Kendall, President of the New York Bank Note Company, replied yesterday to the statement made in the name of President J. B. Mabon by the Stock Exchange last Sunday in answer to his charges that the American Bank Note Company enjoys a practical monopoly of the engraving of securities listed, and that it is largely owned by Stock Exchange members and their associates. In his reply Mr. Kendall gave a list of fourteen interests which he said held 23 per cent. of the American Bank Note Company's capital stock in June, 1910, and asked these questions of Mr. Mabon:

"Do you deny the accuracy of it? Do you deny that they are magnates of Wall Street? It is true that they may have transferred it. If they have, will you kindly explain what for?"

The list, with the number of shares held, is as follows:

J. P. Morgan, 6,250; E. C. Converse, 7,000; W. N. Cromwell, 1,828; J. R. De Lamar, 8,400; Dominick & Dominick and A. D. Dominick, 2,128; E. M. Dominick, 838; Bayard Dominick, 3,066; W. L. Green and family, 1,464; Alfred Jaretski, 616; Charles A. Moore, 2,100; William H. Moore, 5,267; F. S. Smithers, 1,979; A. V. Stout, 1,000; Julius Stout, 2,058; Stout & Co., 322.

Regarding criticism of his character and the character of the management, Mr. Kendall says:

"If there is one single unclean thing about myself or this company, I hereby challenge the Exchange or any of its members to show it as unreservedly as they might in a court of law. If there is a single dereliction from duty, or misfortune in regard to the custody of the securities that we have manufactured, I challenge them to print it as widely as they can get papers to publish it. If there is aught that they can say derogatory to myself, the managers, or the management of the New York Bank Note Company, let them speak it, or forever after hold their peace. However, it seems to me that this branch of their letter is a cheap device to shift the public's accusation of them to one against me."

Mr. Kendall says all the high-class counterfeiters, several of whom he names, are graduates of the American Bank Note Company and none of his company. He recalls the discovery last June of a lot of Brazilian banknotes, ink, and a numbering machine in Hoboken under the bed of a printer, who, he says, was employed by the American Bank Note Company.

"It will be observed," he says, "that this is not inuendo. There may also be observed the stringent character of the Exchange's guard upon the business virtues of their favorite."

Taking up the statement that some of his Directors quit him in 1892, he says:

"Now, as to the resignation of the Directors. It was Russell Sage. And that was all the change at that period. And he is the man who tried to compel me to sell out and become a subsidiary of the American Bank Note Company. And he was the man who was President of my company by the grace of my vote, was a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and in the finality of the affair gave me ten days before the Exchange would prohibit any more of my work being accepted in Wall Street. And he kept his word. Perhaps the Exchange does not know anything about this, but I think it does. I do not propose to take time in answering what Mr. Sage is alleged to have said about me. However, if Mr. Mabon will quote from any man now alive, I shall be pleased to be present and hear what the party has to say."

As to being compelled to print over bond issues during the time his work was accepted by the Exchange, Mr. Kendall says:

"What really happened was this: When we submitted samples previous to delivering to the customer, they held us up so long before passing on them that we gave great dissatisfaction to our trade. My Directors protested so persistently that they changed this rule to passing on the securities after they were delivered, and then all the large issues they declined to list and made us do them over again; so that in one year we never made a cent on the banknote end of the business. The public is welcome to put its own construction on these facts."

Mr. Kendall says he will have something to say later about the independent companies whose work has recently been accepted because of "the Exchange's solicitude for the public not being oppressed by a banknote monopoly." According to the statement, he says, "there would appear to be a gap of some eighteen years when it did not attempt to do anything for the public aforesaid, namely, until we brought our suit seeking to compel the Exchange to break up the monopoly."

ATTACK SAVINGS BANK BILLS.

Small Banks Say They Will Drive Them Out of Business.

Three bills drawn up by State Superintendent of Banks Van Tuyl for the purpose of strengthening the savings bank system by compelling the banks in this State to increase their percentage of surplus have aroused strong opposition on the part of smaller savings banks in this city. Fourteen of these banks have signed resolutions protesting against the proposed measures, alleging that the new laws would work against the smaller banks to the advantage of the larger ones.

The bills were introduced on Jan. 20. The one to which most active objection is made requires savings banks to place in their reserve account 15 per cent. of their net earnings before declaring a dividend, provided that their previous surplus reserve was 5 per cent. or less of deposits. If the reserve should be greater than 5 per cent., but less than 10 per cent., 10 per cent. of net income should be added to it before the declaration of a dividend. The other measures permit the merger of savings institutions under fixed conditions and the establishment of branches.

"Primarily," the resolution says, "these bills will not affect the result claimed by their advocates. The interests favoring these bills attack the savings bank system under color of necessity of greater surplus, which necessity we do not combat; but the result of their proposed remedy means a monopoly for themselves and the crushing of their competitors.

"It is manifest that in place of building up surplus and making the depositors' money more secure Bill No. 366 will have the reverse effect, as it will cause a number of the savings banks to reduce to 3 per cent. dividends, thereby bringing about heavy withdrawals, especially if other banks and trust companies are paying a higher interest rate. Such withdrawals will make necessary the sale of securities in large volume, thereby making lower a possible falling market, with the consequence that the surplus will be greatly reduced. A provision that postpones the operation of the bill to a future date does not alter the principle. We are opposed to any changes in the present law governing savings banks which favor the large and wealthy banks and make it impossible for the smaller and younger savings banks, although perfectly solvent, to continue to do business."

The banks in Manhattan signing the resolutions were the American Savings Bank, the Broadway Savings Institution, the Commonwealth Savings Bank, the Irving Savings Bank, the Maiden Lane Savings Bank, and the North River Savings Bank. The Brooklyn institutions were the Bay Ridge Savings Bank, the Germania Savings Bank, the Hamburg Savings Bank, the Home Savings Bank, and the Prudential Savings Bank. The Bronx Savings Bank, the North Side Savings Bank of the Bronx, and the Home Savings Bank of White Plains were the others.

The head of the committee which prepared the protest was Alderman John H. Boschen, President of the Commonwealth Savings Bank.

COMMODITIES MARKETS.

Grains Lower—Cotton Steady and High—Provisions Weak.

Wheat trading met heavy offerings resulting in a sharp break in prices with the close ⅞ to 1⅜c net lower. Corn showed for the day a net loss of ½c, while the oats market declined sharply closing with a net loss of ⅞ to 1⅜c. Cotton closed very steady at a net gain of from 7 to 8 points. The break in the grain markets caused a heavy selling in provisions and the close was weak at about the lowest for the day.

WHEAT.

As the Government report on farm reserves was published after the close of the market on Monday, yesterday was the first opportunity the trade had of expressing its views on the report through the medium of operations. Some traders expressed the belief early that the market was moderately bullish, in so much that it was not up to private estimates, but after a fairly steady opening the volume of selling increased throughout the day. Offerings became heavy late, and prices broke sharply, closing at a net decline of ⅞c to 1⅜c. The market touched the lowest level reached since about the middle of December, and there appeared to be a general impression that values were feeling the influence of the large supplies. The Government report figures in themselves might not have had such a marked influence on values if it had not been for evidence of accumulating stocks the world over. The European visible supply showed an increase for the week of 4,320,000 bushels, which brought the total to 89,220,000 bushels, compared with 77,200,000 bushels a year ago. Bradstreet's world's visible increased 3,500,000 bushels for the week, with a total of 206,983,000 bushels, against 194,615,000 bushels a year ago. Furthermore, the market lacked the sustaining influence which at this time of the year is often derived from unfavorable crop prospects. The weather in the West was highly satisfactory, and crop accounts were very favorable. Even the foreign crop reports, which recently have been rather unfavorable, showed improvement. About the only encouragement for the day to the bulls was evidence that exporters have been in the market recently, and about 100 loads were reported to have been booked, although a large part of this was believed to be on old business. In the local cash market No. 2 red Winter wheat was quoted at $1.08½, elevator, and $1.10, free on board, afloat; No. 1 Northern Spring, 98½c, free on board, afloat.

CORN.

The fact that the Government report on corn reserves had fallen short of the private estimates caused an early advance of about ⅜c in that market without evidences of further buying by leading bulls. The magnitude of the reserves, however, and the break in wheat resulted in heavy selling during the afternoon, and prices declined ⅞c from the top, closing at a net loss of ½c. Bradstreet's visible supply showed an increase of 1,630,000 bushels, compared with an increase of 814,000 last year. Export corn was quoted at 56¾c free on board, afloat.

OATS.

The farm reserve on oats was so evidently bearish that there was little argument in favor of the market, and prices declined sharply under heavy selling, closing weak at the bottom, with a net loss of ⅞c to ⅝c. Bradstreet's visible increased 680,000 bushels, compared with an increase last year of 2,154,000. The local cash market was easy, standard white quoted at 38c; No. 3, 37½c; No. 4, 36½@37c; natural white, 36½@38c; white clipped, 36½@40c, all track.

COTTON.

The cotton market showed a better tone yesterday and sentiment seemed to be less bearish, if not rather more bullish, owing to reports of a better spot demand, reassuring views as to the financial situation in Europe, and private predictions of wet weather for the belt. Some of the bigger Wall Street shorts were said to be covering, and while the demand was supplied within a comparatively narrow range of prices, the market, after early irregularity, worked gradually higher, and closed very steady at a net gain of from 7 to 8 points for the day. One of the chief trading features of the day was the purchase of 10,000 bales by a prominent Broadway house at one price during the afternoon. This was supposed to be for Wall Street account, and it was estimated that previous purchases for the same account aggregated about 60,000 bales, while there were other estimates that various big Wall Street shorts have covered fully 150,000 bales during the past two or three days. Some thought that this covering on a rally of 10 or 15 points from the lowest indicated that the technical position of the market had weakened, but others contended that there was still a very considerable scattering short interest which might become uneasy should demand broaden or should unfavorable weather develop. Several of the big trade interests are said to be expressing a very favorable view of new crop months below the 11½ cent level, and the reports of an improved foreign spot demand helped the near positions.

The market opened steady, at an advance of 4 to 7 points, in response to relatively steady cables and foreign buying. There was quite a little selling early on an idea that after the close of Liverpool demand would become less active, and prices eased off to within a point or two of Monday's closing figures. The market soon steadied, however, and reched the best point of the day in the late trading, following reports of an improved spot demand from both Memphis and New Orleans, while wires from Eastern sections of the belt reported small offerings. The weather map showed further but light precipitation in the South during the previous twenty-four hours, and the official forecast was for clear except for rains in the Southwest. Weather experts both in New Orleans and New York, however, said the indications were for a renewal of unsettled and rainy weather before the end of the week, and it is felt that an unfavorable planting season would considerably modify the favorable progress of preliminary preparations, as well as the attitude of the farmer toward increased acreage. Southern spot markets, as officially reported, were 1-16c higher to ⅛c lower, generally unchanged.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was firmer at the outset, prompted by an advance of 5 points in the hog market and the belief that Monday's big receipts represented a freak movement. The break in the grain markets in the afternoon appeared to be the signal for heavy selling, however, and late in the day the market was weak, closing at about the lowest. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 32,000; estimated for Wednesday, 30,000. Kansas City received 16,000, and Omaha 15,400.

COTTONSEED OIL.

Conditions in the cottonseed oil market were not of a character to attract confidence either way. Early in the day there was a steadier tone in sympathy with the firmness in lard, but while some refiners were credited with buying March, others were selling that position, and there appeared to be little in the consuming trade to encourage new ventures on the buying side. Crude oil was not being pressed for sale, and this had a tendency to discourage liberal offerings. Late in the day an easier feeling developed, as a result of the break in hog products and grain, and at the close the market showed a net decline of 1 to 3 points.

COFFEE.

Despite firm cables from Europe, where Havre advanced early 1f and Hamburg was ½ pfennig higher, the New York market, after an irregular opening, developed decided heaviness. First prices were 2 to 7 points higher for the near positions and unchanged to 3 points lower for the later months. The decline here caused an easier close abroad, final prices at Havre being ¾ franc down from the top and ¼ franc net higher, while Hamburg was ¼ to ½ pfennig higher. Prices here regained in part, and closed steady at a net decline of 2 to 7 points on total sales of 50,250 bags.

MR. A. G. LEARNED

the most prominent of New York's Dry Point Etchers, says of these reproductions:

"I did not think newspaper art was far enough advanced to make such a reproduction possible. These eight pictures of typical American women sum up the best in Helleu's present style, which is the very epitome of elegance, refinement and graceful technique. Helleu's visit to America has done a great deal to boom the cause of dry point etching in the United States. He has been most fortunate in the selection of his models. They seem to me representative of the best we have here in America."

SEVERE CONDITIONS FOR NON-STOP RUN

Automobiles Whose Motors Stop Between Chicago and Boston Will Suffer—Motor Doings.

Plans for the Chicago-Boston non-stop run, which is to leave the Windy City on June 25, are rapidly maturing, and seven entries were announced by the Chicago Automobile Club, under the auspices of which the run is to be held, before the entry blanks were out. Much interest has been displayed in this contest largely because of the severe conditions. The new rules do not allow drivers of cars extra time for the changing of tires, or for repairs made en route. They provide for two classes of cars, one to include runabouts—counting miniature tonneaus, surreys, and single and double rumbles—the other for touring cars. The entrants in the touring division will be required to carry four or more persons, including the chauffeur, and when a passenger is absent from the car it must carry one hundred and twenty-five pounds of sand ballast as compensation.

Fifteen minutes will be allowed at each control for relief of drivers and observers and for replenishment of oil, fuel and water. During these brief periods the pilots of cars may draw oil and grease from the various cases without incurring penalty. Lubricating all parts of the cars and the filling and turning of grease cups will be permitted in the controls. There will be a penalty of twenty-five points for each motor stop of one minute or fraction thereof, and one point in addition for each succeeding minute or fraction. It may be seen, therefore, that the long run, which includes New York City on its way to the Hub, will be under drastic regulations.

Another big touring event of the coming season, the "Indiana to Pacific Coast Tour," also will be run under novel conditions. Twenty-eight entries have been received so far for this tour, which starts on July 1. From Indianapolis to Kansas City the tourists will sleep in hotels, but after that the nights will be spent in organized open camps, with the exception of stops at Salt Lake City and Denver. A regular army Quartermaster and four cooks probably will be members of the party. There will be two divisions, one for pleasure cars and the other for commercial vehicles. There is a good deal of competition for the route of the tour through Colorado. The itinerary is certain to include St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, and Los Angeles.

According to H. E. Fletcher, United States Minister to Chile, the South American Republics are much interested in the good roads movement.

"As a rule the highways in Chile have excellent natural foundations," he said the other day. "In many localities the roadbeds are of solid rock. Until the advent of the motor car there, however, little attention was paid to the upkeep of the roads, and frequently they were so littered with small boulders and sand as to make travel by automobile an expensive, unpleasant, and somewhat hazardous undertaking. Now the motor enthusiasts are pushing the good roads movement with great results."

⁂

A device to relieve road shock and save tires on commercial vehicles has steel balls superimposed in a chamber around the axle to convert road shock into rotary motion. It is the invention of John Muir of London, England, and is said to have undergone satisfactory tests in that country.

⁂

Still another pleasure car has now come to try its fortunes along "automobile row." The Inter-State, heretofore sold chiefly in the Middle West, is to have Col. K. C. Pardee as representative for the Metropolitan district.

AUTO COHORTS FOR ALBANY.

Many Will Start for Capital To-night to Oppose Motor Legislation.

To-night will see many motorists and representatives of motoring and trade organizations on their way to Albany to attend the hearing on Thursday morning before the Internal Affairs Committee of both the Senate and Assembly on the twenty-one proposed automobile bills, most of which they oppose. Among those who will make the trip either to-night or by early train in the morning are:

Charles A. Stewart, general manager of the Automobile Dealers' Association; Herbert L. Carpenter, President of the Brooklyn Motor Vehicle Dealers' Association; Harry M. Bronner, R. H. Johnston, Charles M. Brown, Frank Eveland, Capt. Stratton, Arthur Lesser and William C. Poertner, together with representatives of the Motor Truck Club, Electric Vehicle Association, Brooklyn Garage Owners' Association, Professional Automobile Engineers, Cab Drivers and Chauffeurs Union, National Association of Automobile Manufacturers, New York State Automobile Association, Yonkers Automobile Club, Poughkeepsie Automobile Club, Long Island Automobile Club, Automobile Club of Syracuse and forty-eight other affiliated automobile clubs of New York State.

At the last meeting of the Manhattan Automobile Club a resolution was adopted supporting the fight on the new bills. A. B. Cordner, the club's president, said that the club was always opposed to what he termed "class legislation."

THE RUBBER EXCHANGES.

Demand in London Brisk—Local Market Inactive.

A fairly brisk demand was found at the fortnightly auction of crude rubber in London yesterday. According to cable messages received in this market early in the afternoon, 200 of the 950 tons of plantation grades offered had been taken. Prices showed weakness, however. Smoked sheets and pale crêpe brought only 4s. 1d. and 3s. 11@11¼d. a pound, respectively. At the last previous sale these grades commanded, respectively, 4s. 3d. and 4s. ¾d.

The local market continued inactive, trading being entirely confined to such lots as were needed for immediate use. With prices at present levels there is little incentive for the manufacturing interests to buy heavily, and the present inactivity is expected to continue indefinitely. Upriver fine was quoted at 94 cents a pound by one of the largest traders in the market yesterday, with pale crêpe at 96 cents.

TELL OF SHORT-WEIGHT COAL

Purchasers Testify That They Lose from 2 to 5 Per Cent.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—W. B. Downing, a Philadelphia coal dealer, testified this afternoon at the Inter-State Commerce Commission coal weight investigation in the Bourse that for years his shipments from the Philadelphia & Reading Coal Company averaged 2 per cent. short on every ton.

"My claims for rebates were laughed at both by the railroad and by the coal company," said Downing.

Officials of the Philadelphia House of Detention testified that it was a regular thing for 100-ton shipments to be two tons short.

James C. Tatterstall, a coal dealer of Trenton, member of the Trenton Retail Dealers' Association and a member and Director of the Pennsylvania Association, testified he had been weighing consignments of coal for several years, and had reweighed several consignments recently, none of which agreed with the stencil weight on the cars. They varied, he said, from 1,160 pounds overweight to 7,332 pounds underweight, the latter cars giving evidences of the cars' having been tampered with and some of the coal removed. The average shortage on ten cars weighed, he said, was 550 pounds.

He gave it as his opinion that the only way to correct the evil of large shortages was to weight the cars standing still, instead of running, as is now the practice. His yearly loss in weight, he estimated to be at least 5 per cent. Some of that loss, he said, was due to moisture and some of it to inadequate weighing methods.

Edward R. Pussey of Wilmington, Del., also a member of the Pennsylvania Retail Dealers' Association, testified that he had weighed a number of cars of coal shipped by the Philadelphia & Reading and Lehigh Valley companies that weighed short from 274 to 1,132 pounds.

W. H. Keffer, Division Superintendent of the Philadelphia & Reading, described in great detail the system used in the weighing of coal and gave it as his opinion from twenty-eight years' experience that coal weighed on the run would be as accurately accounted for as if it were weighed standing. He also said it would not be practical to weigh coal standing, as the volume handled was too great, and Philadelphia and other cities would suffer by the necessary delay in shipments.

The hearing was adjourned late this afternoon until March 17, when it will be resumed in New York City.

LAST FROM POWDER TRUST.

Report Before Dissolution Gives Terms Made with Stockholders.

The last annual report which will be issued by the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Powder Company, which has been dissolved by order of the Supreme Court, shows record gross earnings for the year ended Dec. 31 last of $36,524,000, as compared with $34,389,000 for 1911, and net earnings of $6,971,000, as compared with $6,544,000 for the previous year. H. M. Barksdale, Acting President, explains the recent growth in business as being chiefly due to the increased sale of explosives for agricultural purposes.

The annual report of the old trust announces for the first time the terms on which the stockholders surrendered their shares for those of the segregated companies. Two new companies, the Hercules Powder Company and the Atlas Powder Company, were organized under the court's decree to receive and operate the factories separated from the parent company. Both of these companies commenced active business on Jan. 1, 1913.

In payment for the properties segregated the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Powder Company received $6,500,000 6 per cent. ten-year bonds and $6,500,000 in stock of the Hercules Powder Company, $3,000,000 in 6 per cent. ten-year bonds and $3,000,000 in stock of the Atlas Powder Company. Half of the bonds and all of the stock have been distributed to the common stockholders of the old company, each share of stock receiving $11.0555122 in 6 per cent. Hercules bonds, $5.1025441 in 6 per cent. Atlas bonds, 65,000—293,-971 of one share of the capital stock of the Hercules Company, and 30,000—293,-971 of one share of Atlas stock. The company expects to be able to pay 8 per cent. on its own stock.

The plan of offering subscriptions of stock to employes and of distributing common stock bonuses to those of them who have earned additional compensation by exceptional effort and atainment has resulted in the sale of 8,910 shares of preferred and 1,031 shares of the common, and the distribution of 9,570 shares of the common. Of the 2,697 stockholders in 1912 1,400, or 53 per cent., were employes.

In the past year a factory for the elaboration of nitrate of soda was completed in Chile. The Du Pont Nitrate Company, incorporated in Delaware, was formed to operate this property, and has issued in payment $800,000 in 7 per cent. preferred stock and a like amount in common, all owned by the parent company.

COMMISSION BILL UP TO-DAY.

Trade Thinks Roosevelt Withdrawal from Senate Will Kill Measure.

Recent advices from Washington telling of the nomination of State Senator F. D. Roosevelt as Assistant Secretary of the Navy were well received in the local commission trade. There was a feeling in this trade yesterday that the withdrawal of Mr. Roosevelt from the State Senate would result in the killing of the bill introduced there by him, providing for the licensing and bonding of all commission sellers of farm produce in this State, excepting under conditions specified in the revised bill offered a short time ago, before it was put up to the Senate and Assembly for consideration. This bill has aroused considerable feeling among the commission men of this city, and strong opposition to its passage has sprung up.

A committee hearing on the new bill will be given at Albany to-day. Ex-State Senator E. M. Travis and other prominent representatives of the local trade will attend the hearing, and will endeavor to show why the bill should be abandoned.

Diamond Match Earnings Usual.

The Diamond Match Company had earnings from all sources last year, before deducting for repairs and renewals, of $2,505,191, which compares with $2,406,443 for the previous year. Dividends paid in 1912 were $1,125,000, as compared with $960,000 in 1911, leaving a balance for the surplus account of $394,868 last year, against $914,013 in 1911.

PRINTCLOTH MARKET EASIER.

Printcloth trading was quiet yesterday in this market, and, while no price changes of importance occurred, the tone was distinctly easier. Some scattering local sales of 39-inch, 68-72s, were reported at 5¾ cents, and several lots of 38½-inch, 64-60s, and 38½-inch, 64-56s, were moved at Fall River at 5⅛ and 5 cents, respectively. Both these prices were 1-16 of a cent a yard off recent figures there. Some excellent sales of 39-inch, 68-76s, three-leaf twills were made here at 6⅜ cents, a figure considered low by sellers. A good call for brocaded and jacquard-figured sateens was also in evidence. The day's quotations follows:

27-inch, 56-52s..3 1-16c	38½-inch, 64-60s...5½c

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

The Paterson silk strike is aiding the manufacturers and dyers in Pennsylvania. With the production of the Paterson mills practically stopped local sellers are drawing heavily on the Pennsylvania factories for merchandise.

Some rather startling effects in millinery are seen this Spring. One of these, a purple straw shape trimmed with a wide cerise ribbon, is popular.

Nothwithstanding the advance of the button shoe this season the call for the lace styles has apparently shown little diminution. It is said by dealers that the lace shoe fits the foot better than the button style.

WEEK'S EXPORTS INCREASE.

Shipments to England Head List with Total of $4,271,760.

According to figures given out yesterday at the local Custom House, exports, exclusive of specie, from this port in the week ended March 8 totaled $19,904,088, against $15,626,358 in the coresponding week in 1912. Shipments to England headed the week's list, their value, $4,271,760, nearly doubling the total of exports to Germany, which ranked second. Exports to the British possessions, France, Italy, Brazil and the Netherlands also exceeded the $1,000,000 mark.

Wheat showed the sharpest decline in the week's commodity shipments. These exports totalled only 497,019 bushels, against 1,195,626 bushels in the week preceding. Beef shipments were also lower, with 1,284 barrels and 366 tierces. Among other shipments of important commodities during the week were flour, 21,454 barrels and 101,877 sacks; oatmeal, 1,767 packages; pork, 2,030 barrels; bacons, 3,824,625 pounds; hams, 58,400 pounds; lard, 5,752,600 pounds; cheese, 47,400 pounds; cottonseed oil 3,747,130 pounds and refined petroleum, 5,977,770 gallons.

WOMEN'S WEAR ACTIVE.

Good Fall Trade Expected—Serges and Eponge Lead in Colors.

The business outlook is reported to be good by manufacturers of women's cloaks and suits. At the moment suits seem the more in demand, although coats are reported stronger than was expected. For suitings Bedford cords, eponges, poplins, and serges sell best. Bengalines and crepons are strong also. At the moment blouse suits and Bulgarian blouses are the most wanted styles, and it is said that skirts will not be worn so tight-fitting.

For Summer cloakings striped eponge and cotton damask seem to show best sales. Coats will be considerably shorter, it is said, and the Bolero Eton effect popular. Lace is being used extensively for trimming, and pearl and horn buttons are practically all that are seen. Pile fabrics and astrakans will, no doubt, be used largely for Fall cloakings. It appears to be a color season in everything, and rose is especially in demand. Blues, ecru, and tans are also much wanted.

NO TYPEWRITER TRUST.

Union Company Changes Not Due to Fear of a Government Suit.

A report that the Union Typewriter Company, manufacturer of the Remington, Smith Premier, and Monarch machines, was being dissolved in anticipation of a Federal suit under the Sherman anti-Trust act, was denied last night by J. Walter Earle, President of the company. Mr. Earle said that the story had come up because of a decision to change the company's name to the Remington Typewriter Company.

"We have made and contemplate making no changes in the organization of our business other than the change in name," said Mr. Earle. "Remington is a much better known trade term than Union and has been adopted for that reason only. We are manufacturing and selling machines under our patents and have not violated the anti-trust law."

The Smith Premier and Monarch plants, in Syracuse, formerly known as works of the Union Typewriter Company, are now called the Remington Works, as well as the original plant at Ilion.

DRESS GOODS TRADE GOOD.

Past Season Large and Good Fall Business Expected—Featured Colors.

Local manufacturers of dress goods report having done a very large Spring business. Staple fabrics were more in demand than novelties, and the call for serges was heavy. A very good Fall season is anticipated generally. It is thought that staple fabrics will again be the large sellers, and serges and broad cloths the most wanted materials.

Composé cloths will be featured this Fall by a representative house, and large sales for suitings purposes, are looked for. This cloth is a union of harmonizing combinations in the same material, and when made up is said to produce a very striking effect. Ribs and crepons are expected to be much wanted. Colors seem to tend toward blues and tans, while the usual demand for blacks and greens is looked for.

COAL PRODUCTION CURTAILED

Light Demand for Anthracite Continues—Bituminous Mart Quiet.

Reviewing the week in the local coal market The Coal Trade Journal will say to-day:

"The production of anthracite has been sharply curtailed during the past week as a result of continued light demand, which made it impossible to market a maximum output. Both the companies and the individual operators have been restricting, the shut-downs ranging in length from a single day to a full week. Not all of the mines have been affected, but nearly all of the producing interests have suspended operations at one or more plants at least, and one or two of the largest producers closed all of their collieries temporarily toward the end of the week.

"The bituminous market is quiet. There is but a limited amount of current buying, with considerable low grade coal remaining at the piers which it is difficult to dispose of even at prices approximating $1 at the mines. On the other hand, not much tonnage is being sent to this market on consignment, and the better grades show few signs of weakening."

$50,000 MORE FOR PENSIONS.

Pennsylvania Stockholders Praise Former President McCrea.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—An increase in the pension fund of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company from $700,000 to $750,000, the ratification of the annual report, and of the absorption of the Cambria & Clearfield Railroad Company were the chief items of interest at the meeting of the Pennsylvania stockholders to-day. Incidentally, the Directors paid a high compliment to former President James McCrea, who is ill.

C. Stuart Patterson spoke of the memorial agreed upon by the Directors at the time of the resignation of President McCrea. He said that he could add nothing to it; but, turning to the stockholders, said that he wished they would join him in honoring Mr. McCrea, who was continued as a member of the Board of Directors, and in the hope that Mr. McCrea would have a quick recovery from his illness. All present rose and showed their approval of what the Directors had accomplished.

By resolution the stockholders agreed to raise the added amount needed for the pension fund and to allow the Directors to make whatever increases were necessary.

$2,000,000 GOLD ENGAGED.

Goes Out in Bars on La Touraine To-morrow.

An engagement of $2,000,000 in gold bars for shipment to Paris on the La Touraine to-morrow was announced after the close of business in Wall Street yesterday. The consignee of the shipment was not made known. Earlier in the day $100,000 in gold was engaged at the Sub-Treasury for transfer to Venezuela later in the week.

It could not be learned that the German banks were pressing bids for loans in the Street yesterday, and the interest basis continued at 6½ per cent. despite the fact that 9 per cent. was being paid in Berlin for short term obligations to carry over the April settlement. While the money situation abroad seemed to have become more easy than at the close of last week, a more confident feeling prevailed among local bankers that the German settlement would be carried through without exceptional difficulty. Further exportation of gold in bars and coin is looked for, nevertheless, on a broad scale.

Discharge for Albert O. Brown.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals handed down a decision yesterday by Judge Lacombe affirming the order of Judge Mayer of the District Court granting discharges from bankruptcy to Albert O. Brown and Lewis G. Young, partners in the firm of A. O. Brown & Co., stock brokers, of 30 Broad Street, who failed in August, 1908, with liabilities of $4,695,930. Leonard A. Hochstadter, a creditor, appealed from Judge Mayer's decision, asserting that the bankrupts failed to keep books of accounts or records from which their true financial condition could be ascertained. Judge Lacombe did not think this of sufficient importance to vacate the discharge.

To Compel Missouri Incorporation.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 11.—The Missouri House of Representatives to-day passed a bill requiring all railroad companies doing business in Missouri to incorporate under the laws of this State. The purpose of the bill is to make it possible for residents of Missouri to sue the railroad companies in the State courts. All the railroad companies operating in Missouri, except the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain system, are foreign corporations.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

ROSENTHAL BROTHERS.—A petition has been filed against Frank and Solomon M. Rosenthal, who compose the firm of Rosenthal Brothers, wholesale dealers in silks and laces, Marbridge Buliding, Thirty-fourth Street and Broadway, by Charles L. Wickersham receiver, bond $10,000, with authority to carry on business for thirty days. The petition resulted from the opposition of a few creditors to accepting a settlement at 50 cents on the dollar which the firm proposed a few weeks ago. FORECLOSURE SALES.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE PURSUANT TO ADJOURNMENT.—DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES, SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF OHIO, EASTERN DIVISION.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK against DETROIT SOUTHERN RAILROAD COMPANY et al.—In Equity.—No. ——

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to and by virtue of a decree of foreclosure and sale made and entered the 19th day of December, 1912, in the above entitled cause, and in pursuance of an order directing adjournment of sale, entered therein on the 31st day of January, A. D. 1913, the undersigned, ELMER W. VOORHEIS, the Special Master appointed in and by said decree, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, at the station building of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, in the City of Springfield, County of Clark, State of Ohio, on the 17th day of April, 1913, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, all the railroads, property, premises, and franchises ordered and decreed by said foreclosure decree to be sold by the undersigned.

For a more specific description of such railroads, property, premises, franchises, and equipment so to be sold, reference is made to said foreclosure decree filed in the office of the clerk of said court at Columbus, Ohio, on the 19th day of December, 1912, and to the notice or advertisement of sale heretofore published by the undersigned Special Master Commissioner, in the following newspapers, viz.: New York Times and Springfield Sun, on the 24th and 31st days of December, A. D. 1912, and the 7th, 14th, 21st, and 28th days of January, A. D. 1913.

The above-mentioned railroads, property, premises, and franchises specifically described herein and in said decree as aforesaid will be sold as an entirety in one lot or parcel.

With said property there shall be included and sold one-half of the supplies and materials in the possession of the Receiver at the time of sale, the division thereof to be made by the Receiver subject to order of the Court, and also one-half of the locomotives, cars, and equipment generally belonging thereto and purchased during the receivership under authority of the Court, all such equipment to be taken by the purchaser subject to the terms and conditions of any equipment trust agreement, or agreement for repairs or purchase, the identity of the equipment to be determined by the Receiver in accordance with the records in his possession subject to supervisory order of the Court.

The Special Master will accept no bid of less than $1,550,000 for the railroads, property, premises, and franchises directed to be sold by said decree, and no bid will be accepted by said Special Master unless the bidder place in his hands at the time of bidding, as a part of his bid and a pledge to make the same good if accepted and the sale confirmed, the sum of $100,000 in cash, by certified check, or certificate of deposit approved by the Special Master, which sum shall be forfeited in case the bidder who is successful shall fail to make good his bid and comply with the terms of the said decree and of any orders thereafter made as to future payments or otherwise, but the same shall be applied on the purchase price in case of such compliance, or returned in case the bid is not successful or the sale shall not be confirmed by the Court. The right of the Court is reserved to reject any bid and to retake and resell the property, or any part thereof, upon failure of the purchaser to comply with any order of the Court as to the payment of the remainder of the purchase price, or any part thereof, or upon failure of the purchaser to comply with any condition of the sale or any order of the Court in that regard. Included in the upset price of $1,550,000 above mentioned is the sum of $139,940.80, with interest thereon to September 1st, 1912, in the further sum of $25,518.31, being that portion of the receivers' certificates issued and outstanding which is apportionable against the mortgaged railroads, property, premises, and franchises if established as a claim prior to the aforesaid Ohio Southern Division mortgage, and the purchaser or purchasers, in lieu of depositing in the registry of the Court said sum of $139,940.80, together with the interest amounting to $25,518.31, may as part of such purchase price give a bond in such amount as shall be approved by the Court, conditioned upon the payment of said sum, with the interest accrued and to accrue thereon, if established as a claim prior to said Ohio Southern Division mortgage.

So much of the purchase price as is not in said decree directed to be paid in cash may be paid either in cash or in claims, payable under article 4 of said decree, or in receivers' certificates, payable under article 4 of said decree, or in bonds issued under said Ohio Southern Division mortgage, with overdue coupons thereof, at such proportion of value as the holders thereof would be entitled to receive thereon on distribution of the proceeds of the sale, in case the purchase price were wholly paid in cash.

All taxes and assessments upon the railroads, property, premises, and franchises sold, and all said receivers' certificates, and all claims payable under said article 4 of the said decree, will be allowed out of the purchase money, where the purchaser produces proof of such liens and claims, and receipts for the payment thereof, or surrenders such certificates, and the Special Master will in his discretion accept temporarily, instead of the actual delivery of the said bonds and coupons or receivers' certificates, the certificate of any trust company satisfactory to him that it holds the said bonds and coupons or receivers' certificates subject to the order of said Special Master, and will deliver them to him on demand, for cancellation or other disposition.

Any person proposing to purchase at the said sale the said railroad property, premises, franchises, and equipment is referred to the said decree in this notice specifically mentioned for a more full and complete description of the railroads, property, premises, franchises, and equipment therein directed to be sold, which it is proposed to sell in accordance with this notice, and also for the terms and conditions upon which the sale of the said railroads, property, premises, franchises, and equipment shall be made. Certified copies of the said decree will be in the possession of the said Special Master at the time and place of sale, and may be inspected by interested persons or bidders.

Dated March 4th, 1913.

City.

Four thousand and sixty-two policemen will be examined for Police Sergeant at the Grand Central Palace to-day, to-morrow, and Friday. The candidates will be divided into platoons or squads. Each man will have one day's test and will be required to furnish his own pen and ink.

The physical tests for patrolmen will be begun by the Municipal Civil Service Commission to-day at 54 Lafayette Street. One hundred candidates have been summoned. On March 14 125 candidates will take the test. Thereafter on every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday until the list is exhausted about 100 candidates will be examined daily.

On the recommendation of Assistant Chief Examiner Murray the commission will hold an examination for promotion to the position of general storekeeper, at $1,500 a year, in the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity. Pending the preparation of the list the commission has approved the provisional employment of Charles D. Olmstead as storekeeper.

The commission has granted the request of Commissioner of Public Works O'Leary of Queens for an examination for promotion from assistant section foreman to section foreman in the Bureau of Street Cleaning of that department.

The application of Miss Katharine M. Gyves to have her title changed from typewriting copyist in the Building Bureau of the Department of Education to clerk with knowledge of stenography has been denied. It was approved by Superintendent of School Buildings Snyder. Assistant Chief Examiner Murray, however, reported that the examination in which Miss Gyves qualified for appointment to her present position does not include a test in stenography, and that in his opinion the change of title cannot be approved.

The commission has also denied the request of James C. Barrie for a special examination for promotion to fourth-grade clerk, Department of Health. Mr. Murray reported that Barrie's failure to appear on the day of the regular examination was not due to a manifest error or mistake, for which the commission is responsible.

The computing clerk has been directed to place the name of James F. McCool, a process server in the Law Department, on the list for promotion to process server, second grade, in the event of his passing the examination. At the time he filed application he was employed in the Bureau for the Collection of Personal Taxes, but was later transferred to the main office, where he was employed on the date of the examination.

United States.

An examination for general clerk in the Departmental service was held at the New York Custom House yesterday. There were 194 competitors.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination for stenographer and typewriter, for men only, on March 25, to fill vacancies as they may occur in this position in the Departmental Service at Washington, D. C., at usual entrance salaries of $840 and $900 per annum. The opportunity for appointment of qualified eligibles is excellent, as the register of male eligibles is exhausted. Advancement of capable appointees is reasonably rapid.

Attention is invited to the fact that this examination is now held on the fourth Tuesday of each month. Full information in regard to the scope and character of the examination and list of places at which it is held are contained in Form 1424, revised to Jan., 1913. Under an act of Congress applicants for this examination are required to be examined in the State in which they reside, and to have been actually domiciled in such State for at least one year previous to the examination.

Age, 18 years or over on the date of the examination, which is open to all men who are citizens of or owe allegiance to the United States, and who meet the requirements.

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

The report of the Association of German Automobile Manufacturers for 1911-12 gives the increase in value of Germany's exports of automobiles in 1912 as about $5,600,000, or 49 per cent., compared with a gain of $3,500,000, or 47 per cent., in 1911. The passenger cars exported numbered roundly 6,800, against 5,136 in 1911, 3,399 in 1910, 1,838 in 1909, 1,151 in 1908, and 958 in 1907.

A special bank for the lumber business is being organized at Minsk, in northwestern Russia. It is possible that the bank will be opened with a capital of $1,000,000, in which case the chief central bank in Minsk will have branches in Vilno, Gomel, and Bobruisk. It is expected that this bank will be of great assistance to the timber business in Russia.

The exports from Port Elizabeth, South Africa, for the first eleven months of 1912 were $2,500,000 in excess of the similar period last year, and at East London the increase was $1,125,000. Of the increase from this port about $750,000 was shipped to America direct. Shipment of ostrich feathers, hides and skins, and wool increased.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE PURSUANT TO ADJOURNMENT.

CHANCERY SALE.—In pursuance and by virtue of the amended decrees of foreclosure and sale in favor of The New York Trust Company, complainant, made and entered by the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division, and of the District Court of the United States for the Northern District of Ohio, Western Division, and of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, which amended decrees were dated on the 9th day of December, A. D. 1912, and entered in said Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division, December 9, 1912, in said Northern District of Ohio, Western Division, December 12, 1912, and said Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, December 12, 1912, in causes pending in said respective courts, and which were entitled: The New York Trust Company, complainant, vs. Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, et al., defendants; Columbia-Knickerbocker Trust Company, complainant, vs. Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, defendant; William J. Courtney, et al., complainants, vs. Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, defendant. (Consolidated Cause. In Equity); the causes pending in the said districts of Ohio, being ancillary to the cause pending in the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division, and in pursuance of orders directing adjournment of sale, entered therein on the twentieth day of January, A. D. 1913. Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Special Master Commissioner of said courts, will sell at public auction, to the highest and best bidders, on Thursday, the seventeenth day of April, A. D. 1913, at twelve o'clock noon, standard time, of said day, at the station of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company, in the city of Springfield, in the State of Ohio, being on the property described to be sold, all the properties by the said decrees directed to be sold, to wit:

All the properties by the said decrees declared to be covered by the General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage from the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton Railway Company to The New York Trust Company, dated May 2, 1905, and by the said decrees directed to be sold.

The properties above described covered by said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage have heretofore been operated as one railroad system, but are so situated with respect to the liens thereon as to compel a sale in parcels. The said properties consist of two parcels, to wit: The first parcel, the Ohio Southern Division, containing 223.85 miles, comprising all and singular the line of railroad from the City of Lima, in Allen County, Ohio, through the Counties of Allen, Auglaize, Shelby, Logan, Champaign, Clarke, Madison, Fayette, Highland, Ross, Pike, Jackson, Gallia and Lawrence, in said State, to the Village of Rockwood, in said Lawrence County, and all branches, additions and extensions thereof, including the branch or branches extending from said main line at Jeffersonville, Fayette County, northeastwardly through Fayette and Madison Counties to Sedalia, and from said Jeffersonville southwestwardly through Fayette, Greene and Clinton Counties to Kingman, all in said State of Ohio. The second parcel, that portion of the said Railway which extends from Delray (Detroit) to Lima, containing 137.6 miles, known as the Northern Division and that portion of the said Railway which extends from Bloom Junction to Ironton, including the Dean Branch, containing 36.12 miles, known as the Southern Division, there being operated in conjunction with the said Northern and Southern Divisions forty-three miles of leased lines of railroad, making an aggregate of owned and leased lines in the Northern and Southern Divisions of 216.72 miles.

The properties covered by said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage will therefore be sold as follows: The Special Master Commissioner will first put up for sale that portion of the property known as the Ohio Southern Division described as aforesaid, subject nevertheless to the mortgage thereof from Detroit Southern Railroad Company to Central Trust Company of New York, dated June 1, 1901, to secure an authorized issue of bonds aggregating $4,500,000 of principal, bearing interest at the rate of four per centum per annum, payable semi-annually March and September 1st, and under which bonds to the aggregate principal sum of $4,495,000, have been issued and are outstanding. Said principal outstanding sum has been matured. There is now due upon said bonds $4,495,000 of principal, besides interest thereon at the rate of four per centum per annum from September 1, 1910. Suit for the foreclosure of the said mortgage has been brought and decree of foreclosure and sale was entered therein by the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of Ohio, Eastern Division, December 19, 1912. The Special Master Commissioner will then and whether or not any bid has been received or accepted upon the offering of the Ohio Southern Division immediately put up for sale the parts of the property known as the Northern Division and the Southern Division, generally described as aforesaid, and he will then and whether or not any bid has been received or accepted upon the offering either of the Ohio Southern Division or the Northern and Southern Division, immediately put up for sale the entire property as a unit.

The offerings of the separate divisions will in each case be subject to the sale of the property as a whole and to the right of the Court to accept the bid or bids which it shall deem the highest and best in the interests of the parties. With each divisional parcel sold there will be included and sold as part thereof one-half in value and as nearly as may be one-half in kind and description of the supplies and materials in the possession of the receiver at the time of sale, division thereof to be made by the receiver subject to the supervisory order of the Court; and with each divisional parcel sold there will be included and sold as part thereof the cars and equipment generally belonging thereto, to-wit: in the case of the Ohio Southern Division the cars and equipment included within the Ohio Southern Division Mortgage to Central Trust Company of New York, hereinbefore described, and in the case of the Northern and Southern Divisions the cars and equipment included in the General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage to The New York Trust Company, hereinbefore described, and with each divisional parcel there will also be included and sold as part thereof, one-half of the locomotives, cars and equipment purchased under authority of the Court during the receivership.

The identity of the equipment will in all cases be determined by the Receiver, in accordance with the records in his possession, and subject to the supervisory order of the Court. In case the whole property shall be sold as a unit all of the said supplies and equipment will be included and sold as part thereof. In any event, the purchaser of any equipment which at the time of the sale shall be held under Equipment Trust Agreement or Agreement for Repairs or for Purchase shall take the same subject to all the terms and conditions of such Trust Agreement or Agreement for Repairs or Purchase, including all provisions for deferred payments; and such purchaser shall by such purchase be held to have assumed and to have agreed to carry out and fulfill the terms and conditions of the said agreements affecting the equipment so purchased by him.

The equipment, or parts thereof, is subject to the following equipment trust agreements or agreements for repairs or purchase:

Agreement with American Locomotive Company, dated September 15, 1909, for purchase of eight locomotives, numbered 100 to 107 inclusive, requiring periodical payments to September 15, 1913; amount due after December 1, 1912, $27,911.25.

Agreement with American Locomotive Company, dated December 1, 1910, for purchase of twelve locomotives, numbered 108 to 119 inclusive, requiring periodical payments to January 14, 1916; amount due after December 1, 1912, $77,400.00.

Agreement accepted November 1, 1911, with Crawford Locomotive & Car Company, for repairing two hundred gondola coal cars and two hundred box cars, requiring semi-monthly payments on basis "per diem" rates until full payment; amount due after December 1, 1912, $56,055.15.

Agreement accepted November 9, 1912, with Central Locomotive & Car Works for repair of one thousand gondola coal cars and one thousand box cars, payments to be made semi-monthly on basis of forty-five cents per day per car until full payment; amount due after December 1, 1912, approximately $500,000.

Agreement accepted November 19, 1912, with Norfolk & Western Railway Company, for repairs to five locomotives, payment to be made in receiver's certificates; amount due after December 1, 1912, approximately $15,000.

Agreement accepted November 9, 1912, with Central Locomotive & Car Works for purchase of five hundred second hand coal cars, payments to be made semi-monthly on basis of forty-five cents per day per car until full payment; amount due after December 1, 1912, $137,395.60.

In the event that the properties shall not be sold as a unit but in separate parcels, as in this notice hereinafter provided, any receiver's obligations and indebtedness incurred after September 1, 1912, and any indebtedness which pursuant to the provisions of said amended decrees of the further order of the said Court shall have priority over the said Ohio Southern Division Mortgage and said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage or either of them, shall be divided between and charged upon the respective divisions of the said railroad in accordance with the principles established by the report of the Master filed in the said Court in the Eastern District of Michigan, Southern Division, December 9, 1912, subject to the further supervisory order of the said Court.

The said Master Commissioner will accept no bid of less than $1,550,000 for the Ohio Southern Division upon a sale thereof as a separate parcel; he will accept no bid of less than $1,650,000 upon the Northern and Southern Divisions upon a sale thereof as a separate parcel, and he will accept no bid of less than $3,200,000 for the whole property upon a sale thereof as a unit. The said minimum sums were fixed by the Court in the said decrees in order to prevent a sacrifice and to protect the interests of all concerned as the least sums for which the said properties respectively should be sold. The Master will not accept any bid unless the bidder shall place in his hands at the time of the bid as a part of his bid and a pledge to make the same good if accepted and the sale confirmed, the following sums in cash, to wit: Upon a bid for the Ohio Southern Division the sum of $100,000; upon a bid for the Northern and Southern Divisions the sum of $100,000, and upon a bid for the whole property as a unit, the sum of $200,000. Said sums may be placed with the Special Master Commissioner by certified cheque or certificate of deposit approved by the Master. The sum deposited shall be forfeited in case the bidder if successful shall fail to make good his bid and comply with the terms of the said decrees and any orders hereafter made as to future payments or otherwise; but each of said deposited sums may be applied on the purchase price of the parcel of the whole property in respect of which the deposit is made in case of such compliance by the purchaser, or returned in case the bid in question is not successful or the sale in question shall not be confirmed by the Court. The deposits in respect of either or both the parcels may at the option of the bidder be deposited on account of the required deposit for a bid on the entire property.

The Court reserves the right to reject any bid, and to resell the property in respect of which the bid shall have been made or any part thereof upon failure of the purchaser to comply with any order of the Court as to payment of the remainder of the purchase price or any part thereof.

There shall be paid in cash of the price, at which the said property shall be sold, in addition to the amounts paid at the time of the sale, such further portions of the purchase money as the Court shall direct. The remainder of the purchase money may be paid as follows:

Upon a sale of the Ohio Southern Division wholly or partly in cash and in claims payable under Article 3 of said amended decree, or in receiver's certificates payable under Article 3 of said amended decree, to the extent and proportion that such claims and receiver's certificates are by said amended decree charged upon the Ohio Southern Division.

Upon a sale of the Northern and Southern Divisions wholly or partly in cash and in claims payable under Article 3 of said amended decree, or in receiver's certificates, payable under Article 3 of said amended decree, to the extent and proportion that such claims and receiver's certificates are by said amended decree charged upon the Northern and Southern Divisions.

Upon the sale of the whole property as a unit in cash or in claims payable under Article 3 of said amended decree, or in receiver's certificates payable under Article 3 of said amended decree; and also upon a sale either of the Northern and Southern Divisions or of the whole property as a unit in said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage Bonds, with overdue coupons thereon, or in said Consolidated Bonds, with overdue coupons thereon, at such proportion of value as the holders thereof would be entitled to receive thereon on distribution of the proceeds of such sale in case such price were wholly paid in cash.

All taxes and assessments upon the property sold and all said receiver's certificates and all claims payable under Article 3 of said amended decree, will be allowed out of the pro-purchase money where the purchaser produces proofs of such liens and claims and receipts for the payment thereof or surrenders such certificates. The Special Master will in his discretion accept temporarily, instead of the actual delivery of the said bonds and coupons or receiver's certificates, the certificate of any trust company satisfactory to him that it holds the said bonds and coupons or receiver's certificates subject to the order of said Master, and will deliver them to him on demand for cancellation or other disposition.

Included in the upset price of the Ohio Southern Division above mentioned is the sum of $139,940.80, with interest accrued thereon, and in the upset price of the Northern and Southern Divisions is the sum of $105,059.20, with interest accrued thereon, being items set forth in subdivision 2 in Schedule A, of a certain Master's Report filed in said cause December 9, 1912, and the purchaser or purchasers in lieu of depositing in the Registry of the Court said respective sums with interest may, as part of the purchase price, give a bond therefor as provided in said decree.

The said Master, in pursuance and by virtue of the amended decrees of foreclosure in favor of the Columbia-Knickerbocker Trust Company, Complainant, made and entered by the said District Court of the United States in this advertisement of sale first mentioned, dated and entered on the same days and in the same places as the said amended decrees in favor of The New York Trust Company, Complainant, and in pursuance of the orders hereinbefore recited directing adjournment of sale and to due adjournment of such sale, will also at the same time and place offer for sale and in separate parcels all other lines of railway and additional mileage of the defendant Railway Company and other property of any kind and nature which has been constructed or acquired in whole or in part by means of said Consolidated Bonds or with the proceeds of the sale or disposition thereof; subject only to purchase money liens thereon as in said Consolidated Mortgage set forth, not including in said property, however, any property which is subject to the prior lien thereon of the said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage (all of which said property subject to said General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage, is to be sold under and pursuant to the preceding provisions of this notice); one hundred shares of the stock of the Toledo Southern Railway Company and ten hundred and fourteen shares of preferred stock of the Ann Arbor Railroad Company, being certain property of the said Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railway Company included in the mortgage or deed of trust from that company to Knickerbocker Trust Company, complainant herein, dated May 2, 1905, to secure certain bonds designated as Consolidated Bonds. The Master will accept no bid for the said shares of stock from any bidder who shall not place in his hands or deposit with him at the time of making the bid, as a pledge that the bidder will make good his bid if accepted by the Court, the sum of twenty-five dollars per share in cash, certified cheque or certificate of deposit approved by the Master, which sum shall be forfeited in case the bidder if successful shall fail to make good his bid and comply with the terms of the said decrees, and any orders thereafter made as to future payments or otherwise, but which said sum shall be applied on the purchase price of the said stock in case of such compliance, or will be returned in case the said bid is not successful or the sale shall not be confirmed by the Court. The right of the Court is reserved to reject any bid and to resell the said stock, or any part thereof, upon the failure of the purchaser to comply with any order of the Court as to the payment of the purchase price or any part thereof, in cash or otherwise, as may be directed. If either the said properties, not, as aforesaid, subject to the General Lien and Divisional First Mortgage, or the said shares of stock, shall be purchased by or on behalf of the holders of the said Consolidated Bonds, the remainder of the purchase price over and above the amount in cash required to be paid at the time of sale, may be paid either in cash or in Receiver's certificates, or in claims payable under Article 3 of the aforesaid amended decrees of the New York Trust Company, or in said Consolidated Bonds and overdue coupons thereon, at such proportionate value as the holders thereof will be entitled to receive thereon respectively on distribution of the proceeds of such sale, in case such purchase price were wholly paid in cash.

Any person proposing to purchase at the said sale either the said railway properties or the said stock is referred to the said amended decrees in this notice specially mentioned, and to the notice or advertisement of sale heretofore published by the undersigned Special Master Commissioner, upon the 25th day of December, A. D. 1912, and the 1st, 8th, 15th, 22nd, and 29th days of January, A. D. 1913, in the following newspapers, viz.: Detroit Free Press, Toledo Blade, and Springfield Sun, and upon the 24th and 31st days of December, A. D. 1912, and the 7th, 14th, 21st, and 28th days of January, A. D. 1913, in the New York Times, for a more full and complete description of the property, rights, and franchises therein directed to be sold, which it is proposed to sell in accordance with the foregoing notice, and also for the terms and conditions upon which the sale of the said properties, rights, and franchises shall be made. The said three amended decrees in favor of The New York Trust Company, complainant, are exact duplicates of each other, and the said three amended decrees in favor of Columbia-Knickerbocker Trust Company, complainant, are exact duplicates of each other, and all of the said amended decrees may be found filed and recorded in the offices of the Clerks of the United States District Courts, at Detroit, Michigan; Toledo, Ohio, and Columbus, Ohio, respectively, and which are subject to the inspection of the public generally. Certified copies of the said amended decrees will be in the possession of the said Special Master at the time and place of sale, and may be inspected by interested persons or bidders.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Otto H. Kahn Sells Plot in Old Lenox Library Block to William Ziegler—Builder Buys Site on West Fourteenth Street for Elevator Apartment—New Brooklyn Theatre Sold.

Otto H. Kahn sold his large Seventy-first Street plot in the old Lenox Library block yesterday, showing conclusively that he has no indication of erecting a fine residence in New York. The buyer of his last parcel is William Zeigler, son of the late William Zeigler, the wealthy baking powder manufacturer. Young Mr. Zeigler was married last December and he leased for his home the house at 11 East Fifty-first Street.

The plot he has bought from Mr. Kahn for his new home has a frontage of 50 feet on the south side of Seventy-first Street and 100.5 feet deep, being 175 feet east of Fifth Avenue, and adjoins the Fifth Avenue frontage now being improved with the large home of Henry C. Frick. The property was sold by Henry D. Winans & May, and only the preceding day they sold the Seventieth Street portion of the former Kahn plot, fronting 41 feet on that thoroughfare, to Dr. Walter B. James, who intends to erect a large dwelling on the plot. WALDO ADVANCES POLICE HONOR LIST

Commissioner Decides Men Rewarded for Bravery Should Profit by Examinations.

105 PICKED FOR NOTICE

Those Who Qualified for Honors Up to Feb. 17 Included in the Roster—Medals Withheld Till Parade.

In order that their credit marks might be available for use in civil service examinations, Police Commissioner Rhinelander Waldo announced yesterday the names of 105 members of the police force who had been selected for special recognition.

Ordinarily the announcement of those on the honor list would have been postponed until the Police Parade, and would have included the eligible list only to the preceding Jan. 1.

But Commissioner Waldo became convinced that an injustice was done the men entitled to places on the list by permitting civil service examinations to intervene between the decision to put their names there and the formal announcement. For that reason he included in yesterday's announcements all those who had qualified up to Feb. 17 of this year. Besides the 105 men singled out for special honors, a list of more than 100 men was published as being worthy of commendation for excellent police duty.

There was no ceremony at headquarters in connection with the announcement of the honor roll. For the bestowal of the medals awarded and other honors the policemen will wait as heretofore until the day of the parade. General Orders No. 2, which put the new honor list before the men of the department, was put in each policeman's hand at roll-call yesterday.

Of the six patrolmen who won honorable mention with medals, Walter Thornton headed the list. On March 25, 1912, Thornton while attached to the Eighth Precinct, heard cries for help coming from the water at the end of Pier 33, at Canal and West Streets. Thornton ran to the end of the pier and saw a man in the water about thirty-five feet from the pier end. The policeman doffed his coat and shoes and plunged in, disregarding the fact that there was a high wind and that it was hailing. He gathered the drowning man into his arms and then drifted with the current until he brought up beside a barge. Here he was pulled aboard the pier. The man he aided was alive when the policeman got to the pier but he died shortly afterward, and Patrolman Thornton went to the hospital suffering from shock and contusions. The temperature of the river was 33 degrees and it was filled with blocks of ice.

William J. McMillen, a patrolam nattached to the 145th Precinct, won his medal of honor by braving a storm of bullets fired by a crazed striker who had already shot two policemen and a civilian. The striker, Alexander Sabannano, was running through Bowne Street, firing at all who opposed his progress, when McMillen saw him coming. Instead of giving way to let the man pass, McMillan drew his revolver and fired at long range, directing his bullets just a little above Sabannano's head. When Sabannano was thirty feet from McMillen he fired at the policeman, but missed him. Finally Sabannano threw down his revolver and held up his arms in token of surrender.

Thomas J. Lawlor gained the distinction of having his name twice on the honor lists, both times for bravery in entering tenement houses to rescue tenants threatened by fires. At an East Fourth Street fire in October, 1912, Lawlor rescued a score of persons from rooms in which five were burned to death after having been overcome by smoke. Patrolman John T. Sheehan, who had rescued a man hanging from a window, and had carried several persons down a fire escape, was suddenly overcome by a blast of fire and smoke. He dropped prostrate on a fire escape at the fourth floor. Lawlor saw Sheehan collapse while he was standing in the room of a building near by. He ran to a point above the top of the fire escape, dropped ten feet to the top platform, and then went to Sheehan's assistance. He picked him up and carried him down the fire escape to the ground. Sheehan received honorable mention with a medal for his work in rescuing the tenants, and Lawlor both for rescuing tenants and for rescuing Sheehan.

In Suffolk Street Lawlor turned in an alarm of fire and very soon afterward found himself at the top of a drop ladder prying a woman's foot loose from the fire-escape irons in which it had become wedged. Lawlor lifted the woman to the ground, and then rescued several others who had become panic-stricken on the fire escape.

For bravery in a pistol fight with a negro the names of Peter J. F. Murray and Patrick F. O'Connor were linked together in the honor roll, both receiving honorable mention with a medal. While attached to the Thirty-eighth Precinct the two policemen pursued a negro to a saloon, where the negro opened fire from a dark back room. He shot O'Connor twice, and when Murray pressed him close he attempted to escape by jumping over O'Connor, who had dropped to the floor. O'Connor lifted himself as the negro passed him and floored him with his nightstick.

In addition to the six men who may hereafter wear a medal as well as a shield, the roster contains the names of eleven who were held worthy of "honorable mention" for deeds which ranged from snuffing out a fuse in a lighted bomb to snatching a loaded pistol away from a burglar. Among those thus mentioned were Sergt. John W. Donnelly, Patrolmen Matthew J. McGrath, George W. Bostwick, Edward W. Bartsch, Samuel W. Noble, John Williams, Patrick S. Hanley, Frederick Nau, and James A. Glynn.

HUNTING ARSON SUSPECTS.

Many Have Left Their Haunts—Danies in Custody in Chicago.

CHICAGO, March 11.—Detectives and Deputy Sheriffs who started search today for the thirty-five or more persons implicated by Benjamin Fink, the "traveling fire bug," in the alleged arson ring, discovered that many of them were not at home, nor had they been about their usual haunts for some time. Fink, who made his confession at South Bend, Ind., and was brought here, was allowed to spend the day quietly at a hotel under close surveillance.

With the arrival here to-day of John Danies, known as "the Captain," who was arrested in New York, Assistant State's Attorney Johnston prepared to submit evidence relating to incendiary fires to the Grand Jury.

Danies was questioned at length by State's Attorney Hoyne, but denied all knowledge of the alleged arson ring.

Israel Gitenstein, the shirt manufacturer at 12 White Street, in whose factory on June 3 last the fire occurred which Benjamin Fink, the self-confessed firebug under arrest in Chicago now says he caused, asserted last night that he was unable to understand the repeated references to this fire in Fink's reported confessions in Chicago. Mr. Gitenstein said that the fire which destroyed his stock was an accidental fire, so far as he knew; that he never heard of Fink, and that he knew nothing of any arson conspiracy, such as the newspapers reported Fink as having confessed to. Mr. Gitenstein said that his personal counsel, J. B. Engel of this city, would go to Chicago at once on his behalf to see the prosecutor and investigate the alleged confessions so far as they affected him, with a view to taking action to establish his own innocence and the true facts about the White Street fire.

Funds Needed for Poor Widow.

At the beginning of this year a man of 30 died of pneumonia, after a few days' sickness, and left a widow and two little children without provisions. He had worked in a paint factory and made a living, but nothing more. The young woman has found a place as janitress and receives $3 a month in addition to free rent. The Widowed Mothers' Fund Association, 102 Bowery, wishes to give her a pension for the year of $8 a month, and contributions for this purpose will be gladly accepted by Mrs. [illegible] Broadway, New York.

CRITICISES GIRL GRADUATES.

Educators Call on Dean to Explain Vocational School Comment.

Gustave Straubenmuller, Associate City Superintendent of Public Schools, sent a letter yesterday to Arthur D. Dean of the Division of Vocational Schools in the New York State Education Department in Albany, asking if Mr. Dean's remarks at the conference on vocational and industrial training for boys and girls in institutions on March 7 were correctly quoted, and if so, what authority he had for making them. Mr. Dean was reported as saying that the Manhattan Trade School for Girls was turning out pupils for the sweat shops, also that after the girls had taken the tailoring course they are able to earn $5 a week in the sweat shop instead of $4 a week they could earn before taking this course.

"As we understand, it takes $9 a week for a girl to live in New York respectably," Mr. Dean was quoted as saying. "It is very easy to imagine what happens."

"Will you please explain this statement," Mr. Straubenmuller says to Mr. Dean, "particularly as to the meaning of the last clause."

Mr. Straubenmuller's letter is approved by City Superintendent Maxwell. Miss Florence M. Marshall, Principal of the Manhattan Trade School, said yesterday that it was untrue that that institution was turning out girls for sweatshops. The graduates found places, she said, with well-known firms. The students, she asserted, were not taught the tailoring trade, but the dressmaking trade. The girl who, without training, entered a dressmaking shop at $4 was an errand girl. The Manhattan Trade School girl who began at $5 or $6 a week was a worker with all the possibilities of the trade before her. The statement of Mr. Dean that it cost $9 a week for a girl to live respectably in New York is characterized by Principal Marshall as "particularly vicious" and intended to imply that the girls of the Manhattan Trade School do not so live, whereas as a fact they have "a fine sense of honor and morality."

FLEXNER FAVORS MAXWELL.

Spirited Opposition to Bills Curtailing Superintendent's Powers.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 11.—Defenders of William H. Maxwell, Superintendent of Schools of New York City, and the Board of Superintendents told the legislative Committees on Cities to-night that the McKee bills, which transfer certain powers of the Superintendent to the Board of Education, would inject politics into the management of the schools and cause their demoralization. Advocates of the measures on the other hand said that the proposed legislation was essential to progress in educational work in New York City.

One hundred or more teachers, President Thomas W. Churchill, several members of the Board of Education, and several noted educators appeared before the committees. Abraham Flexner of the General Educational Board and the Carnegie Foundation, an expert in education, said that the bills curtailing the powers of the Superintendent were preposterous. They had been submitted to prominent educators of the country, and each one had expressed opposition to the principles involved. The bills give the Board of Education control of the curriculum, the power to appoint associate Superintendents, and authority to enforce the truancy law. He said that the bills placed important technical matters within the control of inexperienced men and subjected the city to ridicule. The measures if enacted would inject politics into the school system.

Another opponent of the bills was Miss Gannet of the Henry Street Settlement. She said that the curriculum was not all that could be desired, but didn't see how the bills would make any improvement. A communication from the Neighborhood Workers was read. It said that the McKee bills would put politics in the school system.

Mr. McKee asked how politics would be injected into the system.

"Because school matters would be given over to the control of a body not composed of experts," Miss Gannet replied.

Franklin W. Hooper, President of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, paid a tribute to the ability and work of Supt. Maxwell. He said that the Legislature would make a serious mistake if it gave a board of forty-six inexperienced men control over the city schools. He said that Dr. Maxwell was one of the city's greatest assets.

Assemblyman McKee in supporting the bills said they were not inimical to Supt. Maxwell. They were drawn in the interest of efficiency and the improvement of the schools.

Morton Stein, a member of the Board of Education, said the present curriculum was of use only to those who were to enter college. He said that changes were needed for the benefit of the great majority of pupils, who desired practical training.

Miss Grace Strachan, President of the Interborough Teachers' Association, with fifty teachers of that association and several representatives of the New York Teachers' Association, came here to favor the bills.

PARCEL POST DOG NOW SAFE.

Dog Catcher Got Him, but Hackensack's Chief of Police Adopted Him.

Special to The New York Times.

HACKENSACK, N. J., March 11.—The official dog catcher succeeded to-day in landing in the pound the now famous terrier that Letter Carrier John Keenan saved from him with a parcel post stamp one day last week. Some one had taken the dog's collar as a memento, and the stamp and the terier's freedom went with it.

The dog's stay in the pound was brief, however, for Chief of Police Jacob Dunn, who enjoyed the joke when two of his men and the dog catcher were baffled by the parcel post stamp, at once adopted the terrier, caused him to be given a good bath, bought a new collar and license for him and took him to his home.

Democrats Hold Cambridge.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 11.—Mayor J. Edward Barry, Democrat, was re-elected for a third term to-day, defeating Arthur F. Blanchard, the young men's Progressive Republican candidate, by over 6,000 votes. The Democrats elected the entire Board of Aldermen, and won nine out of twenty-two places in the Common Council. The city went no license for the twenty-fifth year by a big majority.

Republicans Carry Ossining.

OSSINING, N. Y., March 11.—The village election here to-day and to-night resulted in the defeat of President Albert W. Twiggar, a Democrat, by J. Edward Holla, the Republican candidate, by 43 votes. The race for Treasurer was a runaway one and Benjamin C. Acker, the present incumbent, succeeded in winning out over James A. Hart, the Republican nominee, by 437 votes.

City's First Democratic Mayor.

LACONIA, N. H., March 11.—This city elected a Democrat as Mayor to-day for the first time. George C. Cox, who had both the Democratic and Progressive nominations, defeated Col. William Wallace, Republican. The Democratic-Progressive ticket carried four of the six wards for members of the City Council.

FIREMEN PROMOTED AFTER 16-YEAR WAIT

Bigger Engines Make Advance to Engineer's Job Slow, Arbitrators Are Told.

EXPENSES AWAY FROM HOME

B. & O. Locomotive So Hot That Thermometer Burst—Firemen Must Watch Signals.

James W. Locke, an engineer on the Lake Shore, continued his testimony at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday before the board that is to decide the dispute between the fifty-four Eastern railroads and their firemen over a new pay scale, and several firemen were put on the stand to show that substantially the same conditions prevailed on the various roads.

This cumulative testimony was largely to prove that a fireman had to do something besides physical labor for his wages, and that he was held responsible, jointly with the engineer, for any failure to observe the rules. It was also brought out that the fireman, when not actually engaged in firing, had to watch the signals on his side of the engine.

Long waits for promotion from fireman to engineer were emphasized as one of the results of the use of bigger engines. They had made it possible, the men said, to haul a greatly increased tonnage with each engine, and there were consequently fewer engines in use. A fireman is eligible for promotion after three years' service, but Mr. Locke said that they had to fire on an average sixteen years before they got regular runs as engineers.

J. D. Weaver, in the Lake Shore passenger service, said he had been a fireman seven years and a half, and passed his examination for promotion three years ago. He was third on the list for assignment as an engineer at that time, but now he was seventeenth, because of the heavier tonnage handled by an engine and the resulting reduction in the number. W. F. Heckenberger of the Pennsylvania Railroad said he had been firing eight years, and there were now 170 ahead of him on the promotion list. He said hopefully that he expected to get an engine in about four years more.

Each witness was asked about the effect of the introduction of "superheater" engines, which dried the moisture out of the steam. One was asked if they were not put in use to lighten the fireman's work. He said he had never heard of that, although W. S. Carter, President of the Brotherhod of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, who was conducting the case for the employes, said that was the impression the public had received. All the witnesses said the "superheater" reduced the work of firing for the same trainload, but that the railroads had taken advantage of its superior power to increase the tonnage hauled, so that the firemen had to work just as hard as ever.

Men Proud of Their Roads.

Mr. Locke was cross-examined by Elisha Lee, Chairman of the conference committe of Managers, who is acting for the railroads. Mr. Lee thought Mr. Locke had spoken disparagingly of the Lake Shore, and the witness said:

"Believe me, I have as high an opinion of the Lake Shore as any one. I did say the fast freight trains were seldom on time, but the service on the Lake Shore is as good as on any road, except perhaps the Lackawanna."

"I'm glad to see that the men take pride in their own roads," remarked Judge Chambers, Chairman of the board.

"Why, Judge," exclaimed Mr. Locke, "you won't find fifty men on the road who are not personally proud of it."

One of the greatest hardships, Mr. Locke said, was taking examinations for promotion to get on an eligible list where the fireman might remain for years. There was a time, he said, when a man was examined when he was needed on an engine.

"Take my own case as an example," he said; "I have four children and a home to keep up. When I was notified to prepare for my examination one of my children was ill with diphtheria. I would have given a good deal to be permitted to pass the examination over at that time, but I had to go to Chicago and lose three weeks' time. I lost about $150 by it and got no benefit from the examination for two or three years. I know another man who had a broken leg when he was called for examination, and even that did not save him from being passed over."

E. L. McGinnis, a fireman on the Pennsylvania; R. E. Cory of the Big Four, and James A. Bell of Newcastle, Penn., employed on the Pennsylvania Lines West, told of conditions on their roads, and expressed objection to cleaning engines, as now required. They said they did not want extra pay for this work, but wanted to be relieved of it.

Mr. Bell admitted that wages had been raised four times since 1906, but said he had no more at the end of the month than before, as everything cost more. He estimated his expenses while away from home at $25 or $30 a month, without any corresponding reduction at home. His income averaged about $100 a month, but at the end of each month he was a little further behind and was in debt, although his family consisted of only his wife and a young child.

Expenditures of Firemen.

Judge Chambers examined Mr. Bell in detail as to his expenditures, both at home and on the road. His room cost him about 40 cents and each meal the same, where they used to cost 25 cents each. The railroad provided a rest house, where rooms could be had for 15 and 25 cents, but he always went elsewhere.

The 15-cent rooms, he said, were close to the tracks and nobody could sleep there. The 25-cent rooms were a little quieter and the occupant was "liable to get a little sleep."

"What do you spend for the theatre?" asked Judge Chambers.

"About 15 to 20 cents a week."

"That must be moving pictures," surmised the chairman and Mr. Bell said it was.

"Do you have any bar bill?"

"No, sir," replied the witness. "It's a dry town."

A little later Mr. Lee asked if Mr. Bell was in fast freight service.

"Yes," he said. "It's a highball run."

"I thought it was a dry town," observed Judge Chambers.

David May contributed something to the occasional merriment by explaining why he was often delayed for hours on the Baltimore & Ohio in putting tools on the engine, a duty of which the firemen want to be relieved.

"The reason is that they haven't got tools enough to go around," he said. "You have to wait till another engine comes in and get her tools."

Mr. May carried a thermometer on one trip to test the heat under which the firemen worked.

"The lowest it showed out on the running-board," he said. "There it was 120 and when we ran through a tunnel it busted."

"You don't mean to say the heat broke it," said Mr. Carter.

"I do," said Mr. May, with conviction.

The hearing will continue this morning.

MORGAN PARTNER A STEEL WITNESS

PENNSYLVANIA ROAD A BUYER

It Got One Issue of $10,000,000 Stock—Carnegie's Sudden Change of Mind.

E. T. Stotesbury, a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. and its Philadelphia branch, Drexel & Co., was questioned yesterday in the Government suit for the dissolution of the United States Steel Corporation concerning his directorship in the Pennsylvania Steel Company, Cambria Steel Company, and Cambria Iron Company, and the stockholdings of the two firms in the companies. The purpose of Judge Dickinson, counsel for the Government, was to show financial relations between the Morgan firm and the "supposedly independent" steel companies.

Mr. Stotesbury said he was not active in J. P. Morgan & Co., but was in the firm of Drexel & Co.

"Are the operations of the two firms independent?" asked R. V. Lindabury, counsel for the Steel Corporation.

"They are separate concerns," said Mr. Stotesbury.

In 1901 Drexel & Co. held 1,300 shares of Pennsylvania Steel; in 1911, 519 shares. In 1901 the firm had 32,480 shares of Cambria Steel and in 1911 a few shares. These shares, Mr. Stotesbury explained, were handled by Drexel & Co. merely as bankers and brokers. The Cambria stock was bought by order of the Pennsylvania Railroad and was subsequently delivered to it. The Pennsylvania Steel stock was bought for another customer.

Asked about an issue of $10,000,000 of Pennsylvania Steel stock, Mr. Stotesbury said his firm had organized a syndicate to underwrite it, but it all went to the Pennsylvania Railroad, which controlled the company. Mr. Lindabury submitted a statement showing that the firm had no Pennsylvania Steel, Cambria Steel, or Lackawanna Steel stock at the time the dissolution suit was brought.

He also produced, in answer to a subpoena, a mass of correspondence concerning the formation of the Steel Corporation. It included agreements among J. P. Morgan & Co., E. C. Converse, who was President of the National Tube Company, and William Nelson Cromwell. Judge Dickinson refused to make the papers public or to discuss them until they had been put in evidence.

The examination of James Gayley, ex-Vice President of the Steel Corporation, was continued. He has been on the stand longer than any other witness and showed the effects of fatigue, after a recent illness. After some questioning he was excused, but may be called again later.

C. A. Severance of counsel for the defense read a cable message sent from Scotland by Andrew Carnegie to Charles M. Schwab on July 30, 1900, which said:

Come sure. Wish conference. Delay delivery on bonds. We may be in great need of reserve millions.

Judge Dickinson has shown great curiosity as to what induced Mr. Carnegie to abandon his project for a tube mill at Conneaut, and has intimated that J. P. Morgan had something to do with it. The cable, sent shortly before the Steel Corporation was launched, was apparently intended to show that Mr. Carnegie, while abroad, had his own reasons for giving up his plan.

More Pay for 15,000 Men.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, March 11.—At the bi-monthly wage conference held today between representatives of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, the Western Bar Iron Association and the Republic Iron and Steel Company, the rate of pay for puddling was advanced to $6.60 on a 1.45 card. Finishers also will receive a 1 per cent. advance. The increase in pay affects, approximately, 15,000 skilled mill workers.

TITANIC WAIF ORPHAN AGAIN.

Foster-Father of Girl Whose Parents Were Lost Is Killed.

SCRANTON, March 11.—Viola Wells, a Titanic waif, became an orphan again today when John A. Rady, the man who adopted her, was killed in the machinery of the Lackawanna Mills, where he was a foreman.

The child's parents were lost with the Titanic.
